Senate Gives Blessing to Primary Law

Presidential Candidates Would Be Put on Ballot Automatically

MADISON (AP)—An expanded presidential primary likely to add California Gov. Ronald Reagan to the Romney-Nixon showdown already taking shape in Wisconsin has been approved 28-5 by the State Senate.

The measure, forwarded to the Assembly, would list all national contenders in each party on its primary ballot unless a person regarded as a candidate swore he had no interest in the nomination.

"Wisconsin will be the first meaningful primary in the nation," said Sen. Robert P. Knowles, R-New Richmond.

Michigan Gov. George W. Romney and former Vive President Richard M. Nixon already are moving toward a crucial duel in Wisconsin's Republican primary next April 2.

Knowles predicted Reagan and possibly Illinois Sen. Charles Percy would be added to the GOP battle.

Spotlight on State

"In 1968 the national spotlight will be focused on Wisconsin," Knowles said.

He pointed out the Wisconsin primary is preceded only by the New Hampshire contest. Only Oregon and Kansas, with later election dates, now have all-inclusive races, Knowles said.

Romney, although an unannounced candidate, hit the campaign trail in three Wisconsin cities last weekend. Both he and Nixon have high-level campaign committees promoting their efforts.

Reagan, however, has been attracting support among several key leaders of Wisconsin's Republican Party. He will address a $100 a plate fund-raising dinner in Milwaukee Sept. 30.

Sen. Knowles quoted Reagan as saying he would have to leave his name on the Wisconsin ballot in any open primary to be consistent since he plans to be a "favorite son" candidate in California.

Kennedy to Withdraw

President Lyndon B. Johnson was the only Democratic entry anticipated, with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., announcing he would withdraw from any primary and former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace considering a third-party candidacy.

Knowles, the ranking Republican in the State Senate, said the changes in the primary would eliminate marginal candidates in Wisconsin.

Kennedys' Vacation Not In Solitude

WATERFORD, Ireland (AP) — Twenty-five Irish policewomen will work in three shifts to protect Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children around the clock from curious Irishmen and newsmen during her vacation here.

Waterford's County Council has begun putting up 30 no-parking signs around the 241 acres of woods and lawns surrounding Woodston House, the 40-room Regency mansion where the Kennedys will stay.

Mrs. Kennedy with 9-year-old Caroline and 6-year-old John is to arrive at Shannon Airport on Irish Airlines Thursday morning. They will travel the 85 miles from Shannon to Waterford by car.

From Woodston House on clear nights the Kennedys should be able to see New Ross, the County Wexford town from which President Kennedy's ancestors emigrated to America.

Seventy-one reporters, photographers, radio and television personnel are already at Waterford's Tower Hotel.

Tampa Simmers, But Rioting Hits Cincinnati

Florida Has Only Sporadic Outbursts

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Roaming Negro youths, ignoring pleas for peace, set 15 fires, looted stores and wandered aimlessly in small groups Tuesday night as National Guard troops and police reinforcements sat idle in a nearby armory.

Authorities reported at least 21 arrests, all made by what police called "routine patrols."

Tuesday's troubles were slight compared with the wild rioting of Sunday and Monday nights when police and rioters exchanged gunfire, stores were burned and looted and at least 20 persons were injured.

Sheriff Malcolm Beard, heading a combined force of 1,000 heavily armed men, pulled the riot squads from the rubble-strewn streets in a surprise move at dusk Tuesday after Negro leaders promised publicly there would be no trouble.

Fire alarms, most of them between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m., sent firemen racing to burning stores, a warehouse and a lumber yard.

"They were mostly fire bombs and building fires," said an emergency dispatcher, "all apparently riot-connected."

The killing of a Negro youth by a white policeman—the incident that triggered Tampa's first major race riots—was ruled justifiable homicide today by State Atty. Paul Antinori.

Negro leaders had predicted that such a decision would lead to renewed violence in the city, and Tampa's NAACP president, Robert Gilder, was asked immediately afterward about his own plans.

"My plans are to go pray," Gilder replied. "And I definitely suggest that the whole of Tampa do the same."

News that Patrolman James R. Calvert had shot Martin Chambers, 19, in the back flashed through Negro neighborhoods Sunday night, triggering three nights of shooting, burning and looting.

Antinori said that Chambers had committed burglary and grand larceny, was running from police and was about to escape when Calvert shot him.

"Under the facts, circumstances, evidence and law of the State of Florida," Antinori said, "the death of Martin Chambers must be ruled justifiable homicide."

Gilder told newsmen there were "serious questions in my mind" about the decision.

Antinori said his investigation considered only the question of whether the shooting as described under oath by Calvert and witnesses, including the dead youth's 14-year-old brother, was manslaughter or justifiable homicide.

Police Patrol Capt. G. E. Blackshear said police were not prepared to send their reserves home "until we're sure it's over. The people of Tampa are going to be protected."

He said he believed the sheriff's truce had calmed the rioters some by removing the target of most of their wrath—the overt show of police power.

"We are showing we have faith in the Negro leaders being able to show their people what damage they are doing to their community," Blackshear said.

Blackshear said Tuesday night's trouble showed "no indication of any leadership or coordination."

Beard said he told Gov. Claude Kirk of his decision to pull the Guardsmen off the streets. Kirk did not object.

A warehouse was the first big blaze Tuesday night. Then firemen raced to a liquor store called "Bop City" where they were jeered by Negroes as they fought the flames.

$1 Million Damage in Ohio City

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police — backed by National Guardsmen carrying bayoneted rifles—restored an uneasy order in Cincinnati Negro neighborhoods today after hit-and-run gangs caused more than $1 million damages in two nights of rioting.

Two major fires earlier burned an estimated $800,000 at a warehouse and laundry. Gangs of Negro youths struck in widely spread communities—looting, setting fires, harassing police and firemen.

City officials have not been able to pinpoint the cause of the rioting.

Shortly before order was restored, Police Chief Jacob Schott said "huge bands of marauders" were hitting in almost every direction in predominately Negro areas.

Mayor Walton Bachrach said a restive peace returned to riot areas early today.

Damage Unknown

Damages to stores, autos and anything rioters could destroy will not be totaled for weeks, police said.

As Guardsmen blocked off the area, fire destroyed the block-long Modern Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co. building in the Walnut Hills section. Police said a gasoline bomb apparently started the blaze.

Fire also demolished the Seybold Paper Co. warehouse.

Firemen responded to about 100 fires during the night, and at most of them the firefighters were pelted with stones. But guardsmen kept spectators and others at a distance to give firemen a free hand in fighting the laundry blaze.

Police announced this morn-

U.S.-U.S.S.R. Nuclear Pact Is Predicted

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Russia today was reported ready to join the United States in moves for speedier international action to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk advised fellow foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the Russians have agreed in recent days to the presentation of a jointly-drafted but incomplete treaty of nonproliferation to the Geneva Disarmament conference.

The American-Soviet draft that is being prepared to go before the 17-nation Geneva conference would contain a blank Article 3, dealing with the sort of controls and safeguards needed to insure that signatory countries do not cheat.

Previously the world's three leading nuclear powers—the United States, Russia and Britain—were against the presentation of an incompleted draft treaty in Geneva fearing this would only make final agreement more difficult to achieve.

Soviet Union Calls for Meeting

Kosygin Might Attend U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union pressed today for an emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly to take action against Israel amid speculation that Premier Alexei N. Kosygin might attend.

The Security Council was scheduled to meet today on a Soviet resolution calling for Israel to withdraw immediately from the territory it seized in its blitz war against Egypt, Jordan and Syria. Council delegates believed the resolution would get only four of the nine votes needed for adoption, clearing the way for action on the Soviet request for the assembly to meet.

Expected to Agree

Following defeat of the Soviet resolution, Secretary-General U. Thant would poll the 122 U.N. members by telegram, and the necessary majority of 62 countries was expected to agree to the emergency session. Thant then was likely to call the session on 24 hours' notice.

Speculation that the Soviet premier would attend stemmed from a letter from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to Thant Tuesday saying "leading statesmen of the Soviet Union" would attend.

Soviet and other Communist sources at the United Nations said they did not know to whom Gromyko was referring, and Soviet spokesmen in Moscow refused to comment on the speculation about Kosygin. The Soviets obtained a permit to land a special plane in New York about Thursday but postponed the flight, apparently awaiting the scheduling of the assembly session. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow said the Soviet government had not requested any visas for the flight.

Should Kosygin come to New York, many other heads of government and possibly even President Johnson were expected to attend the session.

The feeling was widespread among Arab delegations that the Russians were promoting the assembly session primarily to divert attention from their failure to help the Arabs in the war.

Gromyko's letter said that despite the Security Council's three cease-fire resolutions. Israel had "seized further territories" from Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

The letter called for "the convening of an emergency special session of the United Nations General Assembly within 24 hours" to demand "the immediate withdrawal of Israel forces behind the armistice lines" fixed at the end of the 1949 Arab-Israeli war. While Gromyko did not say so, his letter indicated that he was acting under the assembly's 1950 "uniting for peace" resolution, which was adopted to circumvent the Soviet veto in the council. The Soviet Union has always called it illegal.

The Soviet resolution before the Security Council "vigorously condemns" Israel's "aggressive activities and continued occupation" of part of Egypt, Syria and Jordan and "demands that Israel should immediately and unconditionally" withdraw her troops behind the armistice lines.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told the council at a meeting Tuesday the resolution was "a prescription for renewed hostilities." He said it would "let everything go back to exactly where it was before the fighting began on June 5," with the Gulf of Aqaba again blockaded and Arab and Israeli forces once more "in direct confrontation."

He urged that the council encourage "the warring parties to live together in peace" by adopting a U.S. resolution calling for them to negotiate withdrawal of troops, renunciation of force, maintenance of vital international rights and establishment of a durable peace in the Middle East.

Youth Says He Threw Match

19 Hurt in N.Y. Gasoline Blast

NEW YORK (AP) — A teenager was arrested today in the blast Tuesday night in which 19 persons were burned, seven critically, when a match was tossed at gasoline dripping from a taxicab in the Bronx.

The seven critical were all teen-agers and children.

Charged with arson in the resulting taxicab garage fire was Manuel Soltero, 18.

A fire department spokesman said Soltero's cousin, Ann, and her four-year-old son, Paul, were injured in the fire.

Detectives quoted Soltero as saying, "I didn't think it would do that much damage. I'm terribly sorry."

Police said the young man came here from Puerto Rico only a few months ago.

Doctors performed at least four emergency skin graft operations while detectives questioned the less seriously injured in their search for the arsonist.

The victims of the fire and explosion were playing outside a taxicab garage in the Bronx when driver James Paul said he saw a youth about 17 "deliberately throw a match" into gas spilling from the ruptured tank of a cab pulling into the garage.

Then, "like a flash," he said, the auto exploded.

"We were about 40 feet from the garage when I saw this wall of flame coming out of it and enveloping people," said Fire Lt. Salvatore Patrissi whose station is located in the next block. "Kids on fire were running in every direction."

Firemen and police chased the children as they ran aimlessy and with their hair aflame, to throw coats, blankets or whatever they could find on them to smother the flames.

Mariner 5, Venus 4 On 4-Month Jaunts

U. S. Launches Ship Toward Distant Planet

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Mariner 5 spacecraft raced a heavier Soviet probe toward Venus today to penetrate with electronic fingers the planet's mysterious veil of clouds and help scientists see if Venus is a fit place to live.

The 540-pound Mariner 5, less than one-quarter the weight of the Soviet Union's Venus 4 craft launched two days earlier, rocketed from Cape Kennedy at 2:01 a.m. EDT today on the first U.S. venture to Venus since 1962 and this nation's first planetary probe in more than 2½ years.

Mariner's fiery Atlas-Agena booster rocket threaded an imaginary needle in space to send the windmill-shaped spacecraft toward its distant target 212 million miles away.

"We are going precisely where we expected to go," project officials reported after tracking the spacecraft for several hours.

"Spacecraft performance also appears to be very good," said Allen E. Wolfe, Mariner 5 system manager for the Jet Propolusion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., which oversees the Mariner 5 project.

Wolfe said experiments to study radiation in interplanetary space were turned on and the craft's four power-producing solar panels deployed. Guidance sensors aboard the $35-million Mariner 5 locked onto the sun for orientation as planned.

During a brief 26-minute encounter Oct. 19 when Mariner 5 is to pass within 2,000 miles of Venus, electronic fingers of high-frequency radio signals were to penetrate through dense Venusian clouds to study radiation levels and atmospheric temperatures, pressure and density.

These findings would be important to scientists trying to deduce whether Venus can support life.

No camera was aboard because of a weight limitation.

Kimberly Picks New Assessor

William Ruf Selected From Four Applicants To Succeed Gaffney

William Ruf

KIMBERLY — William Ruf, 26, 120 Daniel Court, Combined Locks, was named village assessor to replace Cletus Gaffney at a special meeting of the village board Monday. Gaffney, who held the post for eight years, resigned.

The appointment of Ruf will be made official at the regular board meeting in July. A native of Antigo where he attended grade and high school, the new assessor will be moving into Kimberly as soon as possible. An intensive training program is being planned for him in the new position.

After graduation from high school, Ruf spent four years in the Air Force and, following his discharge, worked at Gamble Stores, United Parcel Service and Leath Furniture Store, Appleton. He has lived in the Fox Cities for two years. The Rufs have one child.

Four applications for the position were received and Ruf was selected following written examinations and personal interviews by the board. He will also serve as building inspector and assistant clerk. Starting pay was set at $5,700 per year and the salary will be reviewed at the end of a 3-month probationary period.

Ruff began work Tuesday morning.

Soviets Order Check of Industrial Accidents

MOSCOW (AP) — The Supreme Court of the U.S.S.R. has ordered a legal crackdown on officials whose neglect of safety rules leads to accidents at Soviet factories and farms.

The high court Tuesday ordered judges throughout the nation to make fuller investigations of all such accidents.

Kimberly School Board Grants Pay Increases to Administrative Staff

Group Also Adopts Military Leave Policy for Non-Certified Employes

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night granted pay increases of 6 to 8 per cent for administrative personnel effective July 1.

Affected by salary adjustments were the superintendent of schools, high school and junior high school principals, elementary supervisor, guidance director and business manager.

The board also adopted a policy of military leave for non-certified personnel, such as maintenance men, who will be given the pay difference between military and school district salary for the first 14 days with the military, and will not be charged with vacation time for the first 14 days of service.

Vote Turnover

A resolution was adopted whereby all assets and liabilities of the vocational school would be turned over to the area vocational school July 1 when the area concept takes effect. Other schools in the district have been asked to take similar action.

Board members voted to take no action on realignment of the Mid-East Conference until fall, when a meeting will be held among league officials of the Mid-East, Fox Valley, Central Wisconsin, Northeastern and Eastern leagues and with Marinette and a representative of the WIAA to discuss conference realignment throughout the Northeast area of Wisconsin.

Myron Huth, business manager, was authorized to purchase a new bookkeeping machine, check signer and protector to facilitate office work. Huth will secure bids on the equipment and was instructed to select the unit deemed most advantageous to the district. It will be put into service Jan. 1.

Board members voted to support the American Legion baseball team by providing use of the athletic field, locker room facilities, suits in addition to bus transportation for out-of-… wn … ames Ni… high school baseball coach, has been hired this year to work with boys who will be of Legion baseball-age next summer to prepare them for Legion competition. It is hoped about 15 exhibition games can be arranged this year.

Buy Equipment

Fifteen pieces of equipment were purchased from four suppliers at a cost of $3,395 for the high school industrial arts department. Eleven firms submitted bids, and low bids were accepted when they complied with specifications. Three bids were received for six sewing tables for the home economics department. Low bid of $1,302 from Milwaukee Equipment Co. was accepted.

The board approved a remedial reading program, taught by Mrs. Charlotte Sylvester, and an instrumental music program, taught by Harold Janssen, as part of the Combined Locks summer school program. Summer library hours also were approved for Janssen School, Combined Locks, and the Kimberly Elementary School. Play leaders will have charge of the library and of a story hour. Books will be checked out during hours established by play leaders.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Velerh Bruno, business education teacher at the senior high school; Thomas Neal, junior high school mathematics instructor, and Mrs. Cloe Witt, first grade teacher. Ray hartz, Mike Walsh, Earl Vandeyacht, Jim Van Dyke, Barbara Klister, Linda Otte and Ginny Niessen.

Hamann, superintendent of schools, said the business education position already has been filled.

Kaukauna C of C Asks Businesses To Air Problems

KAUKAUNA — The Chamber of Commerce retail promotion group is attempting to fix a meeting date at which a majority of business places in the community will be able to be represented.

The group plans to discuss various topics, including discount and chain stores, what night or nights store should be open, parking problems, street decorating and establishment of a United Fund drive.

An earlier meeting met with limited success with less than 70 per cent of the business places represented. The promotion group wants to have all businesses join in the discussion and it points out that no effort will be made to promote Chamber of Commerce membership among non-members who join in the discussions.

Businessmen are asked to contact the Chamber of Commerce office or a member of the retail promotion committee in an effort to get the meeting scheduled.

Appleton Credit Union Officer to Attend Parley

Reginald N. Reinke, Appleton, will be attending a meeting of the board of directors of the Wisconsin Credit Union League this weekend in Wausau. Reinke is secretary of the group's executive committee.

Reinke, the treasurer of the APCO Credit Union since 1951, is also chairman of the league's policies committee; a member of the dues study committee; a director of State Central Credit Union, Milwaukee; a director of CUNA International, Inc., and a member of the credit union review board.

The Wisconsin Credit Union League represents the 791 credit unions in Wisconsin.

To Ask Withdrawal Of U.S. From Vietnam

MADISON (AP) — A group hoping to place a referendum to withdraw from the Vietnam War on the ballot in Wisconsin's 1968 spring election filed incorporation papers Tuesday with the secretary of state.

The Vietnam Referendum Coordinating Committee is headed by Mrs. Lee Zeldin, a Madison mother who has participated often in antiwar demonstrations at the University of Wisconsin. She listed her occupation on the legal papers as "human being."

Mrs. Zeldin said the group plans to circulate petitions in the home districts of legislators to try to influence them to put the Vietnam issue on the ballot.

UCC Delegates Told 'Five Crises Facing World Today'

Denomination's State Meeting Opens Today at Lawrence Chapel

"Five crises facing the world today, and therefore facing the church which finds its mission in serving the needs of the world, are accelerating change, belief, behavior, leadership and organizational structure," delegates to the United Church of Christ (UCC) convention at the Lawrence University Memorial Chapel were told today.

Bringing the State of the Union address to the Wisconsin conference convention today was the Rev. Ralph Ley, D. D., Madison, president of the state conference.

"The first crises, that of change, is the result of such hard facts as the population shift which has turned our nation from a rural to an urban nation and the fact that 90 per cent of all scientists who have ever lived are alive today," the speaker said.

Belief Facing Crisis

"Our belief, too, is facing a crisis," he continued. "This is the result of the drastic changes in our understanding of the world around us, rooted in the fantastic rate at which we're accumulating new knowledge and resulting in new values and beliefs almost daily.

"The crises of behavior is found in today's invalidation of the concept of moral absolutism. Modern realities have shown us that right and wrong are no longer as distinct as black and white," Dr. Ley said.

"The increasing complexity of choice and the collapse of simple absolute standards contribute to an increasing pattern of controversy and misbehavior," he said

Structures Questioned

Leadership as well as organizational structures are also being questioned, the state leader said.

"The old structures, which gave the pastors the role of authority and which made everyone feel that what the pastor said concerning values, beliefs and theology, right or wrong, was generally accepted. The same is true of the organizational structures. That is why the UCC is carefully studying and rewriting constitutions.

"If we are to keep up with the times, we must find answers for the questions the people pose," the churchman said.

All of these crises, he added, call for increasing religious maturity for the man of faith in the 20th century.

Biblical Examples

In strengtheing his point, Dr. Ley included three examples of religious maturity from the Bible.

"Jesus in Gethsemane abandoned his own free will to God's, proving that mature religion is not self-centered," he said. "That same Christ saw the eternal in everyday life; there was no difference between the sacred and the secular for Him," the minister said.

"Too often," he added, "we accept the atom and neglect the sermon on the Mount and vice versa. Religious maturity also means becoming aware that separation of the world into sacred and secular is man's doing, not God's.

"The Apostle Paul reminds us there is no barrier of race or creed in religious maturity. From one came every nation, "Dr Ley said.

"Ghettoes are created because those within and those without feel some phantom threat from the other. There are too many who live the philosophy expressed by W. C. Fields: 'I am free of all prejudice. I hate everyone equally'," the church leader concluded.

Turning to the new innovations of the convention, the minister told the audience that a structures committee has been organized, changes in lay life and work are underway; there is a new emphasis for the Christian World Mission, task forces are being organized around specific problems; and more work is being done with other denominations.

"The Man of Faith in the 20th Century," is the theme of the conference, which will run through Friday. The Rev. Roger Wentz, pastor, Immanuel Church, Kaukauna, is coordinator of the annual meeting.

Thieu Decides to Run Against Ky in Election

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu announced today that he will run for president in the Sept. 3 election against his military colleague, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Thieu, a lieutenant general in the army, said the fact that both he and Air Vice Marshal Ky were running would not split the military.

Coroners to Protest Bill Abolishing Post

State Seminar at Appleton Ends With Vow to Contact Lawmakers

Wisconsin coroners ended a two-day seminar here Tuesday by promising to write their respective assemblymen in protest to proposed legislation aimed at abolishing their jobs.

The suggestion that the coroners contact the assemblymen came from Ewald J. Reichert, Jefferson County coroner and immediate past president of the Wisconsin Coroners Association which met in Appleton. His motion received unanimous approval.

Rep. Vincent R. Mathews of Waukesha introduced into the State Assembly May 4 an amendment which would give counties the prerogative to abolish the offices of coroner and surveyor. Both offices were abolished earlier in counties with populations of more than 500,000.

Several coroners pointed out that the bill makes no provisions for an alternative to the coroner's office in the counties, although some presumed it would be replaced with a medical examiner, as in Milwaukee County — the only county thus far affected by the constitutional amendment eliminating the coroner in the 500,000-plus counties.

Opposes Bill

Joseph LaMont, Milwaukee County deputy medical examiner, said Tuesday that he is opposed to Mathews' bill.

Some of the coroners suggested that the association "not make much noise" on the proposal yet, because it would be some time before preliminary action is taken in the Assembly.

Ted Witheril, Racine County coroner, suggested that the coroners undertake a public relations job by getting out and talking to people about their job. Witheril indicated that some of the reason for the repeated attempts at abolishing the office is that the public is not fully aware of the duties of the coroner.

Before adjourning, the coroners heard invitations from representatives of Wausau, Hayward, and Green Bay for the 1968 conference. Decision on the conference site will be made early next year by the association's executive committee.

Duty Summons Convention Host

Neither rain, nor sleet, nor snow — nor convention

Like the postman, nothing stands in the way when duty calls the coroner — not even a convention for which he is host.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H Kemps was paged over the Conway Hotel's public address system late Tuesday morning during the closing hours of the Wisconsin Coroners Association annual conference.

Other coroners looked at each other. Could it be? It was. Kemps was summoned away from his job as host and program moderator to investigate a fatal traffic accident near Bear Creek, some 30 miles on the other side of the county

Kemps missed the remainder of the closing session

Mielke Site Hits New Snag In Committee

School Board's Population Estimates Are Challenged

There were new developments Tuesday in the running controversy over a proposed new southside grade school site.

During an executive session at city hall between representatives of the board of education and the council's land acquisition committee:

—The school administration's projected population figures and insistence that the Mielke property be purchased for the school site were challenged.

—City officials indicated the Hoover Park property would be ideal for building a new school, and will arrange for a meeting with the park-recreation commission to discuss developing a new park on other city-owned land in the area.

Give Balance

—A report was given by Finance Director Henry W. Schreve that there is only $12,000 remaining in the school site acquisition budget.

—During a discussion on the need for a site on the north side for a future elementary school, the committee had no objection to the location and agreed to begin negotiations.

The southside site dispute has centered around the school board's position of the past two years that the city purchase the Mielke property.

Surrounding properties have been offered for sale at lower prices but the board has deemed them unsuitable.

Charles Buchanan, school board president, said the board had been working on the Mielke site, and in the best judgement of the board and council's school advisory committee it should be purchased. He indicated two options have expired in the past.

And at one point, City Atty. David Geenen injected that one of the board's options was not valid because of the terms it imposed on the city.

Need In '68

Buchanan said the southside school would have to be opened in the fall of 1968, indicating it would be about the same as the new Highlands Elementary school. The latter is two-story and measures 211 by 205 feet, costing about $1.5 million to build and equip.

Estimated total cost of the southside school is $1 million. It will not have an orthopedic wing like Highlands School.

Walter Rasmussen, city planner, said he used the city's comprehensive plan data to conclude the school board's population projections were questionable.

He said the board of education may be forced to build two schools on the south side, and in that case the Mielke site would not meet population-center criteria that Buchanan said was being followed.

"I think population estimates represent a critical factor in selecting a site," Rasmussen said, "and as city planner it is my duty to point this out." He urged the school board to review its figures.

Buchanan said with appraisals on the Mielke property now in, he felt the city should make the owner a firm offer, and added that in event agreement cannot be reached on a price, the board could reconsider its position.

Board of Education Endorses Unified District for Kaukauna

Approval Needed by July 1 To Change From City System

KAUKAUNA — Establishment of a unified rather than a city school district has won the approval of the board of education.

Members voted Tuesday night to recommend the new arrangement to the city council and the supervisors of the towns involved in the school district.

The change in the type of district must be acted on before July 1 to go into effect the following year.

Major advantages of the change would be the opportunity for the board to act on all fiscal matters and purchase of property without council approval and assume sole responsibility for the school budget, board members were told.

A budget could be adopted to coincide with the school year, making it unnecessary to anticipate budget changes which could arise following negotiations of teachers' salaries. It also would permit establishment of sinking funds to insure money for future building programs. These funds could be invested and draw interest to help reduce debt interest payments.

Many Districts Change

Board members pointed out that many school districts have been changing to the unified plan with approval from municipal officials, electors and school officials.

If the unified school district is refused by governmental officials, it could be implemented by a referendum vote of the residents of the district.

Board members also approved a recommendation to the council to transfer vocational school buildings, equipment and grounds to the high school to permit continuation of the industrial arts, home economics and other high school programs currently being offered in the vocational school quarters.

The district would agree to lease available facilities to the Fox Valley Area Vocational School District effective Jan. 1, 1968, until the new area district's facilities were adequate to meet anticipated demands.

Board members also voted to notify vocational school teachers that the district wants to retain their services for teaching high school students after formation of an area district.

Wants More Information

Julian Bichler, superintendent of schools, was authorized to notify Cooperative Educational Service Agency No. 8 that the board would like more information and cost estimates on the driver training portion of the pilot safety program which will be proposed for federal aid.

Board members did not feel the entire program would meet the needs of the district, but said the driver training program could aid the district.

Bichler reported that late registrations and transfers from other schools indicate facilities at Nicolet School will be overtaxed for the 1967-68 school year. Some curtailment of a remedial reading program will be necessary, since space will not be available. A nurse's area and speech correction area will be utilized part-time for the remedial reading programs, since all classrooms in the school will be occupied.

Replace Attic Windows

Two bids were received for replacing attic windows at Park School and the low bid of Von Haden Steel Windows, Green Bay, of $2,028 accepted. The second bid was $3,387 for aluminum windows.

After hearing cost estimates to have carpeting in Quinney School cleaned and equipment purchased to clean carpeting, board members instructed

Result of 'Call Jumping'

Ambulance Control Ordinance Eyed

Mounting complaints over activities of Appleton's two private ambulance services may result in a recommendation in the near future to bring them under municipal ordinance.

Members of the city council's public safety committee gave that indication when they met at city hall Tuesday afternoon and heard reports of "ambulance call jumping".

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff told the committee there have been continuing incidents in which ambulance services apparently are monitoring emergency calls, resulting in both rushing to the scene.

Blame Each Other

Wolff said he has held conferences with the operators in the past and they agreed to discontinue the practice, one usually blaming the other.

Operation of emergency vehicles is authorized annually by the sheriff under state statute. In the past, Outagamie County sheriffs also have issued warnings to the ambulance firms, but no authorizations have been withheld.

John Ayers (12th), committee chairman, said the group had a complete file and considerable information on what other communities are doing to regulate private ambulance firms and urged members to review it.

Ayers said at a special meeting in the near future the committee would deal with "the ambulance problem".

Rescue Squad

However, the committee indicated Appleton was fortunate to have both services, plus the fire department's rescue squad, used extensively by the public.

But aldermen felt there was a safety factor involved in ambulances racing each other to the scene of an accident or emergency.

Concern also was expressed over the speeds of emergency vehicles, and it was noted that in many cities they obey regular traffic laws, with extreme emergencies the exception.

The need for emergency vehicles using sirens during the early hours of the morning also was questioned.

At one point, Wolff said consideration could be given to assigning ambulance services certain months in which they would answer accident calls or emergencies reported to the police department. Outagamie

Supervisors' Tempers Flare Over Rezoning Old Airport

Debate on Change of Land Use

Tempers flared Tuesday afternoon when Outagamie County Board supervisors were asked to approve the rezoning of the old airport property to heavy industrial.

The land, which is still owned by the county, is now located within Appleton's city limits.

The city's plan commission and commerce and industrial development committee have recommended that the land be zoned for heavy industry.

The county board's public property and insurance committee met recently with the city commerce and industrial development committee and the two groups reached an agreement, in principle, on land-use zoning.

Spark Debate

Tuesday's debate was sparked by the public property and insurance committee's resolution which amounted to a county endorsement of the city's expressed intentions.

After the heated discussion, the resolution was referred to the county zoning committee (which has no authority over land within the city) and the public property and insurance committee, for further study.

After hearing some supervisors say that the city probably can rezone the land with or without the county's blessing, Seymour Supv. Marvin Babbitt said the county hasn't determined yet how the land will be sold.

"If the City of Appleton wants this land zoned for heavy industry, they should buy it," Babbitt said.

Public property and insurance committee chairman, Walter Fredericks, New London, said his committee was advised by Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath and Appleton City Atty. David Geenen that the city has a right to zone the land any way it wants, but deferred any action "because they want us to go along.

Zone Heavy

"We agreed," Fredericks said, "that it should be zoned for heavy industry. If it was zoned residential, it would have to stay there; if it was zoned for heavy industry, it can always go up. You can't come down with land use, but you can always go up."

Some county supervisors feel the county could realize a greater profit on the sale of the

Committee Reaffirms Stand Backing Housing Authority

A recommendation that the Appleton City Council create a municipal housing authority was reaffirmed by the council's Welfare and Ordinance Committee Tuesday night.

The 3-2 vote to endorse a previous recommendation came in the face of possible opposition from Appleton real estate interests to becoming involved in a federal program.

The authority would determine whether low rental housing for the elderly is needed here.

Adverse reaction came from two Appleton real estate men, Ronald Williams, executive vice president of the Appleton Board of Realtors, and Ted Moder, an active member.

Williams and Moder said the city should not become involved with public housing subsidized by the federal government, and pledged the support of their group in assisting city officials conduct a study to see what senior citizen housing needs are in Appleton.

Pool Resources

Williams and Moder told the committee there were private interests in Appleton that could pool their experience and resources to provide low rental housing for the elderly if a need is found to exist.

The resolution was up for consideration at the last council meeting but then referred back to committee at the request of Ald. William Wachtendonk (4th).

Wachtendonk, elected to his first term in April, presented the committee with a mimeographed sheet containing 21 questions which he wanted answered before he would support a housing authority proposal.

Wachtendonk said he felt the committee acted in haste in making its original unanimous recommendation and questioned the need for the housing authority. He previously voted for it.

"If Definite Need"

"If there is a definite need for an authority, I will be 100 per cent for it," Wachtendonk declared.

Williams claimed the committee had taken "an arbitrary approach" to the public housing question and precluded other means for solving the problem, if one exists.

"The Appleton Board of Realtors would be willing to work with any other groups to see what the housing situation (for elderly) is in Appleton," Williams said.

This prompted Ald. A. Orville Strutz (17th) to inquire why the real estate men had not previously made their position known and waited until the last minute when formation of a housing authority was being planned.

Williams said the realtors organization had not been approached, but admitted he attended a recent local meeting at which George Hibner, Madison, an official with the State Commission on Aging, explained low rental public housing and said there was a need for it in Appleton.

Had Discussed Authority

Ald. Richard Huisman (1st), committee chairman, said city officials had discussed the creation of a housing authority to do something about housing for senior citizens over a period of several months.

"The previous committee, before the council reorganization in the spring, was all set to bring in the recommendation

$100 Fine or Jail Ordered in Stabbing Case

Russell Paeth, 18, Appleton, Guilty of Disorderly Conduct

An 18-year-old Appleton youth who was stabbed during an early morning fracas on W. Fourth Street May 27 was fined $100 and costs or 30 days in jail this morning after he was found guilty of disorderly conduct.

Russell Paeth, 1530 E. Glendale Ave., pleaded no contest Tuesday afternoon, was found guilty, and was sentenced today by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Meanwhile, trial and preliminary hearing dates were set for two other 18-year-old youths charged in connection with the incident. Preliminary hearing will be June 20 for Michael James Low, Minnetonka, Minn., who is charged with feloniously causing bodily harm by the handling of a knife in a highly negligent manner.

Stabbed During Fracas

Low, who said he was a Lawrence University freshman last term, allegedly stabbed Paeth in the abdomen and shoulder during the fracas in the 2600 block of W. Fourth Street.

Low was released to the custody of his father.

William Rath, 610 N. Owaissa St., pleaded innocent of disorderly conduct and will stand trial July 6. Judge Keller set bond at $150.

Paeth and Rath are on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare, the court was informed.

Followed Argument

The 1 a.m. fight on W. Fourth Street reportedly followed an argument at a nearby Town of Grand Chute teen-age bar.

Paeth, who was hospitalized for two weeks with injuries received in the incident, got a stern lecture this morning from Judge Keller.

The judge, after commenting on the "bargain beer nights" at some of the teen-age bars, said that the fracas appeared to have been partly the result of the youths drinking. "It's fortunate someone wasn't killed," Judge Keller noted.

Detectives Solve House Burglary, Park Vandalism

Appleton detectives said today that with the apprehension of six juveniles they have solved a house burglary and two vandalism incidents at Pierce Park which occurred earlier this month.

Two 15-year-old boys were implicated in a burglary and theft last month at the Kenneth S. Dickinson home, 733 W. Front St. Taken in the burglary was about $2, two watches, a cigarette lighter, and some golf medals. The youths also broke a glass table top in the home.

Detectives said that most of the items, but not the money, have been recovered.

Four youths, ages 14, 15, and 16 years old, admitted causing about $93 damage on two occasions at Pierce Park. Police said they smashed light bulbs and broke a fence, and ripped a sink from a pavilion washroom wall.

Chilton Man Escapes Injury in Truck Mishap

Few Houses Display Banner

Many Forget U.S. Flag On Its Birthday Today

BY JACKIE KRUG
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Stars and Stripes symbolize the American dream of freedom, equality and justice for humanity. It is a dream that has manifested itself in current breed of protesters nearly 200 years ago.

But for too many Americans it is a forgotten or sleeping dream. A look at Appleton's many flagless houses emphasized the point today.

Thomas Jefferson said, "Yes, we did produce a near perfect Republic. But will they keep it, or will they, in the enjoyment of plenty, lose the memory of freedom? Material abundance without character is the surest way to destruction."

How many Appleton residents still hold the memory of freedom — and do something about it? The answer came from a number of citizens who displayed their nation's colors today, Flag Day.

But block after block of this city's street showed no reminder of Flag Day.

What reasons did those exceptions who displayed the flag have for remembering the banner on the anniversary of its birth?

Mrs. Jake Herman, 1625 E. Frances St., said she displayed the flag for the same reason she stood up when the colors pass in a parade — a feeling of honor and duty.

The D. W. Brown residence at 2617 N. McDonald St. showed three flags today. Two small ones on the lawn belonged to the Brown children. Mrs. Brown said she and her husband try to set an example for the children, who will one day be adult citizens.

Bought Flag Yesterday

The John R. James family, 1631 E. Frances St., bought its flag yesterday. Family members got together to chip in for the purchase of the long-wanted banner.

Lee Tennessen, 228 S. Walter Ave., has a special reason for honoring the flag. A veteran of World War II, he "respects the flag to no end." He feels too many of the current breed of protestors many ways since its inception enced the love of country that comes from having fought for that country. To him the flag is a well-fought-for symbol of freedom.

There is still an inkling of the memory alive. But many seem to have forgotten. Few flags flew in Appleton today.

4-Lane Route to Airport Gets Boost

County Board Authorizes Work This Summer on Both Segments

College Avenue (County Trunk CA) will become a four-lane highway from U. S. 41 to the airport sooner then had been expected.

The Outagamie County Board Tuesday afternoon gave Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson authority to begin work this summer on both the east and west-bound lanes of traffic.

The board, which placed $113,000 in the 1967 budget for the project, was told by Brownson that completing grading work and culvert installation on both lanes this summer would result in a 25 per cent savings in overall construction costs.

Highway Committee vice chairman Patrick Heenan, Appleton, explained the savings would be made possible by having the men and equipment working on the project now stay there and complete grading, instead of returning next year.

"It was our intention," Brownson said, "just to grade the east-bound lanes this year, but because of drainage problems, we found it necessary to do the west-bound lanes first."

Additional $4,000

Brownson said the highway department has money left over from its right-of-way purchase funds and a house on the right-of-way that can be sold to add to the budgeted funds. He estimated that by completing work on both lanes the cost would be about $117,000, only $4,000 more than was budgeted.

Brownson said the project is being coordinated with the U. S. 41-State 125 (College Avenue) interchange project which will be undertaken late this summer by the state highway commission. As part of its project, the state will make College Avenue a four-lane highway as far east as Bluemound Road, and one-fourth mile west of the interchange. The state work is expected to be completed in November, 1968.

Tuesday's county board action only gives the county highway department authority to grade and install culverts. Funds for surfacing the highway will have to be requested this fall for the 1968 budget.

Assembly Votes To Prohibit LSD

MADISON (AP) — A proposal to ban the sale, use or manufacture of the hallucination-inducing drug LSD was passed by the State Assembly Wednesday by a 94-1 vote.

The measure now returns to the Senate, where it was approved April 6, for consideration of a minor amendment.

Workshop Warns of Parents' Rights

Battered Child Silently Begs for Help

BY JEAN OTTO
Post-Crescent Women's Editor

GREEN BAY — Abuse of children is certainly not new. What is new is society's reawakening to the problem and its willingness to act more vigorously on behalf of the abused child.

The views were expressed by Max Wald, consultant to Families and Children, Division for Children and Youth, State Department of Public Welfare. He summed up the problems outlined during an all-day workshop on "The Abused and Battered Child" Tuesday at the University of Wisconsin Green Bay Center.

Legal, medical, social, law enforcement, education and religious leaders expressed their opinions of what can be done to prevent a child from further abuse and to rehabilitate the family involved.

Brown County Sheriff Norbert Froelich was chairman of the conference, at which Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette, outlined legislation designed to help the child subjected to abuse and neglect.

Pass Laws

Until 1960 only one state had a child-abuse reporting law. Since that time all jurisdictions except Mississippi, Hawaii and the District of Columbia have enacted such legislation. As with all hastily enacted laws, LaFollette said, there was bound to be flaws. Wisconsin's law now provides criminal immunity to those reporting, in good faith, suspected child abuse. The legislature has bogged down in granting civil immunity, however, and each amendment proposing it has been hotly debated and finally defeated. Senate Bill 199 providing civil immunity was adopted by the senate but stricken from the current calendar in the rush to adjourn the spring session.

Based on the best national estimates of child abuse, which suggest that about 10,000 cases occur each year, Wisconsin could have expected to receive about 123 reports in the first seven months under its provision that doctors, nurses, social workers and school administrators are required to report suspected cases to both county welfare departments and law enforcement agencies. Since only 31 cases were reported, LaFollette concluded that only about one in four cases is coming to the attention of local authorities.

Extensions of the present law have been introduced in the legislature, LaFollette said, providing civil as well as criminal immunity to the reporting party, and adding hospital administrators and dentists to the list of those required to make reports.

Throughout the conference early help for the child subjected to mistreatment and abuse was stressed, for, as time progresses, the child becomes so emotionally and mentally scarred that in his own adulthood he is likely to become the same kind of

Youths Escape Injury When Auto Overturns, Skids on Its Top

OSHKOSH — Two Appleton youths escaped injury at 1:20 a.m. today when the small foreign car in which they were riding went out of control on Winnebago County Trunk BB, overturned and slid 54 feet on its top. The car was a total wreck.

County police said the car, driven by William K. Coggeshall, 18, of 1523 Schneider Place, traveled at a high rate of speed northeast on BB a mile west of Appleton, went out of control on a curve and crossed the highway, hitting three guard rails. The car then flipped and skidded on its roof.

Coggeshall's passenger was Robert J. Krueger, 18, 812 Buchanan St.

Brillion Moves to Stop Cycling Disturbance; Annexation Discussed

Area Southwest of City Limits Given 'Top Priority' by Planners

BRILLION — City officials were authorized by the council Monday night to draw up an ordinance to control noisy motorcycling.

The action resulted from recent complaints by residents about early morning noise from motorcycling on city streets, which in turn caused Police Chief Rueben Huntington to request establishing an ordinance which will help control the cyclists.

Several Main Street residents told council members that the noise has been annoying "for some time," but that a disturbance from 2 to 5 a.m. Saturday was a "constant roar."

Huntington said the cyclists responsible for the noise Saturday were part of a group from the southern part of the state and not local riders.

The ordinance and resolutions committee was authorized to work with the police chief and the police commission to draw up a motorcycling ordinance.

Patrol Has Outing

Huntington reported that 72 members of the school safety patrol and 11 chaperons attended a recent outing at Wisconsin Dells

Building Inspector Elnor Wenzel's recommendation that the electrician or owner of a building under construction furnish an affidavit covering liability on temporary wiring installations was approved.

A request by Gaylord Unbehaun for sidewalk construction on the Parkway Drive and Horn Street sides of his property was granted. Sidewalks also will be constructed on the west side of Parkway Drive without a public hearing if property owners there submit individual written approval.

Bids will be opened at 8 p.m. July 10 on a water main installation on National Ave. A five-cent per hour raise for seven city employees was authorized, as a result of requests by Director of Public Works Glen Campbell.

On recommendation of the finance committee, 10 Class B beer and liquor licenses for city taverns were approved. A license for Krizenesky's Bar was withheld until the proprietor appears before the council to air accusations he allegedly made against police commission and council policies regarding tavern regulations.

Beer Licenses Approved

All other beer, liquor and soda water licenses were approved.

Bids on appraisals for insurance on the city hall, library, fire station, water towers, pump stations, city garage, disposal plant and park buildings will be studied by the finance committee A recommendation is expected at the next council session.

The "action plan" phase of the new comprehensive plan as presented by Candeub, Fleissig and Associates last week was accepted. An area southwest of the city limits was named "top priority" in a five-phase annexation plan outlined in the report.

A group of property owners from that area attending Monday's council session interested in annexation procedures was told that the direct method is most effective. Publication of intent to petition is necessary.

The petition is then circulated in the area and must be signed by the majority of the electors and one-half of the owners of the land area or one-half of the owners of the total assessed valuation.

Asks Length of Time

One resident asked how long it would take before city water and sewage facilities would be available. The annexation procedure could take up to 90 days and engineering work and the awarding of contracts for installations would follow

Actual installations would begin as soon as the designated contractor was available. Current average assessments for sewer, water, curb and gutter and sidewalks were discussed.

Soil suitability maps included in Candeub, Fleissig and Associates' recent report clearly indicate that land surrounding the city is not conducive to septic tank sewage facilities.

Water well problems, inadequate sewage facilities, a chance for fairer tax assessments and assured land control uses have been cited by residents in the 25-home area who are in favor of annexation.

Persons opposed to annexation are fearful of higher taxes and loss of country living. Some have said the initial substantial assessments for sewers, water mains, curbs, gutters and sidewalks would surpass their capabilities to pay. Continued loss of town property to the city means higher taxes for those who remain as town residents, another adds.

Equipment Transferred

On recommendation of the governing board of the city's Vocational and Adult Education School, $3,300 worth of equipment will be transferred to the Brillion Jt School District by July 1 when the local school becomes a member of District 12 Area Vocational Technical School.

Merlin Wieting received permission to hook up a 400-foot lateral pipe to the city's sanitary sewer on National Ave. The facility will service his duplex in the city limits

A special council meeting will be called within the next two weeks to discuss Elm and Tesch street development, the site for a recreation building, a flood-plain ordinance, urban renewal, flood control and the Spring Creek cleaning project

In other action, the council approved a meeting of the affairs committee on the cleaning of Spring Creek with abutting property owners.

—Informing the General Telephone Co. that installations on Glenview Avenue should be underground, if possible

—The mayor's appointment of Dr Julio de Arteaga to the Citizens Advisory Committee, replacing Mrs. Douglas Rulseh, who recently resigned from the post.

'Turn Key' Operation Studied at New London

Housing Authority Seeks Firm to Oversee Construction of 120-Unit Development

NEW LONDON — The housing authority is to investigate three architectural firms on their feelings toward a "turn-key" agreement in developing a 120-unit low rental housing development for the city.

"Turn-key" is an operation where the authority contracts with an outside firm to prepare plans, handle paperwork and oversee construction of a development and then turn the operation over to the authority when the doors are ready to be opened.

Firms to be contacted are Edgar A. Stubenrauch and Associates, Sheboygan; Hackner, Schroeder and Associates, La-Crosse, and Schutte, Phillips, Mochon, Appleton.

The other alternative open to the authority is the hiring of an architectural firm and doing its own supervising and contracting.

Applications, registration forms and papers certifying formation of the local authority were received from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The papers will be filed with the federal agency in making application for federal funds.

Wallace Gruening was elected vice chairman of the authority to replace the Rev Wesley L. Sharpe who resigned the authority after being reassigned to a church in Union Grove

New Library Hours Set At Waupaca

WAUPACA — New summer hours on a trial basis for the Waupaca Library have been announced by the library board.

In past summers the library has been closed all day Tuesday and Thursday. However, to facilitate greater library use, daily hours will be maintained, according to Mrs. Douglas Loomis, board chairman.

Starting immediately the library hours will be: Monday and Friday, 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p m ; Tuesday and Thursday, 1:30 to 5:30 p.m., and Wednesday and Saturday, 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 5:50 p.m.

As in previous years the story hour will be each Wednesday morning from 10 to 11 a m , starting June 14.

Mrs. Helen Brooks, librarian, has also announced plans for an incentive reading program. This year's theme will be "Wild Horse Roundup"

Mrs Adin Kratzke and Mrs. Regina Daley were named co-chairman in charge of arrangements for the Auxiliary float for the Marion Homecoming parade in August.

Green Lake Convention

FFA's Top Award Set For 3 Chilton Students

CHILTON — Three boys from the high school's Future Farmers Association (FFA) Chapter will receive the Wisconsin Farmer Degree at the State FFA Convention at Green Lake. Degree ceremonies will be conducted at the American Baptist Assembly.

The degree is the highest that the Wisconsin association can award. It indicates a high degree of proficiency by the individual in his experience program, scholastics and leadership.

Based on membership, the Chilton chapter was entitled to three applicants all of whom were accepted by the association.

Strong Leader

Daniel Klessig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Klessig, had specialized in hog enterprise and other livestock. He was especially strong in all forms of leadership within the school, chapter and community, school authorities said. He was an honor student and was selected the class co-valedictorian.

Robert Lee Heller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Heller. He specialized in a program of dairy, crops aad livestock

Ronald Hillman, son of Mr. Ronald Hillmann, son of Mr. receive his degree as a high school junior. Hillmann's program includes dairy cattle, crops, and 80 acres of rented crop land. He is active in many school activities. FFA and church groups are included in his leadership activities. He is an honor student.

Office Candidate

Hillmann will seek a state office in the Wisconsin Association while at the convention.

Elimination for candidates will be by test, oral interview and presentation of the candidate himself before the delegate assembly. Dennie Lisowe and Dan Klessig are delegates from the Chilton chapter.

The Chilton chapter has received a first place award for proficiency in the study of careers. The chapter carried on a very extensive study on careers which included research, community resource people and college days. The chapter participated in operation "contact" in which a traveling group from the University of Wisconsin gave a program to enlighten people on careers in agriculture and home economics.

The chapter has been notified that it is rated superior in the National Chapter Award contest. This rating is judged on the chapter's overall activities and work during the course of the year. Having been rated superior, the chapter will then become eligible to submit its application to the National Association for rating. Chapters there are rated bronze, silver and gold. The Chilton chapter was rated bronze in 1958.

Youth Forfeits $18 On Disorderly Charge

NEW LONDON — Robert J. Quaintance, 18, 413 E. Quincy St., forfeited $18 in Municipal Justice Court Monday when he failed to appear on a city police charge of disorderly conduct.

City police said Quaintance was arrested about 1:05 a.m. May 26 for unnecessarily blowing his horn while driving through the city.

New Lighting Approved at New London

Junior High School To Get Vapor Lights; Budget Reviewed

NEW LONDON — Mercury vapor outdoor lighting for Washington Junior High School was approved Monday by the board of education.

Estimated cost of installing six lights around the school is $1,040. The money will be included in the 1967-68 budget which will be presented to the public at 7:30 p.m. July 10.

The new lighting system will replace an incandescent lamp system which has been maintained by the city for many years.

The board finished its review of a proposed administrative budget. A final draft of the proposed budget for the coming school year is being prepared by the administration.

New London National Bank was approved as agent for the payroll checking account for a two-year period. The bank will begin as the agent July 15.

Authorization was given to solicit quotations on fleet insurance for the coming school year. Quotations will be opened at the July 10 meeting.

Patricia Richards, Goodman, was hired as an elementary teacher.

Conference Delegates

DALE — The Rev. Robert Pike and John Much Sr. are delegates from the Zion United Church of Christ at the Wisconsin Conference meeting at Lawrence University today and Thursday.

Registration Scheduled for Hilbert Recreation Program

HILBERT — Registration blanks for the area's six-week recreation program, which will get underway Monday, are now available.

Forms can be secured at Hilbert State Bank, Potter Meat Market and Loehr's General Store, St. John. Forms also will be printed in the local newspaper.

A $2 fee must accompany the completed form Families with more than two youngsters participating will pay $2 for the first two and $1 for all others. An additional swimming fee will be charged.

Children are asked to state activities preferred when registering to help determine the equipment needed. John McNaughton Sr. will be in charge of the recreation activities.

The program is planned from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Swimming at the Chilton pool will be on Monday afternoons. In the event of rain activities will be in the high school gym. There also will be several field trips.

All youngsters seven to 16 years of age living in the Hilbert School district are eligible to participate.

Menopause Is Difficult Time in Woman's Life

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My wife is going through her change of life. She is 47. Would this have anything to do with her unusual, irritable, nagging disposition?

Dr. Molner

No matter how much I do for her, she always finds fault. It's beginning to make me a complete wreck. Is this to be expected? We have been married 25 years. — C.M.

Well, friend, neither you nor I know exactly what change of life (menopause) is like, because we're men.

It is a difficult time in a woman's life. She knows it is the end of her chance to become a mother. She knows she is at that time of life called middle age. She encounters (in varying degrees) discomforts such as "hot flashes" and jitters. Sometimes she is taking on weight and losing her figure. She is afraid that she is "losing her femininity"—although that is not true. Still, she knows she's not the dewy-eyed charmer she was 20 years earlier.

Of course we mere males get older, and lose our figures, and sometimes our hair, and realize that we aren't the prince charmings that we used to be, either. But it doesn't come on with an abrupt change in our physiology. We don't have the flashes. We rarely find our physical rhythms disrupted.

All of which led me to insert this sentence in the booklet I wrote on menopause: "An understanding husband is a blessing!"

It is no more than fair that a husband should inform himself on what the menopause means, and maybe you will want to read the booklet. If so, send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of this paper, and ask for "Make Menopause Easier."

Menopause varies in its intensity from one woman to another. A few escape with very little trouble, some have a lot, most have enough discomfort to make them edgy and annoyed with the whole business.

But it doesn't cause a complete change in disposition.

After 25 years you must have a fair idea of your wife's normal reaction to things, and if she has changed from a pleasant, easy-going person into a chronic nag, you'd probably better look deeper than just menopause to explain it.

She needs and deserves sympathetic consideration from you, but if she is making life as miserable as you say, there probably is something deeper involved.

Dear Dr. Molner I have been under the impression that butter is not fat in the sense that, for instance, suet or other meat fat is, since butter is derived from milk and cream. Similarly, margarine is derived from various vegetable oils.

I infer from your column that both, in the finished product, are fat in their effect. — J.W.H.

There are three sources of fat: animal meats, dairy products, and vegetable oils.

Butter from dairy sources and margarine from vegetable oils are rated at 81 per cent fat content.

Lard is 100 per cent fat. Salt pork fat has an 85 per cent fat content.

The chemistry may vary a bit but they all are fat from the nutritional standpoint.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should I eat black pepper or no? I am 78, and have been operated on for stomach ulcer and also am taking a heart tablet. — Mrs. L.C.

It wouldn't affect your heart. If you have no further stomach trouble, small amounts shouldn't harm you, but if you are having any stomach distress I would avoid pepper as well as other strong spices.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent for a bopy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Kenosha Man Picked President of State Welfare Association

LAKE DELTON (AP)— Paul Hickey of Kenosha was elected president of the 2,400-member Wisconsin Public Welfare Association recently at the group's 31st annual conference.

The director of the Kenosha County Welfare Department succeeds Edwin Affolter of Racine.

Others elected were Edward Buxton of Beaver Dam and Wesley Rohrer of Baraboo, vice presidents; Mrs. Belle Van Doren of Elkhorn, secretary, and Duane Folz, Florence, treasurer.

Appleton Pilots Support Aviation Center Plan

Plans for a new aviation training and meeting center on Outagamie County Airport property received the backing of the Appleton Pilots Association, who are officials of the Fox Cities Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP).

After considerable discussion at a recent meeting the association unanimously agreed to support the project and voted substantial funds to further speed construction.

The association agreed to supply $2,000 immediately and $500 per year for the next two years.

Plans and purposes of the building were discussed. It was pointed out that the concept of the building coincided with the initial purpose of the association.

The group was formed more than 20 years ago to improve the general aviation facilities on the county airport, promote flying safety and public interest in aviation.

Since that time the association has assisted in securing communications equipment for the fixed base operator and assured its maintenance, worked for general safety and the removal of flight hazards in the airport vicinity and purchased weather recording equipment used on the field.

Board Approved

Squadron officials explained that the county board had approved the use of a specific area on the airport for the center. More than two years of study and planning have gone into the initial plans now awaiting state approval.

Primarily the building is designed as a training and operations center for activities of the CAP. However, it is suited for meetings and other activities of aviation oriented groups.

More than $3,450 and materials valued at $7,000 have been pledged during the initial phases of the fund raising program. A more concentrated drive is planned for the near future with a goal of $60,000.

Panel Affirms Support For Housing Authority

but felt the matter should be considered by the new members," Huisman said.

Huisman, along with Welfare Director Merten Ehricke, said attention was focused on low rental public housing when the local chapter of the American Association of Retired People wrote the city council and asked for assistance.

The group of senior citizens said earlier in the year that private developers were not interested in providing low rental housing units, and claimed they could not get builders interested.

Gather Information

Ehricke then was instructed by the council to gather information and had Hibner come to Appleton to explain the federal program, which would require formation of a housing authority for administration purposes. He said Appleton could use 300 low rental units for the elderly.

"The need for low rental public housing for the elderly seems to exist here," Ehricke said. Ehricke said he welcomed any assistance in the community in conducting a feasibility study.

Ehricke thanked Williams and Moder for volunteering to work with the group in the community that has shown interest in low-rental housing for retired persons on fixed incomes.

Wachtendonk said the state did not conduct a survey in Appleton and questioned where it got the figures on the units needed here.

"Fill 100 Units"

"All I know is the state commission said we could build 100 units and fill them immediately," Ehricke said, "And the Commission on Aging said Appleton was geared for a total of 300 units."

Ehricke said there was definitely citizen interest in such a project.

He stressed that public housing for the elderly was to be "in no way construed as competition to private real estate."

"I am glad to see the real estate people here. We need their help, too," Ehricke said.

Wachtendonk and Ald. George Schwartzbauer (10th), a realtor, cast the dissenting votes. Favoring creation of a housing authority were Alds. Huisman, William Errington (15th) and Strutz.

Unified District Sought for Kaukauna

Thomas Nytes, business manager, to rent equipment for use by regular maintenance crews.

One bid was received for air-conditioning offices at Nicolet and Park Schools. Nytes was instructed to get three more proposals for study and recommendation by the building committee.

Blacktopping Caves

Nytes reported that heavy rains had caused blacktopping to cave in above a sewer line at Quinney School. He was instructed to have the area barricaded until settling was finished, when the board decided to review repair plans.

Board members favored a plan of delaying action on realignment of the Mid-Eastern Conference until fall, when officials of a number of conferences in the northeastern Wisconsin area are scheduled to meet to consider present and future conference changes to conform with growth and expansion of various districts.

The hiring of six new teachers was approved. They are Jerry Stapleford, Green Bay, fifth grade; Jerome Kudla, Stevens Point, and Mrs. Linda Repulski, Kimberly, high school English; Miss Ruth Potthoff, St. Louis, Mo., seventh and eighth grade; Miss Jean Consie, Ironwood, Mich., primary grades, and Mrs. Helen Ebben, Kaukauna, kindergarten.

Workshop Told of Parents' Rights Regarding Aid for Abused Children

parent as the one who abused him.

Dr. Gerald Porter, pediatrician at the Marshfield Clinic, outlining medical aspects of the battered child syndrome, said not until the mid '50s did physicians learn to look for evidence of child mistreatment in X-rays.

Until this time, the finding of healed fractures was attributed to some basic deficiency or weakness in a child. A pair of Detroit physicians involved in the study concluded that injury was the cause, and that such injuries fell into gradients, beginning with those normally sustained by infants and children as they learn to walk; an exaggerated opportunity for injury provided by parental indifference or other irresponsibility and injuries inflicted by parents because of uncontrolled aggression. When infants from 12 families in the past two categories were removed from their home environments, no new injuries occurred.

Little Prosecution

The physician finding and treating such infants and children often finds it difficult to realize that such parents have legally well-defined rights, and that whatever his own judgment of the case may be, these rights cannot be superceded.

The number of cases of brutality and abuse which are actually prosecuted is very small in relation to the number of injuries a physician encounters in his practice, Dr. Porter said. When he attempts to take helpful or corrective measures on behalf of the child, he often finds that parents discontinue bringing the child for treatment of injuries.

The physician recommended a state central agency which would maintain a registry of all state families previously involved in any kind of child abuse, with frequent reports on these families to local social welfare agencies and supervision continued if the family moves.

Dr. Porter said combining the medical, legal, psychiatric and social aspects of the problem into a single approach will do more than protect the individual child. It also will help break the chain in which child beaters beget child beaters. It would, in effect, act like a mass campaign for abuse eradication, for child abuse is similar to a contagious disease.

Get Glimpses

An afternoon panel discussion by an educator, law enforcement officer, social worker and minister provided personal glimpses of the problem, as each has encountered it.

Karl Carmichael, principal of Shawano Junior High School, said if the school is to be as effective as it should in recognizing cases of abuse and neglect, teachers and administrators need more training in recognizing child-abuse symptoms. He referred not to the obvious physical symptoms, but the mental and emotional injuries that are sometimes hidden. There are not enough guidance counselors to spend the necessary time establishing the rapport needed to make a child open up.

The neglected and abused child suffers tremendous emotional scars that deepen as he grows and realizes that his life is different from other children's. They develop defenses that almost make it impossible to help them.

In making any kind of neglected-child report, the school bears the brunt of angry parents, threatening lawsuits. Carmichael says he doesn't believe this deters reporting, but it does leave the school in a precarious position. Civil immunity laws are needed, he said.

Prime Concern

Joseph Schiebel, a Brown County Public Welfare Department social worker said the protection of children is his department's prime concern. In trying to accomplish this, the social worker has a three-fold identification problem: with the parent, with the abused child, and with serving his agency.

The Rev. Donald Brown of the First Baptist Church, Green Bay, told of the lack of experience with the problem he has found among clergymen. Perhaps, he said, the church comes in contact with more middle-class families, who have become more sophisticated and subtle in their forms of neglect.

Need Coordinatibn

The cooperation of all the community is essential to effectively deal with the problem of child battering, Arthur DeWitt, juvenile officer for the City of Marinette, told the group of about 200 at the workshop. A central agency composed of police, clergy, social workers, public welfare representatives, physicians and educators, meeting frequently to discuss the problems, would serve as a way to bring cases into the open and coordinate efforts.

In his final challenge to the group Wald said each resident of every community has the responsibility to protect its children, and those suspecting abuse should advise either a welfare agency or a person required to make a legal report. Mandatory reporting is the first step in tackling the child-abuse problem, and rehabilitation rather than criminal prosecution should be the goal.

Tempers Flare Over Rezoning Of Port Land

old airport land if it was sold as residential lots.

"Maybe Appleton has the power to zone that land any way it wants," Babbitt said, "but in my heart I don't think aldermen want to zone this property against our will.

"If they go ahead and rezone it," Babbitt said angrily, "they'll find out what will happen to College Avenue. They're always asking us to cooperate with them. If they don't cooperate with us this time, the county board won't take it."

Make Request

Appleton has made an official request to the county board for $100,000 to help cover the cost of reconstructing College Avenue. It passed last week's city council meeting in resolution form, but never got before the county board Tuesday. College Avenue is on the federal aid secondary system (FAS) for which the county receives monies for maintenance and improvements. The College Avenue project is costing the city $800,000.

Babbitt was answered by Appleton Supv. Arthur Hoolihan, a member of the property committee, and also a member of the city council.

"The city council and the industrial development committee," Hoolihan said, "thought it's only right that Outagamie County be consulted in this matter. The city realizes that its high time both the city and the county begin to show some cooperation. There are ordinances which allow the city the right to rezone the land, but the city thought it would rather get an expression first from the county."

Fredericks agreed. "Our meeting was very friendly," he said, "and there was no antagonism at all. We were there at the city's request and were of the same opinion they were."

Had Hearing

Appleton Supv. Patrick Mares said a public hearing was held by the city on rezoning the land and pointed out that no county representative attended the hearing. "The property already is, in effect, rezoned."

"The city has asked us for cooperation," Babbitt said. "Well, Mr. Pointer (Appleton Ald. Roy Pointer) came to the highway committee and asked for $100,000. He's asking for an outright gift.

"You fellows from the city," he said, "always think you know so much and that we town chairmen and small city supervisors are so dumb. We'll remember this, if the land is rezoned."

Fredericks said he couldn't understand the motivation for Babbitt's remarks. "The whole action was based upon what our committee wanted."

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, said the county offered to sell the land to the city for $300,000, but was refused. He added that the Town of Grand Chute has offered to pay $300,000 for the land, proving the land can be returned to the town.

Under terms of the original resolution, when the county built its new airport, all money derived from the sale of the old airport goes toward paying off the bond issue for the new airport construction.

The zoning resolution was referred to the zoning committee by voice vote, with no dissentions.

Rescue Squad Fees Sought

County currently uses such a system.

Actually, the purpose of the meeting was to set a fee for the fire department rescue squad when transportation of the patient from the scene of an emergency is required.

The committee, with Ald. Arthur Hoolihan (11th) the lone dissenter, set the rate at $18. It emphasized that no charge would be made for first aid or any other service rendered by the rescue squad at the scene.

The $18 rate recommendation was arrived at after it was disclosed one private operator charges $15.90 for house calls and $18.90 for accident calls, while the other has a fee schedule of $18 for house calls and $18 to $22 for accidents.

Last month the city's rescue squad answered 21 calls, one-third resulting in emergency trips to the hospital.

Child Injured in Fall

Terry Chandler, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Chandler, 1124 W. Roberts St., was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by the fire department rescue squad after he was injured in a fall down a basement stairs at his home Tuesday morning

A TRIBUTE TO OUR CITY EMPLOYEES

How rarely do we think about the intricate highly efficient "machinery" that makes our City Government work! It is a human machine . . . a hard working combination of people whose jobs require them to know every phase of taxation, city expenses, city improvements, road building, real estate appraisals, city bonds, legal problems, the operation of city hospitals and institutions. These fine men and women . . . truthfully the faithful servants of our Commonwealth . . . the Mayor, the City Council, the Police Force, The Fire Department, the Street Cleaning Department . . . all are pledged to make this a better place for you to live in . . . all are proud of the part they play in making Our City one of the best governed in America. We salute our City Employees, every one of them. They are excellent citizens. They are praiseworthy neighbors . . . and friends!

PETITE PEACH PIES

Another all-time FAVORITE RECIPE from Better Homes and Gardens

1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
One 12-oz. jar (1 cup) apricot preserves
¼ cup sherry
Dash salt
4 ripe peaches, peeled and halved
8 baked 3½-inch pastry tart shells
½ cup whipping cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat preserves to boiling; add softened gelatin and stir to dissolve. Add sherry and dash of salt. Cool mixture until it begins to thicken. Place a peach half, cut side down, in each tart shell. Spoon cooled preserve mixture over. Chill until set. Serve with whipped cream. Top with maraschino cherries.

Communists Batter Hamlet Far Inside Mekong Delta

Guerrillas Kill, Wound Up to 80 Near Cambodia

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas swarmed through a small Mekong Delta hamlet before dawn today, killing or wounding perhaps 80 Vietnamese civilians and militiamen.

The attack was one of several deep in the delta near Can Tho during the night. They occurred near the Cambodian border in an area where the Viet Cong control vast areas of the countryside by night.

Ground action was light outside the delta, the U.S. Command reported. In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. pilots reported six more MIGs probably destroyed on the ground in the ninth attack on the KEP air base north of Hanoi and widespread destruction to supply lines extending from Hanoi and Haiphong.

Heavy Attack

The heavy Viet Cong attack in the delta fell on two adjoining hamlets 110 miles southwest of Saigon. While one was being raked by mortar fire, perhaps as a diversion, guerrillas smashed into the other.

A company of about 120 militia defended the second village. They hastily called for artillery support and for the U.S. Dragon Ship planes that nightly circle the delta to provide flares and Gatling gun support for embattled outposts.

A Vietnamese spokesman said 19 civilians were killed, 41 were wounded and the militia suffered heavy casualties, a term that means at least 20 were killed or wounded.

More guerrillas hit a South Vietnamese training center at Tan An, about 25 miles away. Once again Dragon Ships dropped flares and strafed the attackers with Gatling guns, and the attack was beaten off.

The U.S. Command reported the Dragon Ships were called out 24 times during the night, mostly against Viet Cong probes in the delta.

Elsewhere, there was some fighting in the central highlands around Pleiku and more action in the 1st Corps area below the 17th Parellel dividing Vietnam.

The fighting around Pleiku cost one U.S. Air Force Supersabre jet which dove into the ground, probably after being hit by guerrilla fire. The pilot was killed. It was the 185th combat plane downed by hostile action in South Vietnam.

Infiltration Routes

Also in the 1st Corps area, big B52 bombers pounded suspected Red infiltration routes in Quang Tri Province twice Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Infiltration routes in Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province, have been hit seven times in three days now.

The U.S. Command reported 97 missions over North Vietnam Tuesday, with fair flying weather over most important target areas. The North Vietnamese air force was up in some force, and U.S. pilots reported sighting many MIGs but no dogfights were reported.

The raid on the Kep base was the third since Saturday and brought the total number of MIGs reported destroyed, damaged or probably destroyed to 16.

Antiaircraft Guns

The railroad yards at Kep were also attacked and pilots said they destroyed or damaged 15 to 20 boxcars including one tank car which sent dense smoke 3,000 feet into the air. They also reported putting three antiaircraft gun positions out of action east and west of the yard.

Air Force and Navy pilots also concentrated on the rail lines running northeast and northwest from Hanoi to Red China. Returning pilots reported they found some 70 cars on the tracks and shot up many of them.

Several ammunition storage areas northeast of Haiphong were also hit. Pilots returning from one strike at Da Chong, 40 miles from North Vietnam's major port, reported they left a column of smoke visible for five miles.

Train Derails at N. Fond du Lac

FOND DU LAC (AP)—Seven cars of a 78-car Soo Line freight train derailed Tuesday night while pulling into the yards at North Fond du Lac.

No one was injured and the cars were not badly damaged but several hundred feet of switch track was torn up. Soo Line roadmaster H. F. Priest said the cause of the accident was undetermined.

The derailment occurred about 8:30 p.m., as the train arrived from Stevens Point. Six of the cars which left the rails contained lumber, the other was loaded with apples. The merchandise was undamaged.

Egypt Had Aided Regime

Israeli Victory Over Arabs Could End Yemeni Civil War

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — One byproduct of Israel's blitz victory over the Egyptians may be an end to the civil war in Yemen—either through a quick and bloody Royalist victory or by a peace agreement.

The destruction of much of Egypt's air force and army raises the question of whether President Gamal Abdel Nasser, with his economy teetering on the edge of ruin, can afford the men, money and material which are the mainstay of the Yemeni Republican regime. The fighting in Yemen, largely forgotten in the crisis with Israel, began in 1962 when rebel army officers threw Imam Mohammed el Badr off his 11-century-old throne and set up a republic in the Red Sea kingdom in the southwest corner of Arabia.

The Imam rallied loyal tribesmen for war and Nasser sent more than 70,000 troops to shore up the rebel regime led by bearded, sullen Col. Abdullah al-Sallal.

Arabian Support

Alarmed by the presence of the Egyptian Army on its border, Saudi Arabia threw its support behind the Royalists.

Princely commanders of the Royalist forces claim the death toll in Yemen goes into the hundreds of thousands. They say some 30,000 Egyptian soldiers have been killed or wounded in the fighting.

Egypt gives no statistics on the war, and there is no way of checking the Royalist figures, but signs of massive death and destruction abound in Yemen.

Egyptian air raids have shattered hillside villages. Hundreds of villagers have died from Eyptian poison gas, the use of which was confirmed this month by the International Red Cross.

The Imam's tribesmen have slaughterd entire Egyptian units in isolated outposts and strewn parts of the country with wrecked tanks and trucks. In the early days of the war, Royalist guerrillas defeated tanks by stuffing their turbans up the exhaust pipes to stall the engines and then beheading the crews as they emerged.

Nasser and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia agreed to end the war with the Jeddah Pact of August, 1965, which called for a halt in Saudi aid to the Royalists and the withdrawal of Egyptian forces. Nasser charged Faisal with violating the agreement and refused to pull out his army. The war went on.

Later Nasser made clear that Egyptian forces would stay in Yemen until neighboring South Arabia gets independence from Britain in 1968, raising fears of an Egyptian takeover there.

The Egyptian army now is withdrawn into a triangle cornered by the major cities of San'a, Hodeidah and Ta'izz.

30,000 Protest Election

Korean Students Defy Ban on Demonstrations

SEOUL (AP) — More than 30,000 students defied a government ban today and waged violent demonstrations for the third day in Seoul charging that parliamentary elections last Thursday were rigged.

Twelve universities were closed in Seoul, Pusan and Taegu, but students from 31 universities and high schools in Seoul battled riot police for six hours, throwing rocks and chanting slogans as the police wielded clubs and fired tear gas.

The police said 49 of their men were injured, six of them seriously. About 50 students and five high school teachers were hurt by police clubs.

Reached Capitol

Police said 423 students and 14 adults were picked up for investigation.

Two groups of about 500 demonstrators managed to reach the heavily guarded Capitol compound near the presidential mansion. About 400 students staged brief sitdowns in front of the headquarters of the ruling Democratic Republican Party.

Similar antigovernment demonstrations and rallies were held in Pusan, Taegu, and four other cities.

In the election President Chung Hee Park's ruling Democratic Republicans won 130 of the 175 National Assembly seats. Park has admitted irregularities in some districts and has ordered a thorough investigation. So far his prosecution teams have arrested 48 persons, most of them from Park's party, on charges of election rigging.

Seven universities in Seoul, two in Pusan and one in Taegu announced today they were closing indefinitely. Seoul National University closed Tuesday.

How To Hold
FALSE TEETH
More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath." Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

Court Losing Conservative

Marshall to Add Liberal Vote

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The liberal instincts of the Supreme Court almost certainly will be reinforced when Thurgood Marshall takes his place on the bench next fall.

This is likely to be most evident in civil rights, the area in which the court's decided liberalism has shown signs of receding.

"I am not attached to any legal school of thought," Marshall has been quoted as saying, "but I am also not a conservative."

Though past performance is not always a sure guide, Marshall's lifetime commitment to civil rights and civil liberties is too deep to reasonably expect a wholesale change of heart.

NAACP Lawyer

In 25 years as a lawyer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, he piled up a mass of significant victories, including the 1954 Supreme Court ruling that cracked school segregation.

Others brought down the so-called white primary election in the South, broke exclusion of Negroes from juries and struck at forced confessions.

His work for the NAACP and later as a judge on the U.S. Circuit Court in New York City and as U.S. solicitor general suggests Marshall will find himself comfortably at home in the high court's liberal wing.

As the government's top pleader before the court, Marshall's manner was decidedly amiable and highly informal. A large man, he seemed almost uncomfortable in the austere morning dress that is traditionally worn by the solicitor general.

A common sense approach was evident in his arguments and pear-shaped tones noticably were absent. In attacking a California constitutional amendment that gave private homeowners "absolute discretion" in sales and rentals, Marshall's voice rose as he exclaimed: "I don't understand this argument that all it says is that everybody's free."

When the court struck down the amendment, the federal government — and Marshall — scored an important victory.

Double Trial

In a little less than four years on the federal bench in New York, Marshall's most noteworthy ruling was that the constitutional ban on trying a man twice for the same offense applies to the states.

The Supreme Court has yet to adopt this view.

Take 90 Dozen Eggs, Four Gallons of Milk For Versailles Omelet

VERSAILLES, Ohio (AP) — Here's the recipe for a Versailles Poultry Days omelet:

Ninety dozen eggs, four gallons of milk, two gallons of oil and seasonings. Mix well in an eight-foot, eight-inch diameter skillet over a huge charcoal fire.

When this western Ohio community has its Poultry Days Festival in early July, that's the concoction chairman Ralph Strome and his workers will prepare.

The one-eighth inch thick steel skillet was cast by a nearby Greenville company and will be moved to Versailles on a flatbed truck.

Nomination No Surprise

Appointment of Negro Likely to be Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's appointment of Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall to the Supreme Court —the first Negro so named— appears certain to be confirmed when the Senate gets to it.

Johnson's announcement Tuesday that he is nominating Marshall, 58, to succeed retiring Associate Justice Tom C. Clark surprised neither the solicitor general's critics nor his supporters.

A senator who maintains close relations with the President said he felt certain Clark's successor would be either a Negro or a woman.

"That man is going to be first in everything he can," the senator said of the President. "I'd be willing to bet that if there is another vacancy, we'll have a woman member of the court."

The general opinion among senators was that Johnson's selection of Marshall represented a bid for Negro support in Johnson's expected bid for re-election next year.

White House officials indicated they were uncertain about the reaction the nomination would receive in the Senate and were prepared for noisy opposition from long-time segregationists and, perhaps, from some others who may have been disturbed by the so-called black power movement.

However, they said Johnson looked upon Marshall as a symbol of Negro progress through full implementation of legal processes, as contrasted with mob violence.

Johnson, they said, had been thinking about Marshall as a potential Supreme Court justice for a long time and has been mindful that the emergence of the black power stalwarts might work against his choice.

Although Marshall predicted there may be a long delay in confirmation. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen forecast early approval. He said the appointment will ameliorate racial tensions "because it demonstrates that Negroes can reach the top of the heap."

Decision Follows Committee Wrangle

County Will Pay Insurance Firm $4,654 to Stall Off Rate Increase

Outagamie County will pay North American Insurance Co. $4,654 in order to keep current health and hospitalization insurance rates for county employes in effect until Jan. 1, 1968.

The decision was made by the county board Tuesday afternoon on a 33 to 11 vote.

The county board was faced with the alternative of making the $4,654 payment or having insurance rates go up by 19 per cent, retroactive to May 1.

When the county took out its insurance coverage with North American at the start of 1966, it was learned that a standard policy provision, a "carry-over clause," was not included in the county's previous policy, with Time Insurance Co.

Not Covered

As a result, pregnancies which occurred in the last nine months of 1965 were not covered after Jan. 1, 1966. Also, patients who were hospitalized on Jan. 1 from illnesses and conditions which began the year before also were without insurance protection.

North American agreed to provide immediate benefits for county employes to alleviate the situation but dropped its carry-over clause. The company, through its Appleton representative, Arthur Coffey, told the county's public property and insurance committee early this year that liabilities by county policy-holders had exceeded administrative costs and higher rates would have to go into effect.

Coffey told the county board Tuesday that he worked out an agreement with North American underwriters. The agreement was that if the county paid $4,654, which was the amount North American paid for 1965 "carry-overs" not covered by the Time policy, current rates would hold until the end of the year. The insurance company, Coffey said, also promised to inform the county on Sept. 1 on what its rates would be for 1968.

Appleton Supv. Eugene Kloes objected vigorously to the proposal and several board members objected to Kloes' questioning of Coffey. Most of them were under the impression that if the county paid the $4,654, North American would re-institute its carry-over clause.

Contract Stipulation

However, under Kloes' questioning, Coffey said the payment wouldn't result in reinstitution of the policy provision. In other words, when the North American contract expires Dec. 31, county employes hospitalized from conditions which originated this year, will be without coverage unless a new contract provides for immediate benefits.

Advises to Settle

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler advised the board to settle by making the payments because if it didn't, employes premiums would go up and union contracts would be affected.

Public property and insurance committee members indicated that they would advertise in September for bids on new health and hospitalization insurance coverage.

Joining Kloes to vote against making the $4,654 payment were Supvs. Robert Weyenberg, Charles Wussow, Joseph De Bruin, John Dietz, George Kroes, Sylvester Lenz, Patrick Mares, Chris Roepcke, John Schreiter and Ralph Schwartz.

Partially Burned Shells Found in Chilton Mailbox

CHILTON — Calumet County Sheriff Irvin Vice was called to a rural Chilton farmhome Tuesday when owners of the farm discovered a package of partially burned shotgun shells in their mail box.

Vice issued a warning of danger about tampering with firearms or explosives. "It is lucky the shells did not explode while being placed in the mailbox. Someone could have been killed or seriously injured," he said.

The sheriff's department is continuing investigation. Vice speculates the shells were placed in the mail box as a prank.

Lightning Cuts Power in Hilbert, Sherwood Areas

HILBERT — The Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. transformer west of here was struck by lightning in the severe storm which hit the area about 4:30 p.m. Monday. Poles were knocked down and 40 pound insulators were melted.

Most of the substations between Appleton and Hilbert were affected leaving some 1,200 customers without power in the Sherwood, St. John and Hilbert area, according to a company spokesman.

Hilbert and Sherwood were without power for about two hours with the St. John area hardest hit, where residents were without electricity for about six hours.

Large dairy farmers in the St. John area used the power takeoff on tractors to provide power for milking, while others were still doing their farm chores at midnight.

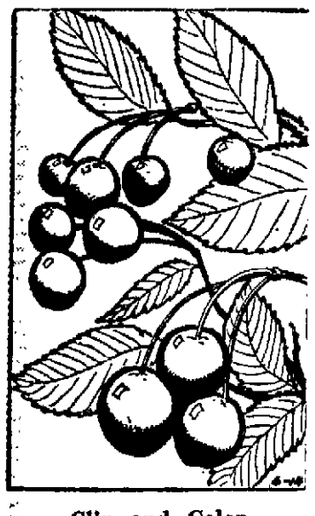
Color the Cherries and Win A Hocus Pocus Magic Set

BY CAPPY DICK

Enough magical equipment for any boy or girl to produce a complete magic show for family and friends comprises the big national grand prize in today's color-the-cherries contest. Five of these outfits, each of which very well might become the foundation of a lifetime in magic for its winner, will be awarded in today's contest, one for each of the five neatest and most original contest entries from all cities where this column is published.



Clip and Color

The big prize is the Hocus Pocus Magic Set containing the equipment and secret instructions for 20 fascinating magic tricks. It is a product of the S. S. Adams Company, pioneer manufacturer of magical effects. Included in the set are the world-famous Linking Rings Trick, the Rice Bowls trick and other equally effective classics of magic.

For a chance to win one of the five sets, a contestant must first win a local qualifying prize, 5 of which will be awarded in each city where this column appears. This, too, is magic. It is the Multiplying Billiard Balls trick, junior size. Using the equipment that comes with the secret directions, a boy or girl can cause one ball to become several balls, right before the eyes of the audience, then the balls can be made to disappear one by one until only one is left.

The Multiplying Billiard Balls tricks will be awarded for the 5 neatest and most original contest entries from boys and girls of the Fox Cities area. Entries winning these tricks then will be reconsidered, along with local winners from all the other cities, to determine the winners of the Hocus Pocus outfits.

To enter the contest, simply clip out the picture of the cherries, add any decorations that will make the entry neat and original in appearance, print your name, age, address and zip number on it and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow to Cappy Dick's Hocus Pocus Contest at The Post Crescent.

Prize winners' names will be published here. They will receive their awards by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none will be returned.

A&P

say Dad... ever wonder how Mom got the money

Come Sunday morning, will you be one of the millions of fathers who are forever amazed?

Will you look at your new fishing reel or power tool or camera... and wonder:
"How did Mom get the money?"

You'll know she didn't rob a bank:..and she didn't sell the car.

Is Mom an A&P shopper?
Could it be that the savings she makes each week of the year add up to so much?

Why not ask her?

Before you do though, better take a quick look in the garage to make sure the car's still there.

Steak and the Trimmings

Reuben Sandwich

Corned Beef Roast

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

The third Sunday of June, the 18th to be exact, is the red letter day for Pop when the whole family tries to let him know what a great guy he is. Mother usually goes all out in the kitchen, too, fixing all the foods that Father likes best.

For most Dads, this means beef with steak his first choice this time of year. If the weather is warm enough, make it an outdoor barbecue of steaks with all the trimmings . . . which means potatoes . . . fresh tomatoes . . . corn on the cob . . . strawberry shortcake or a special Father's Day Cake, served with an unusual ice cream.

Sometimes, the man of the house likes such meats as pork chops just as well or even better than steaks. If this is the case, pamper him and keep that pathway to his man's heart in good repair . . . serve him Pork Chop Crown that uses those versatile canned pie-sliced apples in succulent, fruit-accented dressing and sauce. This is one of those out-of-this-world dishes for pork chop fanciers.

Part of the apple slices are diced and combined with cornbread cubes to make a moist and delicious texture that blends with the meat as it cooks. The Apple-Raisin Sauce gets spooned generously over the individual helpings of meat at the table. To achieve a festive effect, set the chops on end to form a sort of illusory crown just for Dad.

Another he-man specialty is the Reuben Sandwich, a winner for males ever since it was invented. This hearty, grilled sandwich mingles the flavors of sauerkraut and corned beef. Both can come right from the can for a one-two-three preparation. Serve between thick slices of rye bread with generous slices of Swiss cheese. Served with French fries or potato chips, these make a wonderful pick-up supper or picnic meal. Hard-cooked eggs or deviled eggs also make a fine addition to the menu; add a crispy salad and a fruit dessert with steaming cups of tea or coffee and presto a big meal has been created.

The Appleton Woman's Club has added to the Family Service Association of the Fox Valley, Inc., fund by the presentation of a $1,000 check. William Branta, Family Service treasurer, accepted the donation, made on behalf of the club by Mrs. Charles Reichert. Family Service offices will be staffed by July 17. An open house is planned in the fall. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Marriage Ceremony Performed

Miss Carlotta Jean Hayes and Chester James Hill III exchanged wedding promises Saturday at St. Paul Episcopal Church, Riverside, Ill.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hayes, Riverside. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Chester J. Hill Jr., 1400 Potato Point Road.

Miss Anne Chamberlain, Chagrin Falls, Ohio, attended as maid of honor. The bridegroom chose Edward Novak, Berwyn, Ill., as his best man. Webb Hill seated guests.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hill are students at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill. They will travel in Europe this summer.

Gem Garments Glitter On Fall Fashion Scene

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're rich, you may wear your wealth this fall instead of banking it.

At Count Sarmi's collection opening Monday elegant manikins swept through his crowded showroom with their costumes so laden with gold or silver or so encrusted with gems that they could probably stand by themselves.

Some of the stones were phony, though you would have thought they were real by the dazzle—or by reading these garments' four-figure price tags.

Suit Costumes

The show began unostentatiously with high waisted wool cuts and pale plaid suit costumes with pleated skirts.

However, by the time the basic blacks had arrived the first glitter of gold and silver was there in the skull caps the manikins wore. Not hats, they were wigs imitating the short, curly-hair worn by the Greeks long ago.

Indeed, the Grecian influence was strong, with togas and one shoulder dresses galore. Famed for his fluttering chiffons, and his simple crepes, Sarmi served up these too, in the show, along with dainty laces.

For the most part, however, the Italian count-turned-American designer could not resist sprinkling twinkle of sorts everywhere, even to the lame legs of his models.

Dripping Silver

Quilted velvets with dog collar gems and broadtail dresses and suits with sable and mink trims were opulence heavy enough to keep his clients warm in their drafty castles.

If the ladies were not foil wrapped in a metal brocade, wrapped in a metal brocade, they were tinseled with bands of dripping silver. Feathers, always a heady favorite with Sarmi, were among his flock of fashion entries. Still, these ostrich plumed capes or gowns were also made to sparkle with headlight sized gems nested within the feathers.

As if all this luxury were not enough, the designer compounded it by offering his rich customers reversible fur coats—a Russian broadtail, for example, that could be worn with its mink or sable side out for a change of style.

Miss Bernacchi

Engagement Of Daughter Announced

NEENAH — Mr. and Mrs. Deno Bernacchi, Kenosha, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Marie, to Martin N. Redlin. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Redlin, 424 Tenth St.

Miss Bernacchi was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, Madison. She is employed as a professional model and as an interior decorator in Kenosha.

Her fiance, a graduate of the same university, has been employed by Caterpillar Tractor Co., Peoria, Ill. He is now stationed with the Army at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, in Maryland.

Beauticians Tell Plans for Contest

KAUKAUNA — Affiliate K of the Wisconsin Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association will sponsor an apprenticeship contest at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Oshkosh Vocational and Adult School.

Trophies and plaques will be awarded to winners in the first and second year divisions.

The public has been invited.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

For the Skinnies

The reedy, boyish figure first came in vogue with high-fashion photography. Leap-frogging the years, it's having a revival in the person of Twiggy, whose name means "skinny."

While she bears up under the epithet, such name-calling holds no appeal for the underweight teens in our midst. Letters from them beg for advice on how to gain weight.

For slim-Janes, gainin weight is as frustrating as reducing is for plump girls. Underweight has its set of disadvantages, too, like knife-blade shoulders, clothes-prop legs, a sharp chin or, worse, flagging drive and sparkle. It's a piteous condition!

What causes it? When a girl's health is up to par, underweight is the result of under-eating. A thin girl, for instance, slights breakfast, claiming that she has neither the time nor appetite for it. Yet it is a most important meal, reviving the daily fires of energy.

Wishing to gain, you need to chalk up at least 500 calories at breakfast in a balance of foods patterned on this sample: Fruit, 2 poached eggs, 2 strips broiled bacon, 2 slices buttered whole wheat toast.

Add a "nutriment drink," and you'd do your weight a real favor. Packaged for gainers with essential food elements in convenient cans, the drink slides down effortlessly to boost your intake by a whopping 375 calories. And those extra calories go a long, but easy, way toward making up the 3200 you must take in daily to gain those wonderful pounds and looks.

A reception was held at the Country Aire.

The bride, a graduate of Marquette University, Milwaukee, has taught in the Kenosha Public School System. Her husband is stationed at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., where the couple will reside.

Jackie Mason To Entertain Israeli Troops

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Jackie Mason headed for Israel today to entertain troops "The ones who don't understand Yiddish or English will have to wait for Bob Hope," he says. "Meanwhile they can listen to Hebrew on their transistors."

Mason, who studied to become a rabbi in New York before going into show business, said he had worked out the tour with the Israeli Embassy in Washington.

To make the trip the comedian said he is passing up a $12,500-a-week engagement at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas.

Garment Dyes Tend To 'Bleed' in Wash

In general, white and colored durable press garments should be washed separately. This is because dyes used on some durable press fabrics, although they are reasonably fast to laundering, have a tendency to bleed in the wash water

Set Tryout Date for 'Cinderella' Play

The Appleton Recreation Department has scheduled tryouts for the annual children's play. They will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, at the Morgan School auditorium.

The production will be a musical version of 'Cinderella,' with parts for boys and girls from ages six to 15. Mrs. Anne Glasner is director and Kaaren Miles will have charge of music.

Matinee and evening performances are planned Aug. 1 through 4 at Madison Junior High School The Recreation Department Junior Chorus also will participate.

In addition to the classic roles of Cinderella and her wicked step family and the prince and his noble family, there are non-speaking roles, and parts for dancers and for those who would like to play 'talking animals'.

Cast members will rehearse three mornings a week.

Former Cancer Sufferer Shows Faith Conquered Fear

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband insisted that I write and reply to that woman who signed herself "Lady From Ohio" — the one who had cancer surgery three years ago and lives in constant fear.

I had cancer surgery, too — mine was five years ago, and I had those same feelings. But a dear friend gave me a few lines that have been enormously helpful and I would like to pass them on to "Lady From Ohio."

"Fear knocked at my door."

"Faith opened that door."

"And no one was there."

—Lady From Indiana

Dear Lady: Thank you, on behalf of the Lady From Ohio, and all the others who may find strength in those lines. It's amazing how a few words can get a person through some very dark days. I appreciate your taking the time to share yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A neighbor passed away recently. He was only 55 and an alcoholic. His sisters carried on at the funeral something awful. They wanted to give the impression that they loved their brother dearly and were deeply grieved.

Everyone in the family knew he suffered from emphysema. The doctors had warned him repeatedly to stay away from liquor. Yet his sisters served him cocktails when he came to their homes and treated him as if he were normal.

Please tell people the time to help their relatives is when they are alive. It doesn't do any good to weep and wail over a casket. — Fed Up With Phonies

Dear Fed: Who appointed you judge and jury? How do you know to what extent the sisters attempted to help their brother? Nothing is so futile (or frustrating) as trying to force help on an alcoholic who refuses to accept it.

No one ever helped a problem drinker by locking up the liquor or pretending there wasn't any around — or by refusing to serve him a cocktail when others in the room are drinking. Such antics make an alcoholic more determined than ever to have his own way.

So please don't be critical of the sisters. What you don't know about this family situation could probably fill a library.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Seven years ago our marriage would have been voted as the one most likely to succeed. Last week I filed for divorce. My mind is made up, so please don't think I am writing to ask how to save the situation. It isn't worth saving. I didn't say much when he ran around with every chippie in town but when he started to bring them home I decided I'd had enough.

Now my question: What should a wife say when her husband announces, "You can have the children but I want the dogs."

Thank you for your help. — No Class Clara (his name for me)

Dear Clara: Why say anything? Give him the dogs and consider yourself fortunate that he didn't put up a fight for the children. Some husbands do — not because they want the children, but because they want to be punitive. Don't be surprised if you end up with the dogs, too. The guy doesn't sound as if he has the maturity to accept any responsibility — not even for the dogs.

Want to say "no" to drinking without your buddies putting you down? Get cued in. Write for "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Beatle Lennon's Rainbow Car 'Colors' Row

LONDON (AP) — Beatle John Lennon's controversial rainbow Rolls-Royce has sparked a new row.

Stephen Weaver, 62, a free-lance designer, claims he was responsible for the auto's coloring — flowers and scrolls in yellow, red, white and blue.

But John Fallon, 50, runs the company that gave the Rolls its $2,800 facelift and he says Lennon signed over his interests in the copyright to him.

They are fighting because of reports from the toy world that models and jigsaw puzzles might be made of the Rolls.

The Board of Trade, which will register the design in one of their names, said it would not make a decision for days.

The $16,800 Phantom V Rolls-Royce has already upset other Rolls drivers, sensitive to the usually august appearance of the breed.

A color expert has said it could be a danger to road safety.

Man-Tailored For Father's Day

For the adventurer . . . and this is not too far out at all . . . try one of the new corned beef roasts especially designed for oven cooking. These newcomers for summer eating . . . corned beef used to be only a wintertime meat . . . weigh from 2½ to 3½ pounds and come in two kinds of cures. There is one that's mild and the other with the garlic and spice cure.

They are easy to tell apart . . . the packaging that's bright green means the roast with the mild cure. The yellow package contains the spicy flavor. Both carry the brand name, the type, and the words "Premium Corned Beef for Oven Roasting."

Just follow the roasting directions on the package; the cooking is done on a rack with no cover and without added moisture.

HORSE RADISH GLAZE

For a delightful glaze, spread a little prepared horseradish over the surface of the roast about 20 minutes before it's done. Sprinkle brown sugar evenly over the horseradish. This topping will form a handsome glaze and give the roast an extra subtle seasoning.

Round out the menu with seasonal corn-on-the-cob and fresh peas served with mushrooms in a creamy sauce. New cabbage simmered ever so gently for a few minutes also is an excellent addition to the meal. Then, there always is the old standby which most men enjoy — scalloped potatoes which may bake right along with the corned beef roast.

Dessert for a summer day should be refreshing . . . and easy, if possible. So, suggested is peach ice cream with a chocolate Father's Day cake made from a mix and frosted with a mocha icing decorated with chocolate "Pipes."

RULES FOR STEAK

If the meat is to be steak, the rules are much the same for charcoal broiling out of doors or cooked to perfection in the broiler of the kitchen range Out of doors cook over gray ash bed of charcoal, only shot with ruddy glow.

First, cook at moderate temperature, turn with tongs, and watch the timer for an exact degree of doneness.

Secondly, keep inch-thick steaks two to three inches from the heat source, and allow a total cooking time of 18 to 20 minutes for rare, 20 to 25 minutes for medium-done. If steaks are thicker, broil farther away from source of heat, three to five inches. A two-inch steak needs 30 to 35 minutes cooking time for rare; add 10 to 15 minutes more for medium.

Thirdly, preheat oven and start charcoal fire well ahead to give charcoal a chance to burn down to a bed of gray coals.

PARMESAN-ONION TOASTIES

2 (5-ounce) loaves Brown 'n Serve French bread
¼ cup soft butter or margarine
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash, paprika

Cut each loaf of bread diagonally, almost through to bottom crust, into 12 equal-sized slices. Combine butter, mayonnaise, cheese, onion, Worcestershire sauce and paprika. Spread 1½ teaspoons cheese-onion mixture between each slice of bread. String loaves on a long, sharp-pointed skewer, inserting the skewer through the center of each one. Heat over hot coals, turning to brown bread on all sides. Recipe makes six to eight servings.

ROASTED APPLES

Wash and dry six medium-sized baking apples. Wrap each one tightly in heavy duty foil. Place on grill over hot coals. Roast apples until tender, turning frequently or about 30 minutes.

HEATING FROZEN ASPARAGUS

2 packages frozen asparagus spears
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt

Unwrap and remove asparagus from package. Place frozen asparagus on sheet of heavy duty foil, dot butter and sprinkle salt over asparagus. Tightly wrap foil around asparagus. Place on grill and heat for 15 minutes, or more until asparagus is cooked. Turn package over frequently during cooking.

ROASTED POTATOES

Wash potatoes and prick once with fork prongs. Tightly wrap pricked potatoes in heavy duty foil. Place on grill over hot coals, turn frequently during an hour of baking.

EASY REUBEN SANDWICH

10 slices rye bread (or any preferred bread)
1 can (1 pound) sauerkraut, well drained
1 can (12 ounces) corned beef, chilled
5 slices Swiss cheese
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
Frozen French fried potatoes

Cover five slices of bread with sauerkraut. Cut corned beef into five slices and add; cover with cheese. Top with remaining bread; press lightly. Fry slowly in butter or margarine until brown on both sides and sandwich is thoroughly heated. Add more butter or margarine as needed. Heat potatoes according to package directions and serve with sandwiches. Recipe makes five servings.

PORK CHOP CROWN

¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons buttor or margarine
1 can Pie-Sliced Apples, well drained
2 tablespoons sugar
6 loin pork chops, ¾ inch thick
3 cups corn bread cubes
½ cup raisins
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning

2 teaspoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ cup orange juice
½ cup water
¼ cup raisins

Saute onion in butter until tender. Dice half of the apple slices. Add diced apple slices and sugar to onions in skillet and cook until apples are glazed; remove from pan.

Brown chops on both sides. Combine corn bread cubes, ½ cup raisins, salt, poultry seasoning and apple mixture and blend well

Spoon into a shallow eight-inch round baking dish. Arrange chops on top of stuffing to form crown Cover casserole tightly with foil. Bake in 350-degree oven one hour or until chops are fork tender.

Meanwhile prepare sauce by combining cornstarch, sugar, cloves, and ginger in small saucepan. Slowly add orange juice and water. Add remaining whole apple slices and raisins. Cook over medium heat until mixture thickens and becomes clear. Serve hot over chops when serving.

FATHER'S DAY CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 package chocolate cake mix

4 cups sifted powdered sugar
1 tablespoon cocoa
¾ teaspoon instant coffee
⅓ cup soft margarine
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ teaspoons milk or cream

Party Peach Ice Cream

Prepare cake mix and bake in two layers according to package directions. Let cool 10 minutes and remove from pans.

To prepare frosting, sift together powdered sugar, cocoa and instant coffee.

Blend half of sugar mixture with soft margarine in small bowl. Add egg yolk and vanilla and stir until smooth. Add remainder of sugar mixture and milk and beat until smooth Frost cake.

To make chocolate pipe garnishes, draw a "pipe" pattern about three inches long on paper. Cut out the pattern.

Melt chocolate over very low heat. Place a sheet of waxed paper on a baking sheet Spread chocolate in a thin layer over the waxed paper. Chill until hardened.

Remove the sheet of chocolate from refrigerator. Place the pipe pattern on the chocolate and with the point of a paring knife cut around the paper pipe. Repeat to make six pipes. Refrigerate again.

When hard, lift pipes from paper with a spatula and place, spoke-fashion, on the top of the cake. Serve with ice cream.

Marlon Brando, Second Wife Seek Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Marlon Brando's second wife, Movita, has filed suit in Santa Monica Superior Court for separate maintenance, charging the actor with mental cruelty.

The suit Monday estimated Brando's gross income at more than $500,000 a year.

His wife asked $8,000 a month for herself and the couple's two children, Sergio, 6, and Rebecca, 10 months.

The couple was married in 1960.

Liven Up Snacks With Cold Canapes

NEW YORK (NAPS) — Friends dropping in. . .an afternoon break. . .a midnight icebox raid — whenever the urge to nibble strikes, it's a good idea to have some cold snacks on hand. Snacks call for a tasty drink, too. Here are some ideas for easy-to-make cold canapes that you may want to try:

Spread devilled ham and chopped pickles, seasoned with mustard, on Melba Toast.

Crab Meat, mixed with mayonnaise and seasoned with grated onion and curry powder, makes an unusual taste-teaser when served on slices of rye bread.

Mouth Watering Mixtures

Chopped boiled tongue and chopped pickle seasoned with horseradish; tunafish or bonito mashed with a fork, mixed with celery, pickles and mayonnaise; and cream cheese and anchovies, chopped fine and seasoned with onions or paprika, are just a few of the mouth-watering mixtures you can spread on crackers for bite-sized snacks.

For some other unique tidbits, try these ideas: slices of salami can be rolled and filled with a mixture of chopped hardboiled eggs and mayonnaise. Sardines mashed and seasoned with lemon juice, worcestershire sauce and mayonnaise, can be served on celery bread. Or spread cold baked beans on crackers and garnish with catsup, relish or chili-sauce.

Serve Beverage

Whether you'll have friends dropping in for a party sometime in the near future, or just want to make certain that you always have plenty of fare for the family on hand, you're sure to want a refreshing beverage to serve alongside these snacks.

Expecting special company? Rather than scurrying around the kitchen on the big day, serve them cold snacks that you can make the night before and chill in the refrigerator. These recipes for snacks that are made yesterday — served today — are sure to make a hit:

SEVEN LAYER DELIGHT

3 teaspoons grated onion
2 teaspoons horseradish
1 teaspoon steak sauce
1 oz. white wine
2 small packages cream cheese
Genoa salami

Spread thin slices of Genoa salami with the mixture and keep alternating until seven layers are finished Slice like pie, and serve with toothpicks.

PIN HEELS

Spread slices of Nova Scotia salmon with one of the following mixtures: Chopped egg yolk mixed with mayonnaise; cream cheese mixed with chives; layer of cream cheese and a layer of caviar; or chopped egg mixed with cooked bacon. Roll the salmon up around the mixture until it is 1½" in diameter. Slice ¼" thick and put on melba rounds, bread rounds or whatever you prefer.

CHEESE LOGS

1 cup pecans
1 clove garlic
2 small packages cream cheese
2 tablespoons steak sauce
Chili powder

Grind finely and blend well. Shape into roll about 5" long and about 1½" in diameter. Roll in chili powder to coat evenly. Chill until firm, then slice and serve.

SHRIMP REMOULADE

1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon chopped gherkins
1 teaspoon chopped capers
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon chopped chives
½ minced clove garlic
½ teaspoon anchovy paste
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix well together and chill thoroughly for at least 24 hours. Serve well chilled in a bowl, surrounded by icy shrimp speared on toothpicks.

Guests coming tomorrow — or even tonight? When you serve these snacks and soft drinks, there's no reason to lose your cool; you can be the "hostess with the mostest" — even on short notice

Pair Observes 50th Wedding Anniversary

RED GRANITE — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tesch, route 1, Red Granite, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a family dinner Sunday at their home.

The couple was married June 14, 1917, in the Town of Lind. Before his retirement four years ago, Mr. Tesch operated a farm in that area.

Their children are Verlin and Vernon, Neenah; Mrs. Wilfred Wendt, Pine River; Mrs. Raymond Pokrandt, Oshkosh, and Mrs. Lyle Roshinko, Menasha. They also have 20 grandchildren.

The Wilfred Wendts, married June 14, 1946, are celebrating their 21st wedding anniversary today.

Aluminum Boat Requires Care

Before an aluminum canoe is painted, it should be well washed with soap or detergent suds, then carefully rinsed. When the canoe is dry, give it one good coat of zinc chromate primer which should be well worked into all cracks and corners, and follow up with two coats of any good non-metallic or automotive enamel.

This maintenance routine is especially recommended for an aluminum canoe after considerable salt water use.

Sharp Shoppers' List

Dairy Products, Eggs Featured This Month

June is dairy month in Wisconsin and most markets will be featuring specials in this classification. Eggs also are being offered at attractive prices in many Fox Cities markets.

Dairy products are in good supply and, in the case of American cheese, production has increased as high as 16 per cent in comparison to the same time last year.

Meat prices are stabilizing at higher levels than a few months ago A slight increase may be noted in retail prices of beef.

PLENTIFUL FOODS

Beef	Sweet Corn
Fryers	Potatoes
Turkeys	Onions
Eggs	Tomatoes
Fish	Oranges
Dairy Products	Avocados
Radishes	Bananas

With the demand for steaks, they are affected the most. Chuck steaks and chuck roasts are excellent values. They may be featured in some stores this week.

Cows are holding steady in price and this steadiness is reflected in steady prices on ground beef. Variety meats, too, are in steady supplies.

Fryers Best Buy

Pork chops are at higher price levels. Much of this price is due to the increased demand for it in summer cooking. Boston butts are higher but most supplies are being used for making sausages.

Fryers continue to be the No 1 buy in meat They are excellent for outdoor cookery, particularly when basted with a butter sauce. Fryer parts can be just as economical as whole fryers since one can choose the parts a family enjoys the most. A grade A fryer will give more meat in proportion to bone than the Grade B fryer, so rely on grades when shopping.

Turkeys continue to be a good value Parts missing turkeys are featured most frequently.

Egg production is continuing at higher levels than last year at this time, which is reflected in plentiful supplies and attractive prices.

Fish Nutritions

Fish, a good protein buy, is available in both fresh and frozen form in excellent supply. This is another food that is fine for outdoor cookery.

Increasing supplies of blueberries and strawberries, are beginning to make prices more attractive Strawberries are coming from Michigan and California, but the Wisconsin berries soon will come to market. Blueberries from the North Carolina area are in shorter crop than last year, so it's best to buy these now until the homegrowns from Michigan and Wisconsin are available

Vegetable Outlook

Local radishes are now being marketed Prices are reasonable and supplies are good Local rhubarb and a scattering of local asparagus also is noted.

Supplies of peppers, peas and beets are closer and prices are more reasonable Sweet corn is considered a good value this week

High markets are still seen on head lettuce Quality is termed as fair to good The quality is still reflecting the recent rains in producing areas Endive and escarole are also reflecting the high prices. Good quality romaine is available for salads

Potato Prices

Potatoes are in plentiful category this week Most of the Wisconsin supplies are now at an end. Old crop Idaho potatoes are still good buys. Supplies are good on new red potatoes. They are coming from many producing areas, and A sizes are the most plentiful. Long whites are coming down in price.

Quality is improving on celery this week. Cabbage prices are expected to ease soon. Broccoli and brussel sprouts are almost done. Cauliflower is now a minor item and is moderately high in price New crop onions are reasonable.

Tomatoes are at a moderate price level this week Vineripes are less expensive than hothouse tomatoes. Cherry tomatoes are considered reasonable in price.

Soft fruits are beginning to appear on local produce counters. The first of the grapes and peaches are available at high prices.

Grapefruit from Florida is done for the season. Orange supplies are now the Valencias. Lemons are reasonable while limes are high in price.

P. F. Schlichting New Trust Officer

Phillip F. Schlichting has been elected a trust officer of the First National Bank of Appleton and will assume his duties July 1.

Schlichting received his law degree at the University of Wisconsin, and has been associated with the law firm of Fulton, Menn and Nehs, Appleton, since 1963. He has been active in community affairs and currently is secretary-treasurer of the Outagamie County Bar Association, a member of the board of the Appleton Red Cross and of the Family Service Association of the Fox valley, and is serving as chairman of the American Field Service Selections Committee.

German Firm to Build Iron Ore Pelletizer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Allis-Chalmers said Tuesday it has reached an agreement with Fried Krupp Corp under which the West German firm will build one of Allis-Chalmers' "grate-kiln" iron ore pelletizing plants.

The facility, which hardens iron ore into flint-hard pellets for blast furnaces, will be built for Sydvaranger Co. of Oslo, Norway. Allis-Chalmers said it will be its second pelletizing system in Europe, and its 18th sold since 1959 throughout the world.

Allis-Chalmers operates the Appleton works, engaged in the manufacture of paper machinery.

Your Money's Worth

'Forced Savings' Best Way to Build Nestegg

BY SYLVIA PORTER

"On New Year's morning, my husband and I vowed to save $50 a month, about 10 per cent of his take-home pay. But in the past few weeks an unexpected bunch of expenses has wiped it all out. This has happened over and over again to us, with the result that we haven't accumulated one extra dollar in the past five years. Is there any cure for the habitual non-saver?"

Sylvia Porter

This plea is far more typical of Americans than swollen figures on total savings suggest This is the sort of letter which highlights the fact that despite our record volume of overall savings, a full one-third or more of the families in the United States have no savings at all — in the form of bank deposits, stocks or bonds — and for millions of other families, the savings total is less than $500.

If you are among the millions who have been unable to stick to voluntary savings plans, your best answer may be a form of "forced savings." There are literally dozens of different ways to discipline yourself into saving today, through bank accounts, insurance policies and stock purchase plans. Here is a sampling.

Deduct From Checking

1) An automatic deduction plan from your checking account is offered by many banks today. Under this plan, you authorize the bank to transfer to a simple savings account some specified sum at fixed intervals. You will receive the bank's stated interest rate on the amounts you accumulate in your savings account. You may also authorize the bank to invest your specified sums in United States savings bonds and notes.

2) Payroll savings plans are offered by many corporations under which a portion of your paycheck is automatically deducted (by your authorization) and invested in United States savings bonds or deposited in a special bank savings account. If your deduction is regularly invested in savings bonds or notes, an advantage is that you don't have to pay any Federal income tax on the interest until you actually cash in the bonds.

Sylvia Porter

3) Under other corporate employe savings plans now available to millions, a corporation may add a percentage contribution to the amount you authorize to be deducted regularly from your paycheck. Your savings then may be invested in savings bonds, company stock or other securities.

One in five manufacturing companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange also offers plans under which you can buy the company's own stock under favorable terms to you and thus, accumulate a stake in your employer's progress.

Life Insurance

4) Permanent life insurance provides you not only with life insurance protection but also with a growing cash surrender value against which you can borrow at reasonable rates when essential.

5) Periodic stock buying plans are an excellent way to build a nestegg in a stock or stocks of your own choice. One well-known illustration is the Monthly Investment Plan of the New York Stock Exchange through which you can invest as little as $40 every three months. The price you pay for your shares will average out over the long run and your investment probably will grow substantially.

6) Saving by borrowing from a bank is a method which puts you under legal obligation to repay (and thus, save) in regular installments. But you must pay interest on these loans, of course — and must invest your borrowed funds successfully in order to come out ahead in the end

The "secret" to saving, no matter what system you choose, is to put aside little amounts regularly and let the little amounts mount up to big totals. The "secret" behind this secret is to arrange to have the money taken from your paycheck before you get your hands on it.

Handle Snakes Carefully

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Some people read this column just to pick up odd facts about our friends of the animal kingdom. For example, the next time you play bridge remember that the safest time to handle a snake is after you've removed his poison fangs.

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the king of spades, cashed the ace of diamonds and gave up a diamond to West's queen. Back came a spade to dummy's ace.

South, no student of animals, led the jack of diamonds from dummy, planning to discard his losing spade unless East played the king of diamonds. Unfortunately for declarer, East poisoned the track with the three of trumps.

South overruffed but still had to lose a trump trick. Since there weren't enough entries to dummy to bring in a diamond trick, South lost a trick in each suit. Down one.

Remove Fangs

After winning the first trick with the king of spades South should de-fang the enemy by leading a trump to the king. Then he can lead the ace and a low diamond.

West takes the queen of diamonds and leads a spade to dummy's ace. Now South can safely lead the jack of diamonds from dummy. If East could ruff low, South would overruff and lose no trump trick. If East could ruff with the queen, South would discard his spade loser.

In the actual hand, East would discard and South would get rid of his last spade. Declarer gets back to dummy with the ace of hearts to discard his low club on the ten of diamonds, thus avoiding the loss of a club trick.

Answer: Bid two diamonds. You plan to raise hearts or bid notrump next The hand is too strong for a raise to two hearts or a response of one notrump, but not strong enough for a jump to two notrump or to three hearts. You can describe your strength by the temporizing bid of two diamonds first

5-Foot Iguana Roams Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The five-foot Brazilian iguana with a dragon-like head slithered away from its owner's home Sunday morning and has not been found.

Louis Tilder, a schoolteacher, said Freda, green and black striped, got out of a first-story window that had been left open.

"Freda looks awful" Tiler said, and it is going to be quite a shock to whoever sees her.

Indonesian Students Rap Corrupt Officials

JAKARTA (AP) — The chairman of the Indonesian Students Action Front, C. Batubara, says students will demonstrate unless the government takes action against corrupt officials. Batubara said elimination of corruption is essential and "we hope the government can act fast."

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, June 14, the 165th day of 1967. There are 200 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1940, the Germans occupied Paris in World War II.

On this date:

In 1777, the Continental Congress adopted the Stars and stripes as the U.S. flag.

In 1811, the author of Uncle Tom's Cabin Harriet Beecher Stowe, was born.

In 1922, President Warren G. Harding became the first U.S. president to broadcast, his speech was carried by radio station WEAR in Baltimore.

In 1934, Italy's Benito Mussolini and Germany's Adolf Hitler met in Vienna.

In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt ordered the freezing of German and Italian assets in the United States.

In 1944, American forces invaded Saipan Island in the Marianas.

Ten years ago — Military officers in Haiti ousted President Daniel Fignole after only 19 days in office.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy said the agreement on a coalition government in Laos might lead to better relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

One year ago — Chicago's police chief shook up his department after two nights of rioting in the city's Puerto Rican neighborhood.

Son's Illegible Handwriting Can't Improve With Criticism

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: What can we do about a boy who is a fine student in every respect except handwriting and general neatness on his papers? My boy is in the third grade and practically every month I get a note saying that his work is messy and his penmanship is almost illegible. Otherwise he makes good grades, and I know he tries hard. He just doesn't seem to be able to make the pen or pencil write smoothly. MRS. E. B.

Having suffered from the problems connected with writing illegibly all my life, I sympathize wholeheartedly with your son. Personally I think you've either got it or you haven't, so far as good penmanship goes. Also, I don't believe clear handwriting is related to general manual dexterity or even to personality traits. Some terribly disturbed patients of mine write in an extremely clear manner, and many otherwise apparently healthy people write almost as poorly as your letter suggests your son does.

I'm sorry I can't offer any constructive suggestions about improving his handwriting other than that you and his teachers stop bugging him about it. I suspect if your son were less concerned with good penmanship he would not erase so frequently and his papers would be generally neater in appearance. Surely, his teachers must know that even repeated writing drill doesn't improve most defective handwriting. Why not ask his teacher directly what she can suggest that might help her stop criticizing him for something that isn't easy to change.

DEAR DR. JONES: What is the best age to take my little boy to the dentist for the first time? When I take him for his checkups, I know the doctor looks at his teeth, so I don't think there is anything wrong with them. But I think we ought to make sure, don't you? He's 3 years old and in good health.

Also, I don't want him to be scared when we take him to the dentist, so please tell me the best way to explain beforehand what a dentist does. MRS. K. C.

As soon as possible make an appointment for your son. The longer you wait to take him for his first dental appointment, the more expensive dental treatment is likely to be for the first two years of care, according to dental experts. To prepare him for his first visit, tell him the dentist wants to look at his teeth to make sure they're all healthy. Don't make a big fuss about possible pain.

Burlington's Bob Brooks is cut down on an attempted steal in the sixth inning of the opener of Tuesday's doubleheader at Goodland Field. Foxes second baseman Roy Radmaker makes the tag after taking a perfect throw from catcher Chuck Brinkman. Shortstop Joe Monty backs up the play. Fitzmorris' Sixth Straight Victory Gives Foxes Split

Al Hurls Third Shutout and Seventh Victory; Bees' Medrano Outduels Frailing in Opener

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Last year, at this time, Al Fitzmorris was a Midwest League infielder-outfielder struggling to keep his batting average up at a respectable level.

Today, the same Fitzmorris is the hottest pitching story in the ML, lowering his earned run average with each appearance.

The 21-year-old right-hander again proved a stopper Thursday night, at Goodland field, as he pitched a 2-0 victory over Burlington — his sixth straight victory and third shutout — to give the pennant-hopeful Appleton Foxes a twin bill split.

Bee veteran Ray Medrano outdueled rookie Ken Frailing, 2-1, in the opener.

The runnerup Foxes dropped another length behind fast-traveling Wisconsin Rapids, which beat Dubuque twice. Appleton, which now trails the Twins by 2½ games, plays host to Dubuque tonight in the opener of a 2-game series.

Posts Seventh Win

Fitzmorris, the "Fred Rath of the 1967 Foxes," posted his seventh win in nine decisions and eighth complete game in 10 starts. Al, who has permitted only one earned run in the last 50 innings, shaved his mini-ERA to 1.11. Rath, on the same date in '66, had an 8-1 record. He went on to set the club's all-time victory record of 17.

A "Kids Night" crowd of 3,082 watched Art Kusnyer and Pete Lentine drive in first-inning runs with singles, then saw Fitzmorris protect the advantage with 4-hit, 1-walk, 7-strikeout pitching.

Burlington was even unable to capitalize on leadoff doubles in the third and fourth innings by Bob Smith and Dick Fernandez, respectively.

Fitzmorris had the benefit of perfect support, with several of the defensive plays bordering on the spectacular. Shortstop Joe Monty came up with a classy, side-retiring pick-up and throw of a viciously-hit ground ball near second base in the fourth frame. Carlos May backed up against the left field fence for Smith's drive in the fifth.

Foxes hitters, who like the Bees had been idled for three straight days because of rain, were unable to muster much help for Frailing in the opener, as Ken dropped his second 1-run decision in as many starts. Appleton was held to two hits by the 26-year-old Medrano, who had the batters beating the ball into the dirt and who induced clean-up hitter Roy Radmaker to ground into a pair of key double plays — in the fourth and sixth innings.

Medrano, who compiled a 9-5 record for Burlington last year, matched the Foxes entire first-game hit total by slapping a pair of doubles. He tried his best to get something started in the second game, too, as he socked a pinch-hit single in the fifth for one of the four safeties off Fitzmorris.

Its Only Scoring

Burlington did its only scoring of the entire warm evening in the fourth inning of the opener. Larry Bingham dropped a dou-

Palmer Favored in U.S. Open; Casper, Boros Second Choices

'I Think I Can Win It,' Declares Hogan

By BOB GREEN

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The 67th United States Open Golf Championship begins Thursday with commuting Arnold Palmer the favorite and—for the first time in a decade—Ben Hogan something more than a sentimental choice.

The possibility of a future players strike was the only disturbing note as the field of 150 of the world's best golfers—135 pros and 15 amateurs put the finishing touches on their preparations today.

Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner was a 6-1 choice to tame the plush, 7,022-yard Baltusrol Golf Club course that carries a demanding par 70.

The muscular millionaire was relaxed, cheerful and joking after commuting by private jet to his home in Ligonier, Pa., for the first two days' of practice.

"The only thing I really need work on is my short game," he said, then grinned. "You know, the short irons and chipping. And my driving isn't too good. And my putting needs help. Other than that I'm in good shape."

He said that the course "is so good, so fair, that any one of a number of players could win it. Maybe 30. Maybe even 50."

Second Choices

The odds-makers, however, listed defending champion Billy Casper and two-time former champion Julius Boros the second most likely to succeed at 8-1.

Grouped at 10-1 were Jack Nicklaus, who is trying to work his way out of a slump; Gary Player, the little South African who won in 1965, and Frank Beard, a young, Louisville, Ky. pro who has won two tournaments this year and is one of the hottest players on the tour.

Hogan, the 54-year-old marvel of another golfing age who has won four U.S. Opens, is listed at 12-1 with Masters Champion Gay Brewer and colorful Doug Sanders.

"I think I can win it. I really think I can," said Hogan, who

Top Pro Golfers Set To Revolt Unless PGA Meets Their Demands

By WILL GRIMSLEY

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Julius Boros added their names today to the protesting petition and a player tournament committeeman said all name golfers were ready to revolt unless their demands were met by the Professional Golfers Association.

"We now have every known player on the petition except Bill Casper and Doug Sanders," said Doug Ford. "Both of them have told us privately that they are in sympathy with our stand. We are now ready for a showdown."

Ford, a member of the four-man players tournament committee, said Palmer, the game's leading all-time money-winner, and Boros, two-time National Open champion, had affixed their names to the petition.

"We now have 150 players on the paper demanding a stronger voice in the conduct of the tour," the veteran New York professional, a former PGA champion, said after an unsuccessful conference with PGA officials.

In a seven-part petition the players are demanding that the PGA Executive Committee be deprived of an arbitrary veto and that the players be given a right to schedule their own tournaments and hire the men who run the show.

If these requests are not granted by June 15, the players' petition said, the touring pros will boycott the PGA National Championship, scheduled at Denver, Colo., July 20-23.

The PGA, which has built and promoted the tour into a $4.5-million enterprise, insists it will not yield.

"We have scheduled a meeting in Cleveland next Tuesday," said Max Elbin, Washington, D.C., president of the PGA and teaching pro of the famed Burning Tree Course where presidents play.

"We refused to sit down with five or six players. We want to talk with all of them. We feel that many of the players are under a misunderstanding on what is taking place.

"The issue is simple," Elbin continued, "What they want is control. We cannot sit still for that."

Terry McDermott On UW Campus

MADISON (AP)—Members of the U.S. speed skating team, including 1964 Olympic gold medal winner Terry McDermott and the 1967 world champion at 500 meters, Mary Meyers, are on the University of Wisconsin campus this week. They lead a work and study training seminar in preparation for the 1968 winter Olympics.

Homers by Mays, Santo Decisive

Atlanta's Phil Niekro Blanks Philadelphia In His Initial Start

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays, usually a starter, surprised no one by turning out to be quite a relief hitter, but relief pitcher Phil Niekro stunned everyone by proving himself no slouch as a starter.

"I'm still pinching myself," said Niekro, whose knuckleball fluttered Atlanta by Philadelphia 1-0 Tuesday night in his first start after 24 relief appearances.

Mays, who entered the game in the sixth inning, took his success as a substitute more nonchalantly, as usual, after hitting a grand slam in the 10th inning to boost San Francisco over Houston 6-2.

"Grand slams don't make any difference to me," he said. "Winning ball games does."

Elsewhere, the Cincinnati Reds and New York Mets were still pinching themselves over rookies Gary Nolan and Tom Seaver.

Nolan blanked the Mets 6-0 on six hits before Seaver halted the Reds 7-3 in a twi-night doubleheader.

Santa Homers

Another rookie, Dick Hughes, held off Pittsburgh as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pirates 7-4, and Ron Santo's home run shoved the Chicago Cubs by Los Angeles 3-2.

Niekro, who relieved 28 times without starting in his third season with the Braves in 1966 before being sent to the minor leagues, made the most of his starting chance. The only hits off the 28-year-old pitcher were a two-out double by John Callison in the fourth inning and a leadoff single by Gene Oliver in the eighth.

He struck out five, walked three and got the run he needed to even his record at 2-2 when Hank Aaron singled in a run off Rick Wise in the sixth inning after a walk and Tito Francona's hit.

"I thought I'd get tired, but as the game went on, I found myself getting stronger and stronger," he said.

He admitted he liked this new assignment, but added "I'll pitch wherever they want me — wherever they need me most."

The Braves gave him their answer. "They said I'm starting Sunday in Houston," he said.

Mays, who was scheduled to sit out his second straight game because of fatigue and a stiff back, hoped to be back in the Giant lineup tonight, despite his success as a reserve.

Gets Another Chance

He had entered the game in the sixth inning as a pinch hitter, but grounded into a double play with the bases loaded with Houston leading 2-1 on pitcher Dave Giusti's two-run homer. He got another chance in the 10th after Jim Hart tied the game with a solo shot in the eighth.

Mays connected off Barry Latman, who came in after Giusti walked the first hitter. Willie McCovey's hit and another walk loaded the bases.

The homer was Mays' eighth of the season, 550th of his career, seventh grand slam of his career and first slam since April 1962.

Nolan, a 19-year-old right-hander, won his fifth game in six decisions as he allowed only one Met past second base, struck out nine and walked two.

But Seaver, 22, cut the Reds' first place lead over St Louis to

Tigers Subdue Twins, 15-10, in Weird Tilt

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Making a little go a long way is nothing to be ashamed of, but the Detroit Tigers and Minnesota Twins were stretching the point Tuesday night.

"I sat right there and saw it, and I don't believe it," said Detroit Manager Mayo Smith after the Tigers snapped a five-game losing streak by chopping and slicing their way to a 15-10 verdict over the Twins.

Fifteen runs were scored — 10 by Detroit —in an hour-long sixth inning marked by the absence of an extra-base hit.

"It was one of the worst games I've ever played in," the Tigers' Al Kaline said after what started as a pitching duel between Dennis McLain and Dean Chance turned into a Punch and Judy fiasco.

In other American League games, Kansas City nipped Baltimore 1-0, Chicago blanked Washington 6-0, New York topped Boston 5-3 and California swept a twi-night doubleheader from Cleveland 8-3 and 5-3.

Hit 8 Singles

The Tigers fell behind 5-1 before raking Chance and three successors for 10 runs —on eight singles —in the sixth. Detroit paraded 14 men to the plate, with the first 11 reaching base. Kaline and Willie Horton each had two hits in the inning while pinch hitter Jim Price and Don Wert drove in two runs apiece.

The Twins then batted around in their half of the sixth, scoring five runs — the last three when center fielder Mickey Stanley dropped Bob Allison's two-out fly ball with the bases loaded.

In all, there were 10 singles, five walks, one hit batsman, three errors, two wild pitches and a passed ball in the full inning.

Detroit then pulled away with a three-run salvo in the seventh as Dick McAuliffe homered, Wert tripled, Kaline doubled and Horton singled.

The Tigers wound up with 19 hits, the Twins with 12.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter hurled a four-hitter for his second successive shutout as the A's shaded the Orioles and hard-luck left-hander Steve Barber.

Two walks and Bert Campaneris' double in the second inning produced the game's only run. Hunter struck out six and allowed only one runner past first base. Barber yielded three hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The White Sox blanked Washington behind Tommy John's three-hit pitching and a three-run homer by Ron Hansen. John fanned nine Senators in breez-

Aaron Says His Hitting Style Is 'All Wrong'

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hank Aaron joined the select club of players to reach 2,500 hits but neitner he nor the Atlanta Braves discovered the fact until some 24 hours after the slugging outfielder reached the coveted plateau.

The 6-foot, 180-pound Aaron collected a home run and single Monday night against the Philadelphia Phillies to join the 2,500-hit select circle, occupied by only 41 other batters.

"I didn't know how many I had," said Aaron when asked why he didn't mention it Monday night.

"We didn't realize it until we did a recheck," explained a Braves spokesman. He started the season with 2,434, and has 66 so far this season. That's 2,500, even in the new math.

The spokesman explained the club statistician forgot to record an official scoring change that gave Aaron a hit and took away an error charged to Philadelphia's Rich Allen in the second game of an April 30 doubleheader at Atlanta.

Aaron accepted the latest honor of his 13-year career in the same stoic manner he reacts to all of his slugging accomplishments — 10 years a better than .300 hitter, five times a 40 or more home run producer.

He talked about his favorite subject — hitting, and almost floored his listeners with this gem — he's been doing it all wrong

How wrong can you be to be so right?

Aaron explained that he has a hitch in his swing which prompted Manager Billy Hitchcock to suggest he teach the rest of the Braves the same hitch.

"I wouldn't mind teaching hitting," said Aaron, "but I wouldn't teach anybody to do it my way I've been dong it all wrong"

"I've got a hitch in my swing and I hit off the front foot Now I wouldn't teach those things

"The big thing in hitting," said Aaron, "is bat control. Stan Musial, for example hit off the front foot. Like me, he was way out in front of the ball. But he kept the bat back until the last split second. You can commit your body, not the bat. That's your leverage."

Aaron said most good hitters have a hitch in their swing, naming the Phillies' Rich Allen and Willie Mays as "just a few"

"I'd try to help a young fellow with his own style, not mine," Aaron concluded.

Aaron didn't wait around admiring his 2,500th hit. He went right out Tuesday night and whacked No. 2,501 and 2,502 enroute to the 3,000 plateau. His 2,502nd — a single — knocked in the only run as Atlanta beat the Phillies 1-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Phil Niekro

He admits it would be nice placing his name alongside Ty Cobb, Musial, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Napoleon Lajoie, Paul Waner and Cap Anson — baseball's only members of the exclusive 3,000-hit group

Phil Niekro Wins in First Mound Start

2½ games with an eight-hitter for his fifth triumph in eight decisions. He lost his shutout in the ninth when an error set up a three-run pinch-hit homer by Art Shamsky.

Hughes had more trouble winning his fifth game against two losses. He singled in one run and scored another as the Cardinals piled up a 7-1 lead, but then gave up solo homers to Jerry May, Manny Mota and Willie Stargell and needed Joe Hoerner to get the last out

Santo connected for his ninth homer in the sixth inning off Don Drysdale, 5-6, breaking a 2-2 tie Jim Lefebrve had hit a two-run blast for the Dodgers, but it wasn't enough to prevent them from losing their eighth straight game

Chuvalo Duels Frazier July 19

Unbeaten Young Heavyweight Rules 8 to 5 Favorite

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Joe Frazier was made an early line 8-5 favorite over George Chuvalo today for their significant 12-round heavyweight fight at Madison Square Garden July 19.

The matchup of the heavyweight contenders figures to be a war as long as it lasts It pits a young puncher in the 23-year-old Frazier against an iron-jawed, body banger in the 29-year-old Canadian champion from Toronto.

"This fight is going to be so good, I'd like to sit back and watch it myself," said Chuvalo at a press luncheon when the fight was announced Tuesday

Frazier, the 1964 Olympic champion from Philadelphia, has a 16-0 record as a pro, including 14 knockouts Chuvalo, never stopped or floored, has a 46-13-2 record, including 39 knockouts.

The durable Canadian has won 11 straight by knockouts over mediocre opponents since he lost a 10-round decision to Argentina's Oscar Bonavena a year ago On March 29, 1966 he lost a 15-round decision to heavyweight champion Cassius Clay at Toronto.

Can Fight Back

Frazier has demonstrated he can punch and can fight back after being tagged. Bonavena floored him twice in the second round last Sept. 21 but the Philadelphian rallied to win a split decision.

The winner of the television fight will be in a key position for any possible elimination tournament although the Garden's Harry Markson said "we've carefully avoided labeling this as part of a tournament. We hope to match the winner against another outstanding heavyweight."

Label or not, the winner will have to be reckoned with in determining any successor to Clay-Muhammad Ali

Gopher Shortstop Signed by Giants, Sent to Decatur

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants said Tuesday they signed their No. 1 choice in the recent special major league draft—Bob Fenwick, 20, shortstop for the University of Minnesota.

Carl Hubbell, director of the Giants, farm system, said Fenwick was assigned to Decatur of the Class A Midwest League.

Fenwick, son of a missionary, was born in Okinawa. He previously was drafted by the Chicago White Sox but, unsigned, went into the special draft. He's a right-hander.

this losing streak but maybe we're making more errors. Our hitting has been as good if not better than last year but less timely.

"When we had men on base last year we came through with the big hit, we're not doing that this year. We keep outhitting the other teams but we keep losing," said Alston.

But Jim Gilliam, the player-coach who is now only a coach, provided some answers to Los Angeles' possibility of winning a pennant one year and finishing last the next.

"You talk about Koufax," said Gilliam, "No one man makes a ball club. In addition to Koufax we lost Maury Wills, Tommy Davis and myself. That's four veteran players. With Lou Johnson hurt, we're operating without five veterans.

"It all means that we have a lot of kids in the lineup and all the teams ahead of us are using veterans. It's okay to have two or three kids in the lineup with a lot of veterans but we're going with a couple of veterans and a lot of kids in the lineup. You don't win pennants that way," said Gilliam.

So far as the loss of Koufax is concerned, Gilliam admitted Sandy mighht win a few games for the Dodgers but he also said that the way things are going "Sandy would probably be losing 2-1 aand 1-0 games for us.

Hornung Has 'Clean Bill of Health'

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Paul Hornung, former Green Bay Packer great, said Tuesday night he hoped to be reunited with former Packer teammate Jim Taylor on the New Orleans Saints next fall.

Hornung, addressing a banquet for Charleston Rockets, Continental Football League, season ticket holders, said he wasn't sure of Taylor's status with either the Saints or the Packers, but "I'd love to see Jim in a New Orleans uniform."

Taylor played out his contract option with Green Bay last season and now is a free agent. There have been numerous unconfirmed reports that Taylor has already signed with the Saints.

Hornung said Taylor was a great fullback—"one of the greatest of all time"—and that he looked forward to playing with Taylor again.

He said their experience gained in playing 10 years together would help a new club like the Saints, which must overcome the handicap of having players from various clubs with different systems.

Hornung said he visited Taylor in Baton Rouge, La.—Taylor's home—but added that he couldn't say what Taylor's plans or intentions are.

"I know coach (Vince) Lombardi would want Jim back in Green Bay, and undoubtedly he would miss Taylor if he didn't return. But I sure would enjoy playing with him again," Hornung said.

Hornung said he was given a clean bill of health after a recent physical examination. He said the injuries which forced him to miss six or seven games at the end of last season weren't troubling him anymore.

"The doctor told me if I worked out three times a week, I should be in top physical shape by July," Hornung said.

Title Fight Postponed

Welterweight Bout Will be Put on, Even at a Loss

DALLAS (AP) — Promoters of the postponed world welterweight championship bout said today they were "going to put this fight on if we lose another $43,000."

The fight between champion Curtis Cokes of Dallas and undefeated Gypsy Joe Harris of Philadelphia was scheduled for June 27 at Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

Kenneth Hayles and Tommy Bullock said Tuesday the fight was postponed to July 24 after RKO canceled plans to televise it.

Last month the two Dallas promoters lost an estimated $40,000 in staging the Cokes-Francois Pavilla championship bout here.

Put Off Pact

Hayles said he thought he had a firm commitment with RKO but he said, "They kept putting off the actual signing of the contract."

He added, "It looks to me like they were trying to put the old squeeze on us. After the bath we took on the Cokes-Pavilla fight, I think they figured they could wait until this close to fight time and knock the TV out and we would get scared, cancel the fight and it could go to New Orleans or Miami.

Kaukauna '9' Triumphs Over Oconto Falls

Sturgeon Bay Tips Wrightstown in Legion League

Kaukauna and Sturgeon Bay both scored late in the game to capture Fox Valley Legion League victories over Oconto Falls and Wrightstown in the Northern Division Wednesday.

Consecutive singles by Tom VandeHey, Jim Vandenberg, Quinn VandenHeuvel and Kurt Luedke brought Kaukauna back from a 3-1 deficit to a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning against Oconto Falls. Catcher Mike Grogan then followed with an additional safety to bring in the winning and insurance runs for a 5-3 victory.

Oconto Falls snapped a 1-1 deadlock in the top of the eighth, chasing Kaukauna starter Tom Vils. John Jansen relieved Vils and put down the uprising to pick up the victory.

VandenHeuvel, Luedke and Grogan paced Kaukauna's 11-hit attack with two safeties each.

After Sturgeon Bay tallied single markers in the first and eighth innings, Wrightstown put together a walk, two singles, a hit batsmen and a wild pitch to knot the count in the ninth.

Sturgeon Bay pitcher John Berns then won his own game in the bottom of the inning as he led off with a single, stole second and third and raced home on a groundout for a 3-2 triumph

Berns struck out 10 and walked four in his route-going performance while Rod Van Dyk went the distance for the losers, fanning eight and walking one.

The County Forest Fight

The quarrel in Madison involving the respective rights of county boards and the State Conservation Commission about continued enrollment of county-owned lands in the county forest program may not be fully understood even by those who are concerned about natural resources issues in Wisconsin and aware of the vital importance of sound forestry to the whole Wisconsin conservation effort. It is a fairly complex issue, and some of the debate has been more concerned with name-calling and angry accusations than with the merits of the case.

The issue is whether county boards, consisting of elected officials charged with the management of county-owned lands, should be required to accept without recourse the veto of the Conservation Commission when they decide that changing circumstances have provided a higher and more productive potential use for forest lands entered under the cooperative forest crop law many years and even decades earlier. Until 1963 counties had the authority to make such decisions. In that year the legislature, at the initiative of the commission, rewrote the cooperative forest law in such a way that it provided more extensive state subsidies for the county forests and for local tax revenue replacement, but also provided that the Conservation Commission would have the exclusive control over the withdrawal of such lands from the forestry compact.

Now some of the county officials are sorry about their hasty acceptance of that bargain, and are complaining that the commission has been arbitrary and stubborn in refusing to permit the removal of lands when there is a good alternative use for them, such as irrigation farming in Juneau County.

It seems to us that there is something to be said for the positions of both of the disputants, but that both of them have also been guilty of extravagant overstatement. To say that the county boards of Wisconsin are less likely to withstand the overtures of land speculators and promoters than the Conservation Commission is a gratuitous insult to the integrity of representative government. To say that the Conservation Department is indifferent to the economic development needs of localities is equally indefensible.

The state officials involved in the argument have appeared unduly proprietary in their attitude toward a huge expanse of timberland which is the property of the counties, on the record. The county officials, conversely, have seemed to ignore the fact that the state officers are responsible to the taxpayers of the state as a whole, who have poured millions of dollars into the development and the protection of these forest holdings over a period of more than three decades.

We hold with Prof. Penn of the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture, who served with the committee that brought in the forest crop law revisions four years ago, that reasonable men should be able to reach a satisfactory compromise on an issue that is as clear as the one involved here — the highest and most beneficial use of land owned by the public. One course might be to have an objecting county appeal to the court for a review of the validity of the Conservation Commission's veto, which would provide an opportunity for testimony on the facts by soil scientists, rather than by bureaucrats and local politicians.

The Real Winners in the Derby

The 1967 Fox Cities Soap Box Derby was a success in more ways than one Sunday. It had a record 118 participants and a record crowd, estimated at more than 5,500 persons. The course used was smoother than in former years and much closer to the standards of the national Derby Downs in Akron, Ohio. The rains held off until the very end, enabling spectators to watch Paul Hesse win the championship and still not get drenched. But the real success has been an ongoing factor, an intangible not measured in statistics or pictured in a photograph.

The real success of the derby was summed up well by one speaker at the derby banquet when he said that he had not seen one evidence of poor sportsmanship during the entire day of the race. This is indicative of the building of character and perseverance which the derby encourages in its participants.

Some drivers spend as many as 1,000 hours on their cars, often starting on them during the fall. These vehicles are their own, and the dream of a trip to Akron looms high in the vision of many as they spend long hours after school and on weekends, when the other kids are playing. It takes determination and the cooperation of understanding parents to finish building one's racer. Some falter during the long winter months before the derby and never make it to the final frenzy of the week before the derby and Derby Day. But there are many more who do.

It is these who are to be saluted. Credit certainly is due to champion Dave Hesse for winning the race, a feeling emphasized by the applause he received from his peers Sunday night at the banquet. Credit also is due to the Jaycees, who spend many long hours in preparation for the derby and who can be overlooked easily when recognition is distributed. But a majority of the credit should go to those boys who didn't even win one race. It is such who are the answer to charges that today's youth is spoiled and delinquent.

It is true that much of today's vandalism is caused by persons under the age of 20. It is also true that such persons get their share of publicity. But it is not this small group which is representative of today's young people. It is rather youngsters like those who put in countless hours building a racer, have this effort wiped out in a few minutes and then have the character to take it like men and cheer the fellow who defeated them. They are the ones who make the Fox Cities Soap Box Derby a success.

War of Attrition?

Releases from Vietnam continue to emphasize that the Americans are killing a lot more of the enemy than we are taking in casualties ourselves.

Such figures are never completely accurate of course and it must be suspected that those put out by the South Vietnamese in particular are somewhat padded. Nevertheless, responsible observers agree that we are probably killing three or four Viet Cong or North Vietnamese for every American or South Vietnamese military man lost in battle. Officially the figure is claimed at 120,000 enemy troops but the number is more likely closer to 80,000.

So far there has been no trouble apparently in replacing the losses. The official estimate of enemy troops now fighting in South Vietnam has remained at between 280,000 to 290,000 for several months. Intelligence sources claim that the Viet Cong can recruit perhaps as many as 400,000 more because of the jungle areas under NLF control. And the forces from the North now in active combat are only 15 per cent of the North Vietnam troops available if the militia is taken into consideration. Also important in the fracas is the fact that the enemy has a higher percentage of the men in the area actually fighting. Less than a third of the American troops stationed in Vietnam are infantrymen because our system of warfare requires more backup forces in supply and other supporting roles.

The Viet Cong are reportedly defecting in much greater numbers than ever before. But so far there is no follow-up on what happens to them once they have been through a re-education program and turned out once more on their own. If they return to the old areas, still under Viet Cong control, they probably are being recruited once again.

The American casualties in battle now total more than 70,000 with more than 10,000 Americans killed. At the present rate, we will reach the Korean total of 39,000 killed in less than two years. Despite the higher rate for the enemy, they have the forces available to keep the war going a lot longer than that.

We have never agreed with the official Washington position that this war is to halt Communists before they invade California or even to keep them from taking over Southeast Asia. The United States made the error of confusing a nationalistic and Communist movement with an arm of a monolithic Communist giant. We are paying a mighty big price for the error and the cost is nowhere near totalled up.

Looking Backward

More on Late Gov. Henry Dodge

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 29, 1867.

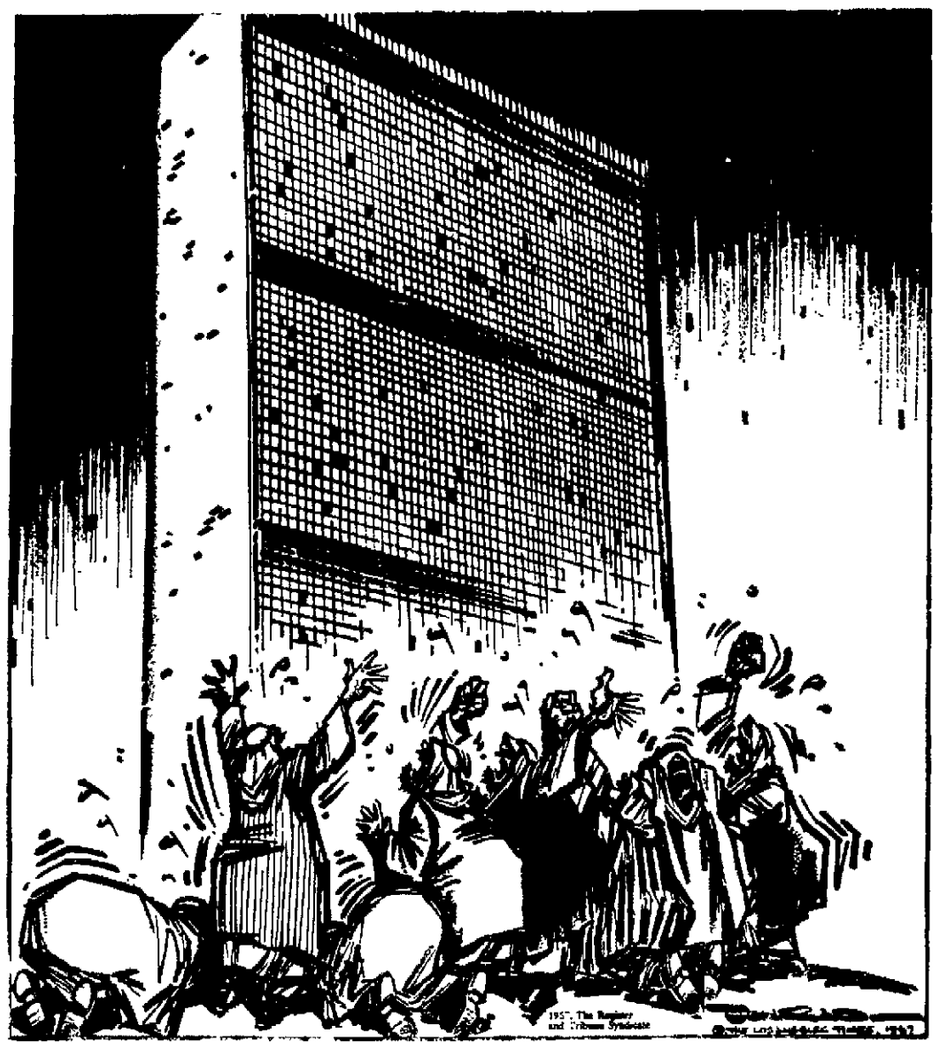
On the organization of Wisconsin as a separate territory, on the 30th of April, 1836, Gen. Jackson named Gen. Henry Dodge as the first governor, a position he filled until Oct. 1841, a period of between five and six years, when he was removed for political reasons by Gen. Harrison and superceded by Gov. James Duane Doty (of Green Bay and Menasha).

On the accession of President Polk, Gen. Dodge again was commissioned as governor of the Wisconsin Territory, on the 8th of April, 1845, and continued in that position until Nelson Dewey entered upon the duties of governor of the new state, in August, 1848.

Upon his removal from the office of governor in 1841, he was immediately elected a delegate to congress by the people of the territory; was re-elected to congress in September, 1843, and served in that capacity until his re-appointment as governor by President Polk.

He thus served the Territory uninterruptedly, as governor or delegate to Congress from the date of territorial organization until the admission of Wisconsin as a state — a period of 12 years.

But the public life of Henry Dodge was not to end here. Thought a man of positive character and unyielding determination, he was chosen by a large majority as one of the first representatives of the new state in the senate of the United States, and was re-elected at the expiration of his first term in January, 1851. He continued in the senate until 1857, when his extreme age and feeble health at that time, as well as the re olut on in



The Wailing Wall

Kraft Writes

There Is Little Usefull U.S. Can Do in Middle East Right Now

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — In rebuilding the Middle East, the first order of business is not "a peace of reconciliation," nor any of the other high-sounding themes dear to the capitals of the great world. The first order of business is a sorting out of political realities among the Arabs themselves.

A gale has swept across the world Familiar structures have been weakened, and unknown possibilities laid bare The general aspect is one of ruin and chaos — Troy after the seige. Still certain salient features are apparent.

Kraft

President Gamal Abdel Nasser, despite the rufusal of his resignation by the National Assembly, is in obvious difficulty. He had assigned to himself the role of messianic leader of an Arab revolution supposed to bring freedom, power and modern living to Islamic states ranging from the Arabian peninsula to the Atlantic. He has failed in that task.

Still Has Support

For the time being, perhaps, he retains the support of the Arab masses. I see no reason to doubt the reports of massive pro-Nasser demonstrations in Egypt and other Arab states.

On the contrary, the Arab masses are more than ever bitter and disappointed. More than ever they need an heroic figure on which to project their frenzy. If anything, the new monolatry of the Arab political desert is now heightened.

But Arab elites all over the world are a different story. They know who set them on the road to disaster. They know who collapsed under pressure. And they seem determined to assert the realities.

Thus Foreign Minister Adnan Pachachi of Iraq declared openly in the United Nations that the cease-fire accepted by Egypt was "an unconditional surrender." "Our greatest shock," a North African diplomat here said, "is what we discovered about Nasser. We discovered Nasser was not a Nasserite"

Dissatisfaction also seems to be working in Egypt, in the Egyptian army in fact. At first, in the inner councils of the regime, President Nasser and his great friend, Commander-in-Chief Abdel Hakim Amer, apparently argued against any precipitate acceptance of the cease-fire.

But the active service chiefs of the army, navy and air force insisted that Egypt was beaten and that Nasser and Amer had to accept the consequences. Their arguments apparently carried the day. Nasser and Amer accepted the cease-fire. Sensing that their power base in the army was on the wane, they resigned.

The popular deomonstrations have now restored Colonel Nasser. And he has reasserted his position in the army by forcing the resignations of the service chiefs. But among the younger army officers, among those who know how they were out-generaled and out-gunned, all is not well.

EGYPT—FIRST

They are apparently ready to abandon the dreams of Arab revolution in favor of building up their own country — an Egypt-first program. And as leader of that program they apparently can look to Vice President Zakaria Mohieddin, to whom Nasser tentatively ceded the presidency last week.

What will emerge from the interplay of these popular and elite pressures is not yet clear. Perhaps, Colonel Nasser will himself move toward a more moderate, pragmatic position He may yet be forced from power. In that case, there would surely develop a surge of intense left-wing feeling throughout the Arab world.

In any case, time is required for a sorting out of pressures. The more so as with time, the frenzy of the Arab masses can abate, making it possible for rulers to work out more moderate policies.

With so much so fluid, there is going to be mounting pressure on the United States to get in the game. The woods here are full of officials who are not above nibbling at Israel in order to patch up ties with the Arabs.

But in fact there is not much the United States can usefully do in the Middle East just now Anyone Washington lries to help will surely be hurt in the long run. The American interest is to stand aloof from the area itself, while working out with the Soviet Union the kind of understanding — particularly in limiting arms shipments — which can prevent the costly mistakes made in the past under the sign of cold war competition.

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, June 10, 1942.

Neenah High juniors to attend Bager Girls State that summer were Dorothy Ridgeway, Mary Heller, Mildred Elwers and Constance Jorgensen.

Louis Stefi, Marion, was elected president of the Waupaca County Rural Letter Carriers Association. Leonard Marcy, Manawa, was named vice president; Kenneth Darling, Clintonville, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woods, route 1, Appleton, 10 youngsters who lived in the immediate rural area formed a knitting group and met once a week to knit for the Red Cross. All of them learned to knit from Mrs. Woods and their yarn was purchased from money raised by selling waste paper they collected. The young knitters who already had finished one afghan and had started another were Peter Penterman, Dolores Rohloff, Ella and Ervin Ullman, Patsy and Thomas Woods, Catherine Conrad, Carolyn Tackman, Marian Fickel and Janet Breitrick.

Mrs. Clarence Kramlich was general chairman of the Appleton Centennial ball planned for June 29 at the Masonic Temple. Assisting her on the committee were Mrs. Alex Manier, Maurice C. Stack and Mrs. Marlyn Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Gardner, Appleton, were named historians at the Fockel family reunion at Linwood Park. Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Gardner, Seymour, were elected co-secretaries of the family group.

Five Appleton young women were June graduates of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Three received bachelor of science degrees in elementary education — the Misses Roberta Krueger, Carol Riesenweber and Donna Rehfeldt. Miss Helga Eggener received a bachelor of arts degree in education and Miss Dorothy Saiberlich, cited for scholastic achievement, also received a bachelor of arts degree in education.

Wisconsin Report

Measure to Outlaw Lobbying by State Agencies Sound One

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — To many a proud state officer and employe, the new bill to regulate and virtually to outlaw lobbying by state officers and employes is likely to appear harsh and a reversal of practice in Capitol politics.

Wyngaard

The new measure was brought in by the Committee on Review of Administrative Rules, doubtless as a reaction to the ill-fated experience of the Conservation Department in starting brush fires of political resistance to the Kellett reorganization bill which brought a formal condemnation of the department's activities by a special committee recently.

For all practical purposes, the bill would eliminate lobbying by public instrumentalities, in the sense that the word "lobbying" is usually understood. Violation of the bill, if it is enacted, would be punished under civil service procedures, in the case of persons employed in the classified service, or would be counted as misdemeanors for others, such as appointed members of boards or commissions and department heads.

THE REASONS OUTLINED

What the authors of this bill are saying, and there is very little doubt that they have the support of the leadership of the legislature, is that they are quite capable of handling their duties as representatives of the people without being pressured by public employes who are using public money to finance their lobbying designs.

Most independent students of the legislative process are likely to have a considerable sympathy for the proposal, harsh and punitive as it may seem.

For some of the tax financed agencies have become increasingly flagrant in their political activities. It would be a grievous mistake here to assume that the Conservation Department is the leading offender. There are others. It was the Conservation Department's fate to be apprehended, in a manner of speaking, in a particularly obvious and to many — offensive — campaign of artificial pressure upon the legislature.

Other and frequently lesser services have been as brash about their political enterprises. But because they have attracted less notice and have had less success, they have not been involved in the legislature's countermeasures. Yet everybody who has been watching or listening knows that there are half a dozen other agencies, at least, that have employed political measures to advance their interests, real or supposed, as desperately as have the members of the Conservation Commission and the subordinate officials of the conservation administration who are now the victims of the commission's intransigence.

NOT ALL ARE INVOLVED

It will be unfortunate, however, if the fact of introduction of this regulatory bill, or its eventual enactment, is construed by the public to mean that all agencies in Madison are offenders with respect to lobbying activity.

The new bill would require an agency head or a state employe who wants to communicate with the legislature to make a written request, whether the issue involves administrative organization, financing and appropriations, or any other matter.

Such an officer or employe could also respond to requests for information from a legislator, a committee, or the legislature as a body.

Otherwise he would be expected to mind his own business.

Thus the law would ratify what has been the practice of most of the department heads according to their own notions of good taste and behavior. To name a few, such department leaders as G. H. Bakke of the Highway Commission, Wilbur Schmidt of the Welfare Department, or Don McDowell of the Department of Agriculture are seen in legislative chambers only when they are expressly asked to come. Yet they would be the last to complain that the legislature is either hostile or egnorant.

Getting to the Top Is Very Boring Task

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Reading last month about the death of Mischa Elman, the noted violinist, I recalled the two summers that we were neighbors in Hollywood, more than a dozen years ago.

He and his family rented the villa next to mine at that fine old Garden of Allah (which also, alas, is now among the departed). The first morning he rented it, I was awakened at 8 by someone playing the scales on the violin.

Harris

Some child, I thought, being bullied by his mother to practice the fiddle at this ridiculously early hour on his vacation The scale-practicing continued for hours — and at noon, when we went out to the pool for lunch, I learned that it had been Mischa Elman.

He practiced every morning that summer, just as he had for more than 50 years, since his debut in Berlin at the age of 13. Nor was he rehearsing some difficult passage in Bach or Mozart; he was playing the scales, over and over again, as a beginner might.

That same summer, incidentally, Maxie Rosenbloom, the pug, was paying court to Gladys Parker, the cartoonist, who had the villa on the other side of mine. I mentioned to Masie one day that Elman practiced his scales every morning for four hours.

"That's 'cause he's a champ," Maxie said. "All the champs do that. Same thing in boxing. That Joe Louis would work for hours on a punching-bag or skipping rope, just like an unknown kid in some neighborhood gym. If you don't keep it up, pal, you fade fast."

And you will hear the same from actors, skiers, racing drivers, concert pianists — once they begin to slight the fundamentals, to think they are too "advanced" to practice the basics of their craft, they lose the intuitive coordination of mind and body that makes all the difference between greatness and mere proficiency.

"I didn't have the patience," Maxie confessed. "All those drills bored me. I wanted to live it up. Believe me, that attitude's ruined more fighters than anything else. They might have the physical equipment to be champs — but they just don't have the will power."

Cedric Hardwicke once told me that he practiced diction for an hour or two every morning after his coffee — Lear's limericks and the "Jabberwocky" poem being his favorites. "Modern actors," he said austerely, "can't be heard clearly because they don't practice."

Every art must be a bore before it becomes a delight — and it must keep on being a bore in private in order to remain a delight in public. bore in private in order to remain a delight in public. This is a lesson too few learn before it is too late.

Aaron Says His Hitting Style Is 'All Wrong'

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hank Aaron joined the select club of players to reach 2,500 hits but neither he nor the Atlanta Braves discovered the fact until some 24 hours after the slugging outfielder reached the coveted plateau.

The 6-foot, 180-pound Aaron collected a home run and single Monday night against the Philadelphia Phillies to join the 2,500-hit select circle, occupied by only 41 other batters.

"I didn't know how many I had," said Aaron when asked why he didn't mention it Monday night.

"We didn't realize it until we did a recheck," explained a Braves spokesman. He started the season with 2,434, and has 66 so far this season That's 2,500, even in the new math.

The spokesman explained the club statistician forgot to record an official scoring change that gave Aaron a hit and took away an error charged to Philadelphia's Rich Allen in the second game of an April 30 doubleheader at Atlanta.

Aaron accepted the latest honor of his 13-year career in the same stoic manner he reacts to all of his slugging accomplishments — 10 years a better than .300 hitter, five times a 40 or more home run producer.

He talked about his favorite subject — hitting, and almost floored his listeners with this gem — he's been doing it all wrong.

How wrong can you be to be so right?

Aaron explained that he has a hitch in his swing which prompted Manager Billy Hitchcock to suggest he teach the rest of the Braves the same hitch

"I wouldn't mind teaching hitting," said Aaron, "but I wouldn't teach anybody to do it my way. I've been dong it all wrong."

"I've got a hitch in my swing and I hit off the front foot. Now I wouldn't teach those things.

"The big thing in hitting," said Aaron, "is bat control. Stan Musial, for example hit off the front foot Like me, he was way out in front of the ball. But he kept the bat back until the last split second. You can commit your body, not the bat. That's your leverage"

Aaron said most good hitters have a hitch in their swing, naming the Phillies' Rich Allen and Willie Mays as "just a few."

"I'd try to help a young fellow with his own style, not mine," Aaron concluded.

Aaron didn't wait around admiring his 2,500th hit. He went right out Tuesday night and whacked No 2,501 and 2,502 enroute to the 3,000 plateau. His 2,502nd — a single — knocked in the only run as Atlanta beat the Phillies 1-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Phil Niekro.

He admits it would be nice placing his name alongside Ty Cobb, Musial, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Napoleon Lajoie, Paul Waner and Cap Anson — baseball's only members of the exclusive 3,000-hit group

2½ games with an eight-hitter for his fifth triumph in eight decisions. He lost his shutout in the ninth when an error set up a three-run pinch-hit homer by Art Shamsky.

Hughes had more trouble winning his fifth game against two losses. He singled in one run and scored another as the Cardinals piled up a 7-1 lead, but then gave up solo homers to Jerry May, Manny Mota and Willie Stargell and needed Joe Hoerner to get the last out.

Santo connected for his ninth homer in the sixth inning off Don Drysdale, 5-6, breaking a 2-2 tie Jim Lefebrve had hit a two-run blast for the Dodgers, but it wasn't enough to prevent them from losing their eighth straight game.

2-Man Best Ball Will be First FVGC Tourney

KAUKAUNA — Entries are being accepted for the first golf tournament of the season, a 2-man best ball, at Fox Valley Golf Club, deadline for registering is June 22, with play due to start June 25.

The tourney will be match play with a double elimination. Losers of the first round will compete in the consolation bracket. Finals will determine a championship team in each flight. It is hoped 64 teams will comprise the starting field.

Handling the affair will be Les Forde, Lorenz Mayer, Grover Patterson, Heinz Dankwardt and Arthur Mongin. First round matches should be completed by July 8, second round by July 22, third by Aug. 5, fourth by Aug. 19 and fifth by Sept 2 Finals are tentatively set for Sept. 10.

Chuvalo Duels Frazier July 19

Unbeaten Young Heavyweight Rules 8 to 5 Favorite

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Joe Frazier was made an early line 8-5 favorite over George Chuvalo today for their significant 12-round heavyweight fight at Madison Square Garden July 19.

The matchup of the heavyweight contenders figures to be a war as long as it lasts. It pits a young puncher in the 23-year-old Frazier against an iron-jawed, body banger in the 29-year-old Canadian champion from Toronto.

"This fight is going to be so good, I'd like to sit back and watch it myself," said Chuvalo at a press luncheon when the fight was announced Tuesday.

Frazier, the 1964 Olympic champion from Philadelphia, has a 16-0 record as a pro, including 14 knockouts. Chuvalo, never stopped or floored, has a 46-13-2 record, including 39 knockouts.

The durable Canadian has won 11 straight by knockouts over mediocre opponents since he lost a 10-round decision to Argentina's Oscar Bonavena a year ago. On March 29, 1966 he lost a 15-round decision to heavyweight champion Cassius Clay at Toronto.

Can Fight Back

Frazier has demonstrated he can punch and can fight back after being tagged. Bonavena floored him twice in the second round last Sept. 21 but the Philadelphian rallied to win a split decision.

The winner of the television fight will be in a key position for any possible elimination tournament although the Garden's Harry Markson said "we've carefully avoided labeling this as part of a tournament. We hope to match the winner against another outstanding heavyweight."

Label or not, the winner will have to be reckoned with in determining any successor to Clay-Muhammad Ali.

Gopher Shortstop Signed by Giants, Sent to Decatur

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants said Tuesday they signed their No. 1 choice in the recent special major league draft—Bob Fenwick, 20, shortstop for the University of Minnesota.

Carl Hubbell, director of the Giants, farm system, said Fenwick was assigned to Decatur of the Class A Midwest League.

Fenwick, son of a missionary, was born in Okinawa. He previously was drafted by the Chicago White Sox but, unsigned, went into the special draft. He's a right-hander.

Clintonville Gridder to Join Whitewater '11'

CLINTONVILLE — Tom Werner, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Werner, route 1, who attended Wisconsin State University at Whitewater last year, received a letter this week from Forest Perkins, head football coach at the University, inviting him to be member of the Whitewater Warhawks for the 1967 football season.

He plays on defense. A total of 137 futures tried out for positions on the team and only 60 were selected as prospective players.

Seeks to Explain 8-Loss Streak

'We're Operating Without 5 Veterans,' Says Junior Gilliam

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, plagued, belabored and bewildered, are in the midst of one of their longest losing streaks since the team moved from Brooklyn to Los Angeles.

Usually, the answer to the Dodger downfall has been the retirement of Sandy Koufax, baseball's supreme pitcher.

But the Dodgers have lost eight straight on the road—their longest on the road since the team moved to Los Angeles.

The loss of Koufax might mean the loss of a pennant but the Dodgers are now in the midst of looking toward a first division finish.

Manager Walt Alston, the dean of managers, has the usual innocuous answers to his team's downfall which finds the Dodgers in ninth place.

"Last year we'd lose a game 15-0 and make all our mistakes and errors in it then we'd win the next two by 2-1 and 1-0 scores. Now we seem to be spreading our mistakes around to include all games.

"I don't know the cause of this losing streak but maybe we're making more errors. Our hitting has been as good if not better than last year but less timely.

"When we had men on base last year we came through with the big hit, we're not doing that this year. We keep outhitting the other teams but we keep losing," said Alston.

But Jim Gilliam, the player-coach who is now only a coach, provided some answers to Los Angeles' possibility of winning a pennant one year and finishing last the next.

"You talk about Koufax," said Gilliam, "No one man makes a ball club. In addition to Koufax we lost Maury Wills, Tommy Davis and myself. That's four veteran players. With Lou Johnson hurt, we're operating without five veterans.

"It all means that we have a lot of kids in the lineup and all the teams ahead of us are using veterans. It's okay to have two or three kids in the lineup with a lot of veterans but we're going with a couple of veterans and a lot of kids in the lineup. You don't win pennants that way," said Gilliam.

So far as the loss of Koufax is concerned, Gilliam admitted Sandy mighht win a few games for the Dodgers but he also said that the way things are going "Sandy would probably be losing 2-1 aand 1-0 games for us.

Hornung Has 'Clean Bill of Health'

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Paul Hornung, former Green Bay Packer great, said Tuesday night he hoped to be reunited with former Packer teammate Jim Taylor on the New Orleans Saints next fall.

Hornung, addressing a banquet for Charleston Rockets, Continental Football League, season ticket holders, said he wasn't sure of Taylor's status with either the Saints or the Packers, but "I'd love to see Jim in a New Orleans uniform."

Taylor played out his contract option with Green Bay last season and now is a free agent. There have been numerous unconfirmed reports that Taylor has already signed with the Saints.

Hornung said Taylor was a great fullback—"one of the greatest of all time"—and that he looked forward to playing with Taylor again.

He said their experience gained in playing 10 years together would help a new club like the Saints, which must overcome the handicap of having players from various clubs with different systems.

Hornung said he visited Taylor in Baton Rouge, La.—Taylor's home—but added that he couldn't say what Taylor's plans or intentions are.

"I know coach (Vince) Lombardi would want Jim back in Green Bay, and undoubtedly he would miss Taylor if he didn't return. But I sure would enjoy playing with him again," Hornung said.

Hornung said he was given a clean bill of health after a recent physical examination. He said the injuries which forced him to miss six or seven games at the end of last season weren't troubling him anymore.

"The doctor told me if I worked out three times a week, I should be in top physical shape by July," Hornung said.

Title Fight Postponed

Welterweight Bout Will be Put on, Even at a Loss

DALLAS (AP) — Promoters of the postponed world welterweight championship bout said today they were "going to put this fight on if we lose another $43,000."

The fight between champion Curtis Cokes of Dallas and undefeated Gypsy Joe Harris of Philadelphia was scheduled for June 27 at Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

Kenneth Hayles and Tommy Bullock said Tuesday the fight was postponed to July 24 after RKO canceled plans to televise it.

Last month the two Dallas promoters lost an estimated $40,000 in staging the Cokes-Francois Pavilla championship bout here.

Put Off Pact

Hayles said he thought he had a firm commitment with RKO but he said, "They kept putting off the actual signing of the contract."

He added, "It looks to me like they were trying to put the old squeeze on us. After the bath we took on the Cokes-Pavilla fight, I think they figured they could wait until this close to fight time and knock the TV out and we would get scared, cancel the fight and it could go to New Orleans or Miami.

Kaukauna '9' Triumphs Over Oconto Falls

Sturgeon Bay Tips Wrightstown in Legion League

Kaukauna and Sturgeon Bay both scored late in the game to capture Fox Valley Legion League victories over Oconto Falls and Wrightstown in the Northern Division Wednesday.

Consecutive singles by Tom VandeHey, Jim Vandenberg, Quinn VandenHeuvel and Kurt Luedke brought Kaukauna back from a 3-1 deficit to a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning against Oconto Falls. Catcher Mike Grogan then followed with an additional safety to bring in the winning and insurance runs for a 5-3 victory.

Oconto Falls snapped a 1-1 deadlock in the top of the eighth, chasing Kaukauna starter Tom Vils. John Jansen relieved Vils and put down the uprising to pick up the victory.

VandenHeuvel, Luedke and Grogan paced Kaukauna's 11-hit attack with two safeties each.

After Sturgeon Bay tallied single markers in the first and eighth innings, Wrightstown put together a walk, two singles, a hit batsmen and a wild pitch to knot the count in the ninth.

Sturgeon Bay pitcher John Berns then won his own game in the bottom of the inning as he led off with a single, stole second and third and raced home on a groundout for a 3-2 triumph

Berns struck out 10 and walked four in his route-going performance while Rod Van Dyk went the distance for the losers, fanning eight and walking one.

USLTA Softens Stand Against Open Meets

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Lawn Tennis Association, long a foe of open tennis tournaments, has softened its stand—but are the professionals interested?

That is the big question as the USLTA directed its two voting delegates at the International Lawn Tennis Federation meeting in Luxembourg July 12 that they were free to vote as they wished on the touchy subject.

But sources close to the touring pro tennis players said they probably would not be interested in competing against amateurs unless the prizes were worthwhile. Pros and amateurs regularly compete in open golf tournaments, such as the United States Open, which starts Thursday at Baltusrol in New Jersey, or the Masters in Augusta, Ga.

Go 'Uninstructed

The USLTA held a special meeting here and voted by a substantial majority that Robert J. Kelleher, Beverly Hills, Calif., the president, and Lawrence Baker, New York, were to go "uninstructed" to Luxembourg.

"I have always been characterized as being for open tennis," said Kelleher. "I have always felt it would come some day. It was not a question of whether but of when.

"Mr. Baker would be characterized as not being for open tennis, but this year he has an open mind. We are going to do something for United States tennis."

England has already asked the ILTF for permission to stage one open tournament as an experiment and Australia has asked the ILTF to grant each member nation permission to stage one tournament.

Many tennis experts believe open tennis tournaments at famous arenas such as Forest Hills and Wimbledon would give the sport a tremendous shot in the arm, both in attendance and worldwide interest.

As in golf, prizes would go only to the professionals with the amateurs receiving trophies in event of victory.

ing to his fifth victory in eight decisions.

Hansen's homer capped a four-run rally in the sixth after Ken Berry extended his hitting streak to 17 games with a run-scoring single.

Tom Tresh slapped two singles and a double, driving in two runs to help the Yankees top Boston and snap a four-game losing streak. Steve Whitaker also had three hits for New York while Fred Talbot and reliever Dooley Womack checked the Red Sox.

Don Mincher drove in three runs with a double and single, Jimmie Hall hit a two-run homer and pinch hitter Bubba Morton stroked a two-run single in California's twilight victory over the Indians.

The Angels won the nightcap behind rookie Rick Clark, who ended a personal six-game losing string with relief help from Bill Kelso. Four Cleveland errors contributed to the Angels' seventh victory in their last eight starts.

Alcindor's Absence Hurt U. S. Cause in Meet, Says Coach

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — What happened that the United States, the cradle of the sports, failed to win the amateur World Basketball Championship again this year?

The absence of Lew Alcindor, the sophomore star of UCLA's unbeaten collegiate champions, and the lack of playing together as a team were cited today as the main reasons by Coach Hal Fischer of San Francisco.

Fischer was here as the U.S. team stopped off for several exhibition games enroute home from the tournament in Montevideo, Uruguay.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1 super-sophomore, led UCLA through an unbeaten 30-game schedule to the NCAA championship. Fischer said that the Amateur Athletic Union and the U.S. State Department tried to have Alcindor on the team, but to no avail.

"Nobody knows the reason," Fischer said. "The only thing we know is that Alcindor, the best basketball player in the United States, could not play with us."

Fischer praised the Soviet team as greatly improved in the last two years. "They are using a full court zone pressure defense," he said. "Playing together for a long time it is almost impossible not to improve," he added.

Fischer also praised the Yugoslavia and Brazil teams who beat the Americans in the final round-robin for the championship.

Fischer also cited his players' unfamiliarity with international rules coupled with "deplorable" officiating and the temperatures just above freezing in the concrete hall, known as the Cilindro, as other factors in the U. S. failure to win the title.

"I do not have any doubts about the integrity of the officials," Fischer said. "But their interpretations were wrong or at least out of line with what we are used to in the United States."

"I think the best advice I can give to the coach of the 1968 U. S. Olympic team to avoid another failure is to avoid a lack of time together," Fischer declared. He suggested the Olympic team play more teams under international rules.

So far, the United States has never been defeated in the Olympic basketball competition.

Big 10 Cage Star Agrees to ABA Contract

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Jim Dawson, the University of Illinois' captain and most valuable basketball player last season, today signed with the Indiana franchise of the new American Basketball Association at a press conference.

Dawson, who won the Chicago Tribune's annual award as the Big Ten's outstanding player, said he was "very happy and very optimistic about the team's future.

The 6-foot, 175-pound playmaker from Elmhurst, Ill., scored 97 points in 70 games at Illinois, averaging .438 from the field.

Mike Storen, the Indiana general manager, said Dawson typified the kind of player he wants, with "skill, leadership, desire and brains."

Arizona State, Stanford Gain NCAA Wins

Meet in Third Round Showdown; OSU Eliminated

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Arizona State's talented 50-game winners will challenge No. 1-rated Stanford tonight in a showdown of unbeaten teams in the 21st College Baseball World Series. It's far more than Arizona State Coach Bobby Winkles expected before this season.

"Back in March, I didn't think we'd get this far, but I thought Stanford might," said Winkles, who lost five players from his 1966 club to $165,000 in pro bonuses.

The winner of this big one at 8:30 p.m., CDT, will have the inside track to the NCAA crown and ASU's No. 3 pitcher looks a little better than Stanford's third man.

Winkles will use left-hander Jeff Pentland, who owns a good curve ball, a 14-5 record and a 1.88 earned run mark. Stanford will start Don Rose a sophomore right-hander 5-1 and 2.57.

Third Round

In the other third-round games, Houston will start Carroll Moore, 3-1, against Boston College's Bill O'Brien, 7-4, at 2 and Auburn will send George Simmons, 1-0, against Rider's Larry Mischik 7-2 and 1.47, at 6. The losers will be eliminated.

Rose will be the third consecutive outstanding sophomore starter for Dutch Fehring's 35-4 Stanford team in the tourney. But the key man so far is an almost forgotten senior, Daro Quiring, who stopped an Auburn rally in the sixth and saved Sandy Vance's 11th victory, 6-3. Mark Marquess belted a triple and two singles for Stanford.

Arizona State moved up with a three-hour 8-1 romp over Boston College as Tom Burgess pitched a four hitter and batted in three.

Completes Circuit

Houston's big Tom Paciorek has a homer, triple, double and single in two games. But the Houston singles hitters fueled a three-run ninth which eliminated Ohio State's defending champs 7-6. Ken Hebert tied it, beating out a grounder with the bases loaded, then G. J. Cantu's single won it.

Rider's Ron Mohr, 5-for-8 in two games, beat Oklahoma State 3-1 with a triple and double and threw a runner out at home. John Merten held the Big Eight champs to just four singles, making his record 9-1.

Benefit Donkey Baseball Tilt Re-set Thursday

LITTLE CHUTE — The Donkey Baseball game to help raise funds for the Little League and Babe Ruth League, originally scheduled Sunday night, has been rescheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Legion Ball Park.

The Businessmen's Mule Skinners and the Angels' Bronco Busters game will be preceded by a race between three local disc jockeys. Competing will be Bill Kiss, WAPL, Jim Choudoir of WHBY and Bob Rehling of WKAU.

Also scheduled will be a race between the "Masked Avenger" and the winner of the first race.

Palmer Rated Open Favorite

has played more—and better—this year than he has in many seasons. He has finished third in two tournaments and was among the top 10 at the Masters.

"If he wins here," said Palmer, "he's going to have to do some putting. The greens are big and fast. The tournament will be won by a man who can do some putting and who has patience.

"Sure, I want to win it. That business last year may have given me some incentive, maybe. I want to prove that I can win it."

The reference was to Palmer's collapse in last year's Open at San Francisco when Arnold led by seven strokes with nine holes to play. He blew the lead, fell into a tie and eventually lost a playoff to Casper—one of three Open playoff losses he has suffered in the last five years.

Casper, the one-time fat man who has trimmed down to 175 pounds, has been away from the tour for two weeks.

"It's just like it was last year," Casper said. "I took two weeks off then, too. Now I'm just trying to play my game into shape. I'm playing about as well as I did at this stage last year."

Boros, 47, is having one of his best years ever. He has won three tournaments this season, including last week's Buick Open. He is second to Palmer in the current money winnings with $83,790.

He said he doesn't have a chance—but he said it with a smile.

"I'm too old," said Boros—who already has disproved it once. He was the second oldest man to win it when he turned the trick in 1963.

LaCrosse Area Offers Boating Fun

By JAMES S. JENKS
La Crosse Tribune

LA CROSSE (AP) — There's hardly a boater in Wisconsin who is more than one half day's ride from La Crosse and the vast water playground, the Mississippi River.

And, the family that brings its boat here can visit marinas and parks in three states on the day of arrival. Or, the visitors can put in and cruise north to Minneapolis, 150 miles upriver, or south to St. Louis, Mo., about 500 miles, or beyond.

There is a public boat club, three large harbors and many launching sites here as well as two of the largest marine dealers in the midwest to service boats and engines.

Visitors coming to La Crosse on U.S. Highway 53 can put their boats into the Black River which flows into the Mississippi about a mile downstream. The ramp is next to the Clinton Street bridge a block off the highway.

Hauls His Boat

There is another public ramp at the municipal harbor on the Mississippi The harbor is just south of Houska Park on Isle la Plume Entrance to the park is at the foot of Market Street. Another fine launching ramp is located at the La Corsse Boat Club. To reach it, the motorist hauls his boat across the main channel bridge near the foot of Cass Street and drives to the entrance of Pettibone Park, one-half mile beyond the bridge. The boat club is reached by driving into the park and making a right turn at the bathhouse.

For an afternoon or full day on the water, there are dozens of large sandbars between the lock and dam at Dresbach, five miles above La Crosse, and the Genoa lock and dam, 25 miles down river. Within this 30-mile dam-made lake there are sloughs and quiet backwaters for fishing, gently sloping sandbars for water skiing, and quiet sandbars where one may picnic and explore, sometimes finding interesting pieces of driftwood

Many families spend an entire day on a sandbar, eating lunch and dinner there, relaxing in the sun, watching the big river towboats go by, swimming, skiing and helping youngsters build sand castles.

For those who wish to spend more time in the boat than on a river sandbar, there are short trips from La Crosse that can be easily made in one day

Winona, Minn., is 27 river miles upstream Passage through the two dams is simple and usually fast—about 20 minutes On the way to the harbors at Winona, the boater winds and bends his way through a marked channel and past majestic river bluffs He can stop for a picnic lunch on a sandbar or in Perrot Park, or he can wait until he arrives in Winona where there are marinas and parks

Downstream from La Crosse the river carries the boater between Wisconsin and Minnesota and then Wisconsin and Iowa. Twenty-seven miles and one dam from La Crosse is Blackhawk Memorial Park and a little place called Mick's Marina Gas, oil, refreshments, snacks and some groceries are available, and there is playground equipment

If you want to spend a couple of days or more on the river, you can go beyond Winona to Lake City, Minn., on big Lake Pepin, a bulge in the Mississippi River. Lake City is 75 miles from La Crosse. Watch the weather, though, because the lake can be dangerous on a windy day.

Boaters going downstream can stop at Prairie du Chien, about 60 miles from La Crosse, and visit historic Villa Louis and the medical museum ble among several Foxes in short right on a ball that seemingly should have been caught. Bob Brooks rapped the ball off Frailing's glove, and it bounced toward the shortstop, but Monty bobbled it.

Peter Koegel singled to right for the first run, and when Kusnyer fumbled the ball, Brooks continued to third, Juan Gomez' sacrifice fly scored what proved to be the decisive run.

The Foxes got their lone run in the fifth. Kusnyer walked. Lentine flied to right, and when Brooks tried to double the runner off first, he threw badly and Kusnyer went to third. Monty dropped the Foxes' first hit of the game in short center to score the run. Ortiz got the only other Foxes first-game hit, a leadoff single in the sixth.

Center fielder Ortiz, who was busy with eight put-outs in the 14 innings of play, made the play of the night in the third frame of the opener as he took a potential triple away from Fernandez with a long run and an acrobatic catch.

The Foxes got to southpaw John Shearer early in the second game, then rested their case Jeff Kolb drew a 1-out walk in the first frame, and May also got a pass Radmaker flied to center, but Kusnyer singled to right, scoring Kolb Runners moved to second and third on the throw Lentine cracked a hit to left, scoring May.

May pulled out of a 4-for-21 slump, that had dropped his league-leading average 33 points to 355, with 2-for-3 officially. In six trips during the doubleheader, he slashed two sharp singles and walked three times.

FOX TALES: Glen Miller, ...ite Sox farm director, took some time off from watching the action on the field to confer with Appleton pitcher Neil Weber and his parents. Weber was picked by the White Sox in the recent draft after having passed up a chance to sign with the Yankees two years ago in favor of attending the University of Minnesota . . . Bonus slugger Bob Spence was added to the Foxes roster and worked out here for the first time. Outfielder Karl Simon is another newcomer. Player-coach Deacon Jones will work intently with Spence, who hasn't had a chance to keep his batting eye sharp recently because of classroom work . . . Outfielders Tom Cottrell (a veteran of last year's Foxes championship team) and Chuck Hendricks have left the Foxes and have been released outright by the White Sox

Twins Add a Game to Their Lead in ML

Wisconsin Rapids' Twins swept a pair of 1-run games from Dubuque to increase their Midwest League lead to 2½ games as second-place Appleton split its twin bill with Burlington

The Twins had to go 10 innings to gain a 2-1 victory in the opener, then received a shutout performance from Barisoff to win the nightcap, 1-0.

Cedar Rapids held off a seventh inning rally by Quincy to win the first game of a doubleheader, then shut out the Cubs in the second tilt to complete a sweep.

The Quad Cities pushed across a run in the top of the 10th frame to edge Clinton, 5-4, and Decatur and Waterloo divided a doubleheader with the Hawks winning the first one, 6-3, and Decatur the second, 5-2, in the only other games.

In Order to Provide Authenticity to "Africa-Texas Style!," the movie currently playing at the Viking Theater in Appleton and the Raulf in Oshkosh, producer Ivan Tors insisted on capturing wild animals. Already tamed animals were offered, but refused. "Africa-Texas Style!," filmed entirely in Kenya, Africa, stars Hugh O'Brian, John Mills, Tom Nardini, Adrienne Corri and Ronald Howard.

Good Company Based On Successful Format

Show to Follow Late Ed Murrow's Popular 'Person to Person' Programs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When next season rolls around there will be the usual spotting of new Westerns, situation comedies, variety programs, action-adventure tales in the weekly television mix. But, Jon Aarons insists, there will be a one-of-a-kind in his "Good Company" on ABC.

Aarons, coproducer of Edward R. Murrow's old "Person-to-Person," is putting together many ingredients of the old show and adding some new elements. He hopes the basic recipe will work again.

At the moment, the set-up consists of Aarons, a staff of five, three mobile units and F. Lee Bailey, the young criminal lawyer who has exploded into the nation's headlines recently.

Bailey, shooting around in his private jet plane between courtroom appearances, will drop in on the famous, the interesting and the off-beat in their homes.

In the old days, before jet planes and television tape made it possible, Murrow was anchored in a New York studio and interviewed the subjects electronically in their homes. It was live, it was achieved with the help of big crews, fancy equipment and a lot of money.

"We hope to tape our shows Friday and run the shows the next Thursday — and leave all the fluffs in," Aarons said. "The perfection that television has achieved by cutting out anything untoward has resulted, I think in the loss of a lot of its charm and excitement."

"I remember some wonderful moments that would have been cut out of tape," he said. "Maybe they were not wonderful at the time. But there was Bert Lahr so nervous that he invited us to see the living room — and walked into a closet. There was the night Sid Caesar was so jittery he forgot his wife's name. And the time Mrs. Pat Weaver's zipper, on the back of her dress, broke and Pat put his arm around her waist, pulled the dress together — and neither realized they were standing in front of a mirror."

Aarons is working on his invitation list and already has acceptances from the acting Redgraves family and J. Paul Getty, the oil millionaire, plus other well-known people, whose names he prefers at this early stage to conceal.

"Some people are very cautious and want to see how the show goes before they are committed," he said. "Others see the show as an open invitation to burglars who can get a blue print of the house. Others are more daring and just decide it would be fun. "We won't be out to make news and Bailey will be a guest in the house, not a lawyer cross-examining a hostile witness. The show has only three elements — the people, their homes and Bailey."

Aarons believes that in recent years "television has lost one essential ingredient — intimacy." He hopes that "Good Company" may start people saying once again, "Hey, did you see that show last night.?"

Stevens Point Professor Named President of College in New York

STEVENS POINT (AP)—Kurt R. Schmeller, associate professor and assistant to the president of Wisconsin State University, Stevens Point, has been named president of Queensborough Community College of the New York City college system.

Schmeller, 30, would be the NYCC system's youngest college president. He begins duties at Queensborough Aug. 1.

A native of Johnson City, N.Y., Schmeller has been an associate professor of history at Stevens Point since 1962, and assistant to the president for more than two years.

General Asks More Marines to Guard Vietnamese Civilians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis W Walt, who commanded U.S. Marine forces in South Vietnam for two years, says more troops are needed to protect Vietnamese civilians.

Walt said Sunday that some 400,000 civilians in the northern part of South Vietnam are without protection.

The Communists are becoming "desperate and vicious" in their quest for victory, he told a news conference.

Walt, now Marine deputy chief of staff for manpower, was in Los Angeles to address a luncheon benefit for a Vietnamese orphanage.

Steve Allen Adds Light to Ho-Hum Night

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Steve Allen Comedy Hour bursts forth on an otherwise arrid evening of TV fare. The program, featuring Mrs. Allen (Jayne Meadows), Louis Nye and Ruth Buzzi, has the unique quality of being reminiscent of past Allen productions and yet is bright and new as well. One of the reasons for the latter is the inclusion of topical stars like Sonny and Cher, Lana Cantrell, comedian John Byner and Dayton Allen.

6:30-7 (Channels 11-6-9) — Batman whom The Joker calls The Caped Cabbage Head, celebrates its first anniversary with a leafy three-parter featuring Cesar Romero as the "Master of the Maudlin Mockery." This time he is dabbling in astrology, out to commit 12 crimes, one for each zodiac sign. (R)

* * *

6:30-8 (Channel 5) — There's a double nightmare connected with this Virginian episode. One is experienced by Stacy when he is shanghaied by an Army sergeant in as unrealistic a plot as you'll ever see. The other will be your experience when you watch Les Crane guesting as an Army captain. (R)

* * *

7-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — The Monroes features Dan Duryea in an interesting role. He plays a mountain man who comes down from the hills with the news that he has discovered a gold strike. Our little family of orphans (from whom Duryea has stolen deer meat) is excited and upset by the news. (R)

* * *

8-10 (Channels 11-6-9) — A tepid tale of Eastern intrigue is told on the Wednesday Night Movie starring Curt Jurgens, Orson Welles and Sylvia Syms in "Ferry to Hong Kong." Jurgens is a man-without - a-country, stuck on a boat moving from Macao to Hong Kong but unable to disembark at either port.

9-10 (Channels 4-5) — Linda Marsh, who once played Ophelia to Richard Burton's Hamlet on Broadway, turns up as Lisa, a mail order bride from Greece, on I Spy. In this adventure, she is drawn into a terrible misunderstanding: somebody has packed some microfilm in her luggage and it's up to Robert Culp and Bill Cosby to clear her as a spy.

Campers Litter Returned, C.O.D.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — A possible solution to litterbugs has been found by a city employe.

Recently, out of state visitors camped at nearby Lake Kickapoo and left trash scattered around their campsite.

The city employe got a visitors' home address by checking their license plate number. He gathered up all the trash, boxed it and mailed it to the people C.O.D.

The incident showed up in a monthly report of City Manager Jack Davis of Wichita Falls. He did not name the recipient of the trash.

Darboy Parish Sets Up 7-Man School Board

Consists of 5 Elected Lay Members Plus Pastor, Principal

DARBOY — A seven-member Board of Education has been set up for Holy Angel School, consisting of the Rev. Donald Schneider, pastor; the school principal and five laymen, in accordance with the regulations of the Green Bay diocesan superintendent of schools.

Elected to serve three-year terms were Franois Rooyakkers, Raymond Zuleger, Gerald Hietpas, Harry Stumpf and Mrs. Leo Rooyakkers. The first meeting is expected to be in July when the board will elect its chairman, secretary and treasurer.

According to its constitution and by-laws, the board's main function is to "assist the pastor and principal in the administration and policy-making areas of the parish school and religious education for other school pupils and adults." The board will set school policies in regard to lay teachers, students, extra-curricular activities, maintenance, materials, public relations and school budget.

Plans for formation of the board of education began when Father Schneider formed a steering committee of 20 parishioners. This group was divided into nominating, constitution and finance committees.

Denis Uitenbroek was chairman of the nominating committee which drew up the list of board candidates, conducted the June 4 election, registered voters and counted the votes.

Constitution committee members, under Francis Rooyakkers, drafted the constitution and by-laws which were approved by all members of the steering committee.

Finance committee members studied the financial situation and reported their findings to the parent committee. Leo Berg was chairman.

Computer Unit Will Serve in Northern Wisconsin

Bank Opens 'Satellite' Data Center in Appleton

The Marshall & Ilsley Bank (M&I) has opened a satellite data processing center here to serve its correspondent banks in the northern half of Wisconsin.

Known as the Appleton datacenter, the new facility began operations this week.

The datacenter is linked with M & I's Milwaukee center by a telecommunications system.

Process Checks

Computer services include daily processing of the checking accounts of a correspondent bank's customers, as well as handling of savings accounts and account reconciliation. A growing service is the electronic payroll, which the Appleton center will be able to provide for a bank or any of its commercial customers, just as the Milwaukee center is now doing.

Banks in the area served by the new computer have been transporting their daily work to the Milwaukee center for processing. The new center also will enable the bank to extend its computer services in northern Wisconsin to banks which couldn't feasibly use the Milwaukee facilities because of distance.

By the end of the year, about 22 banks will have been converted to the local center, which is housed in leased quarters at 2915 West College Avenue.

Correspondent banks have, in the past, sent their demand deposit data to the Milwaukee center by special carrier at the end of each business day. During the night, the Milwaukee center processed the data, and returned the up-to-the-minute records by carrier so they were immediately available when the banks opened the next morning.

These banks now send their records to Appleton instead of Milwaukee. At the local center, the information is read by a computer and transmitted to the Milwaukee computer center by telephone wire. The information is processed, and the updated account information is relayed back to Appleton where it's printed on a high speed printer. The updated records are then delivered to the banks involved.

Initially, M & I expects to process about 1.5 million items per month through the Appleton facility

Power Plant Meets Safety Standards

MANITOWOC (AP) — A nuclear power plant proposed for nearby Two Creeks met all standards of safety, examiners the Atomic Energy Commission were told Tuesday.

The Wisconsin Michigan Power Co of Milwaukee has applied to the AEC for permission to construct the nuclear power plant in the Town of Two Creeks some 13 miles north of Manitowoc. It would generate electrical power for portions of northeastern Wisconsin.

A public hearing on the application will be held June 28 in Manitowoc.

At a prehearing conference Tuesday company executives told the examiners that extensive precautions would be taken in design and construction to eliminate any danger of radiation.

Residents Asked to Hire Only Licensed Septic Tank Cleaner

MADISON — The annual influx of roving septic tank servicers begins shortly after the geese have flown north.

These itinerant sanitary operators usually appear in the state about this time each year, according to A. W. Tandy, supervisor of the sanitary licensing program for the Department of Resource Development.

Tandy advises owners of septic tank sewer systems to be wary of their offers to clean and service his installation.

Wisconsin has a strict sanitary licensing law which requires all operators to be licensed, inspected and bonded before they are allowed to perform services related to septic tanks, grease pits, seepage pits and privies.

Public Protection

This law is for the protection of public health in that it prescribes standards for servicing equipment, competence of the operator, and — most important — reg-lates the disposition of the wastes removed. Unscrupulous operators might empty their tanks in the nearest stream.

"Be alert and allow no one except a Wisconsin licensed and bonded operator to service your system," urges Tandy.

He points out that every such licensee must have "Wisconsin Sanitary Licensee License No. SY . . . ." painted on his vehicle.

The capacity of the tank must also be painted on the rear of the tank.

Charges for servicing septic tanks are not controlled by any regulatory agency, but Tandy offers this advice:

"A legitimate sanitary licensee will be happy to make you a firm quotation for servicing your septic tank. Establish the price before the work is begun."

Appleton Man New Principal At Chilton

CHILTON — John E. Herman of Appleton has been appointed principal of the Chilton Elementary School to succeed George Herrmann who resigned in May to accept a position with the Rehabilitation Division of the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

Herman received his bachelor's degree from University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1956 and his master's degree in administration and supervision from George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. in 1963. He has 10 years experience as a teacher in Wauwautosa and Appleton and has served as an assistant principal. He is 33 years of age, married and has two children.

Homecoming At Hortonville

30th Annual Event To Include Rides, Prizes, Stage Show

HORTONVILLE — The 30th annual homecoming will take place Saturday and Sunday in the Commercial Club Park.

Featured entertainment will included professional performers Larry Tobler, "King of the Banjo"; Bud Carlell, rope artist; the LeBrants, trick cyclists; the Bala-Band, with accordion players and acrobats, and the Dizzy Sizzlers.

In addition, there will be a concert on Saturday evening by the Hortonville High School band and a dance will be conducted both nights with music by a popular modern orchestra.

Parking and the admission to the grounds are free. A number of prizes will be given away.

The Christman rides and concessions will be featured on the midway, with rides at bargain prices on Saturday afternoon.

Milwaukee Bus Fare Increased One-Third

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee bus passengers will pay fare increases of up to 33⅓ per cent beginning at the first of next week, the Transport Co. announced Tuesday.

The increases have been authorized by the State Public Service Commission and reflect what the utility calls added costs under a new contract with drivers.

Adult fares, for example, will go up a nickel to 30 cents.

Calumet Girl Returned to State School

CHILTON—A 15-year old Calumet County girl who had run away from the Wisconsin School for Girls, Oregon, was taken back to the school Tuesday evening after cutting her wrists and being treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital.

The girl and two other 15-year-old girls from the county were released Tuesday to Calumet County Sheriff Irvin Vice by the Green Bay Police Department after they were apprehended while staying in an apartment in Green Bay.

The two girls were returned to their homes. The girl from the school was placed in custody at the Calumet County Jail. While at the jail, she cut her wrists with a broken lightbulb.

After treatment she was taken by authorities to the school.

Insurance Firm To Ask Okay on Share Dividend

CHICAGO — Shareholders of Combined Insurance Co. of America will be asked to approve a 20 per cent (one for five) share dividend to be distributed Sept 22 to holders of record Sept. 1.

Combined's board of directors has called a special shareholders meeting for July 27, to consider the proposal.

The company has declared a share dividend each year beginning in 1953 in addition to its regular cash dividends of 40 cents annually.

The board of directors also will seek authority of shareholders to issue 60,000 additional shares under the company's presently-existing qualified stock option plan for key personnel

The Combined group of companies includes First National Casualty Company, Fond du Lac.

NRA to Get More Free Army Ammo

House Approves $1.9 Million To Supply Rifle Association

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has okayed for another year the program under which the military gives free ammunition to the National Rifle Association—strongest of the groups trying to influence gun-control legislation.

A defense appropriations bill approved by the House Tuesday included $1.9 million to cover the cost of ammunition given by the Army's Division of Civilian Marksmanship—DCM—to 5,800 shooting clubs around the country.

These clubs all are affiliated with the NRA. An Army regulation permits only NRA members to get the ammunition.

NRA affiliates also are the only groups eligible for another DCM program under which military weapons are lent to civilian shooting clubs for practice and familiarization.

Numbers Uncertain

How much of NRA's membership of 823,000 can be attributed to the link with DCM no one can say but NRA mentions the arrangement frequently in its advertisements for new members.

The free ammunition and the lending of the guns are all part of long-standing Army policy. Men who learn about guns as civilians, the theory goes, make good marksmen when they go into uniform.

"These weapons and ammunition are used only for prescribed military courses of fire," NRA's public affairs director, John Hess, said. Every bullet fired is accounted for by NRA, he said.

Advisory Board

The advisory body that guides the DCM program, the National Board for Promotion of Rifle Practice, also has a strong NRA flavor. Its members include the president, executive vice president and four advisory council members of the NRA.

But the embrace is being loosened. An attempt is being made by Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor to get a broader range of viewpoints on the board

And the NRA's authority to be the only source nominating civilians to the board ended last year and these nominations now can come from a variety of sources, said the board's executive officer, Lt. Col. Joseph B. Berry.

Because of its strong opposition to some gun control bills Congress is considering. NRA is often accused of being the dominant force in a powerful national gun lobby.

Sen. Thomas J Dodd, D-Conn., author of one of the strictest gun control bills and a principal target for those opposed to strict controls, says the opposition is powerful but not centrally directed.

An aide to Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., sponsor of a bill less stringent than Dodd's, sees the people fighting the various legislative proposals as large in numbers but hardly a unified force.

"Compared with organized labor and the AMA," he said, "these people aren't even in the same league."

The Dodd bill would outlaw interstate mail-order sales of handguns— pistols and revolvers—to individuals, although a person could make a mail-order purchase by having his local dealer place the order for him.

The Johnson administration has offered an even tougher bill that would prevent mail-order sales of shotguns, rifles and handguns.

Hruska's bill places no restrictions on mail-order purchases of rifles and shotguns. It permits mail-order purchases of handguns after the notification and seven-day wait procedure.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., left, whose possible censure is under debate in the Senate, confers with Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., during a recess Tuesday. Long is leading the floor fight defending Dodd's use of testimonial funds. Dodd was expected to defend himself today. (AP Wirephoto)

Senator Speaks in Own Defense

Dodd Vehemently Denies Charges Of Travel Cost Misrepresentation

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON AP) —Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, opening his defense against proposed censure by his colleagues, hits hardest at the charge he bilked the government on travel expenses. But he says if he is judged a thief, he should be expelled from the Senate.

The white-haired Connecticut Democrat acknowledges that he used some campaign and testimonial funds for personal expenses—although not to the extent reported by the Senate ethics committee in recommending his censure.

The ethics committee, after a 14-month investigation, found Dodd billed both the Senate and private organizations for travel expenses on seven trips and also used political funds for his personal benefit.

Bookkeeping Errors

Dodd blamed the double-billing on bookkeeping errors and disclosed for the first time that he had sent a check for $1,763.96 to the Senate disbursing office "in full payment for the seven trips that were erroneously billed to the government."

Dodd's speech was released during debate Tuesday, but its delivery was delayed until today's Senate session after Sen. Russell B. Long—his lone announced defender—complained only 70 of the Senate's 100 members were present to hear it.

"We are sitting here as a jury," said Long, D-La., adding that only those senators who heard all the debate should vote on the censure resolution.

In his statement released to newsmen, Dodd said the ethics committee's charge that he had requested and accepted double reimbursement for travel could only mean he deliberately defrauded the government.

Senate Disrepute

The bipartisan ethics panel said Dodd should be censured for a course of conduct that "tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

Committee Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., bore down most heavily on the panel's finding that Dodd converted at least $116,083 in political funds to his personal benefit.

As a hush settled on the normally noisy Senate floor, and as Dodd's wife and other members of his family listened from the gallery, Stennis said: "There emerges an inescapable conviction that the senator from Connecticut deliberately set out on this course of conduct to convert to his own use funds over which he held only a trustee or fiduciary control."

As to the double billings, Stennis said he believed the testimony of Michael V. O'Hare, Dodd's former bookkeeper, who said the Connecticut senator instructed him to enter the dual travel charges.

Believe Bookkeeper

Stennis said he found O'Hare's testimony very convincing, but Dodd said there was no evidence to support O'Hare's accusation. He called O'Hare a faithless employe and said he could cite countless instances of O'Hare's "slovenly bookkeeping."

O'Hare is one of four former Dodd employes who removed some 4,000 documents from the senator's office and turned over copies to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson. Columns they subsequently wrote led to the committee's investigation

Long called O'Hare "a burglar, a thief and also a perjurer."

Dodd said the amounts involved in the double billings ranged from $24.53 to $402.92 and declared he could not conceive "of any public official jeopardizing his entire future by engaging in the kind of petty larceny that has been imputed to me."

"I myself had nothing to do with the so-called double billings," he said.

Irate Senator Asks Firing Of Official

Insurance Aide Had Called Bill Work of 'Stupid Politicians'

MADISON (AP) — An angry state senator demanded dismissal today of a civil service official who was quoted as saying charges against the automobile insurance industry had been voiced by "stupid political hacks" to lure votes.

Grant Miller, the assistant deputy commissioner of insurance, was quoted in a newspaper as airing the charge at a private insurance industry seminar in Milwaukee last Thursday.

"I think this man should be dismissed," Sen. Casimir Kendziorski, D-Milwaukee, said in a heated floor speech.

Kendziorski was a leader in Senate passage last week of a bill requiring a 30-day notice before lifting auto insurance coverage and permitting cancellation solely for reasons of race, religion, job or residence.

Demand Investigation

The Milwaukee lawmaker demanded "a hearing to investigate this slanderous remark against the Senate."

Sen. Gerald Lorge, R - Bear Creek, chairman of the Senate committee dealing with insurance, promised to summon Miller for questioning

The Milwaukee Sentinel last Friday quoted Miller as telling the seminar:

"I am frankly sick and tired of witnessing irresponsible and slanderous attacks on the industry by uninformed, irresponsible and stupid political hacks motivated out of a reprehensive desire to secure votes from an uninformed but alarmed public."

24,000 Miles Flown to Get Masters Degree

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One year and 24,000 miles ago Louis V. Erdle started work on his masters degree

Today he gets it, at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The key to his success, besides perseverance, is Erdle's light plane which he flew the 400 miles weekly to Los Angeles from his office at the Litton Scientific Support Laboratory at Ft. Ord, Calif.

Erdle, 42, says he may use his plane later to make it to classes for a doctorate.

FCC Doctrine For Broadcasting Constitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday that the fairness doctrine of the Federal Communications Commission does not violate the Constitution.

The doctrine was challenged by Red Lion Broadcasting Co., which operates radio station WGBC in Red Lion, Pa.

Under the doctrine, broadcasters are directed to give equal time to both sides when a station's facilities are used for discussion of controversial issues.

Senate Okays Presidential Primary Law

ident Hubert H. Humphrey waged a 1960 Wisconsin contest that thrust the Massachusetts senator toward the White House, the 1964 primary lacked any major convention contenders.

Knowles said Republican leaders tapped Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., to avoid a fight between Nelson Rockefeller and Barry Goldwater. He noted Democrats chose then Gov. John W. Reynolds as a standin for President Johnson so he wouldn't have to face Wallace.

"It was a rigged election," said Knowles. "There was no question about it. Is that what you call a meaningful choice?"

11-Man Committee

The bill, as it emerged from the Senate after two key changes, would create an 11-man bipartisan committee to identify realistic contenders for the presidential nomination.

A candidate ignored by the committee would need the signatures of about 16,880 voters—one per cent of the turnout in each of the 10 congressional districts in the last presidential election—to be listed on the ballot.

A contender chosen by the committee would have to swear under oath, without reservation, that he had no interest in running for the presidency that year in order to remove his name from the list.

There would be a blank on the ballot for a person to vote "no" if he liked none of the candidates listed. This could mean a test for President Johnson next year even if he should be the only Democrat on the ballot.

The proposal would require Wisconsin's delegates to a national convention to support the primary winner until he received less than one-third of the total votes or he released them from their pledge.

Although the legislature is driving toward a windup of its 1967 session within the next two weeks, the measure is ticketed for priority attention in the Assembly.

"I think we'll get action on it," said Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton

Somebody's Kinkajou Found in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Somebody's lost his kinkajou, but it is safe and sound.

The furry, 10-pound animal that resembles a raccoon was found wandering in the Brentwood area Tuesday. William Reppe, control officer at the animal shelter, said it obviously is a pet.

The kinkajou, pronounced king kuh joo, has a bear-like face and a tail like a monkey.

Cincinnati Struck By Negro Rioters

ing that all bars and taverns and "all other liquor establishments" had been ordered closed in a wide area of the northeast section of the city.

Relatively Quiet

Other than the two fires, police reported a relatively quiet morning. The Guardsmen—bayonets and machine guns ready—and police continued patrolling the streets.

The city's second straight night of violence occurred in predominantly Negro areas as much as six miles apart.

Police said more than 20 persons were arrested, 22 injured — including three policemen and four firemen — and untold damage done Tuesday night.

As the violence continued into pre-dawn hours, police had gained control of the Avondale area, where the trouble started Monday and Tuesday nights.

Moving about in autos and in gangs on foot, the rioters swept into outlying areas.

Guardsmen moved into the riot areas after midnight on orders of Gov. James A. Rhodes. Mayor Walton S. Bachrach appealed to Rhodes Tuesday night when the situation worsened.

Fixed Bayonets

Helmeted troopers from the 1st Battalion, 147th Infantry Regiment, carried fixed bayonets. Machine guns were mounted on Jeeps.

The Guardsmen, under command of Maj. Gen. Erwin C. Hostetler, adjutant general, were from the Cincinnati area.

Another 1,100 Ohio Guardsmen were available in the area

Police had been geared for a second night of trouble. It mushroomed quickly into guerrilla-like tactics.

Fires erupted in many parts of the city. Police said some were set by Negroes hurling fire bombs from cars. Many false alarms were turned in. Firemen ware stoned when they answered the calls.

Negro, White Mothers Ask For Solitude

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A Negro and a white mother asked outsiders Tuesday to let them live in peace and to stay out of their neighborhood.

Mrs. Loring Cooper and Mrs. Gilbert Percifield appeared at a press conference at a church following a weekend meeting which had been called in an attempt to reduce tension in the near Northwest Side neighborhood—scene of unrest for five nights last week.

The mothers said there was no feud between the families but neither would say there was not a feud between some members of each family.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ben Wiener said authorities will take necessary steps to keep people from other sections away from the neighborhood.

The Rev. Lovell Johnson, pastor of St Mark's African Methodist Episcopal Church, said "It appears that in this case, outside influence wanted trouble in the area."

Humphrey Ready For Normal Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey planned to resume normal duties today, including a probable Cabinet meeting, one day after leaving Bethesda Naval Hospital, where he underwent surgery Saturday.

Humphrey said he would leave later in the day for a rest at his home in Waverly, Minn.

He said he felt fine but "not as peppy as I did before."

2,000 Textbooks Gathered at UW For Saigon School

MADISON (AP) — University of Wisconsin students have gathered nearly 2,000 textbooks to donate to the library of Van Hanh Buddhist University in Saigon, South Vietnam.

The 73 cartons of books will be sent this summer by the Asian Foundation to the newest of the five Vietnamese universities which has sent several students to Madison. The school gave the university's Memorial Library 130 volumes last year.

The texts were collected from local bookstores and UW students by members of the campus Methodist Community center and the Indian studies department.

Van Hanh was founded in 1964 as the first Buddhist university in South Vietnam. It has 700 students. At present, its only books are those donated by the monks.

Senate Gives Blessing to Primary Law

Presidential Candidates Would Be Put on Ballot Automatically

MADISON (AP)—An expanded presidential primary likely to add California Gov. Ronald Reagan to the Romney-Nixon showdown already taking shape in Wisconsin has been approved 28-5 by the State Senate.

The measure, forwarded to the Assembly, would list all national contenders in each party on its primary ballot unless a person regarded as a candidate swore he had no interest in the nomination.

"Wisconsin will be the first meaningful primary in the nation," said Sen. Robert P. Knowles, R-New Richmond.

Michigan Gov. George W. Romney and former Vive President Richard M. Nixon already are moving toward a crucial duel in Wisconsin's Republican primary next April 2.

Knowles predicted Reagan and possibly Illinois Sen. Charles Percy would be added to the GOP battle.

Spotlight on State

"In 1968 the national spotlight will be focused on Wisconsin," Knowles said

He pointed out the Wisconsin primary is preceded only by the New Hampshire contest. Only Oregon and Kansas, with later election dates, now have all-inclusive races, Knowles said.

Romney, although an unannounced candidate, hit the campaign trail in three Wisconsin cities last weekend. Both he and Nixon have high-level campaign committees promoting their efforts.

Reagan, however, has been attracting support among several key leaders of Wisconsin's Republican Party. He will address a $100 a plate fund-raising dinner in Milwaukee Sept. 30.

Sen. Knowles quoted Reagan as saying he would have to leave his name on the Wisconin ballot in any open primary to be consistent since he plans to be a "favorite son" candidate in California.

Kennedy to Withdraw

President Lyndon B. Johnson was the only Democratic entry anticipated, with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., announcing he would withdraw from any primary and former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace considering a third-party candidacy.

Knowles, the ranking Republican in the State Senate, said the changes in the primary would eliminate marginal candidates in Wisconsin.

Kennedys' Vacation Not In Solitude

WATERFORD, Ireland (AP) — Twenty-five Irish policewomen will work in three shifts to protect Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children around the clock from curious Irishmen and newsmen during her vacation here.

Waterford's County Council has begun putting up 30 no-parking signs around the 241 acres of woods and lawns surrounding Woodston House, the 40-room Regency mansion where the Kennedys will stay.

Mrs. Kennedy with 9-year-old Caroline and 6-year-old John is to arrive at Shannon Airport on Irish Airlines Thursday morning. They will travel the 85 miles from Shannon to Waterford by car.

From Woodston House on clear nights the Kennedys should be able to see New Ross, the County Wexford town from which President Kennedy's ancestors emigrated to America.

Seventy-one reporters, photographers, radio and television personnel are already at Waterford's Tower Hotel.

Tampa Simmers, But Rioting Hits Cincinnati

Florida Has Only Sporadic Outbursts

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Roaming Negro youths, ignoring pleas for peace, set 15 fires, looted stores and wandered aimlessly in small groups Tuesday night as National Guard troops and police reinforcements sat idle in a nearby armory.

Authorities reported at least 21 arrests, all made by what police called "routine patrols."

Tuesday's troubles were slight compared with the wild rioting of Sunday and Monday nights when police and rioters exchanged gunfire, stores were burned and looted and at least 20 persons were injured.

Sheriff Malcolm Beard, heading a combined force of 1,000 heavily armed men, pulled the riot squads from the rubble-strewn streets in a surprise move at dusk Tuesday after Negro leaders promised publicly there would be no trouble.

Fire alarms, most of them between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m., sent firemen racing to burning stores, a warehouse and a lumber yard.

"They were mostly fire bombs and building fires," said an emergency dispatcher, "all apparently riot-connected."

The killing of a Negro youth by a white policeman—the incident that triggered Tampa's first major race riots—was ruled justifiable homicide today by State Atty. Paul Antinori.

Negro leaders had predicted that such a decision would lead to renewed violence in the city, and Tampa's NAACP president, Robert Gilder, was asked immediately afterward about his own plans.

"My plans are to go pray," Gilder replied. "And I definitely suggest that the whole of Tampa do the same."

News that Patrolman James R. Calvert had shot Martin Chambers, 19, in the back flashed through Negro neighborhoods Sunday night, triggering three nights of shooting, burning and looting.

Antinori said that Chambers had committed burglary and grand larceny, was running from police and was about to escape when Calvert shot him.

"Under the facts, circumstances, evidence and law of the State of Florida." Antinori said, "the death of Martin Chambers must be ruled justifiable homicide."

Gilder told newsmen there were "serious questions in my mind" about the decision.

Antinori said his investigation considered only the question of whether the shooting as described under oath by Calvert and witnesses, including the dead youth's 14-year-old brother, was manslaughter or justifiable homicide.

Police Patrol Capt. G. E. Blackshear said police were not prepared to send their reserves home "until we're sure it's over. The people of Tampa are going to be protected."

He said he believed the sheriff's truce had calmed the rioters some by removing the target of most of their wrath—the overt show of police power.

"We are showing we have faith in the Negro leaders being able to show their people what damage they are doing to their community," Blackshear said.

Blackshear said Tuesday night's trouble showed "no indication of any leadership or coordination."

Beard said he told Gov. Claude Kirk of his decision to pull the Guardsmen off the streets. Kirk did not object.

A warehouse was the first big blaze Tuesday night. Then firemen raced to a liquor store called "Bop City" where they were jeered by Negroes as they fought the flames.

$1 Million Damage in Ohio City

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police-backed by National Guardsmen carrying bayoneted rifles—restored an uneasy order in Cincinnati Negro neighborhoods today after hit-and-run gangs caused more than $1 million damages in two nights of rioting.

Two major fires earlier burned an estimated $800,000 at a warehouse and laundry. Gangs of Negro youths struck in widely spread communities—looting, setting fires, harassing police and firemen.

City officials have not been able to pinpoint the cause of the rioting.

Shortly before order was restored, Police Chief Jacob Schott said "huge bands of marauders" were hitting in almost every direction in predominately Negro areas.

Mayor Walton Bachrach said a restive peace returned to riot areas early today.

Damage Unknown

Damages to stores, autos and anything rioters could destroy will not be totaled for weeks, police said.

As Guardsmen blocked off the area, fire destroyed the block-long Modern Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co. building in the Walnut Hills section. Police said a gasoline bomb apparently started the blaze.

Fire also demolished the Seybold Paper Co. warehouse.

Firemen responded to about 100 fires during the night, and at most of them the firefighters were pelted with stones. But guardsmen kept spectators and others at a distance to give firemen a free hand in fighting the laundry blaze.

Police announced this morn-

U.S.-U.S.S.R. Nuclear Pact Is Predicted

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Russia today was reported ready to join the United States in moves for speedier international action to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk advised fellow foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the Russians have agreed in recent days to the presentation of a jointly-drafted but incomplete treaty of nonproliferation to the Geneva Disarmament conference.

The American-Soviet draft that is being prepared to go before the 17-nation Geneva conference would contain a blank Article 3, dealing with the sort of controls and safeguards needed to insure that signatory countries do not cheat.

Previously the world's three leading nuclear powers—the United States, Russia and Britain—were against the presentation of an incompleted draft treaty in Geneva fearing this would only make final agreement more difficult to achieve.

Soviet Union Calls for Meeting

Kosygin Might Attend U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union pressed today for an emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly to take action against Israel amid speculation that Premier Alexei N. Kosygin might attend.

The Security Council was scheduled to meet today on a Soviet resolution calling for Israel to withdraw immediately from the territory it seized in its blitz war against Egypt, Jordan and Syria. Council delegates believed the resolution would get only four of the nine votes needed for adoption, clearing the way for action on the Soviet request for the assembly to meet.

Expected to Agree

Following defeat of the Soviet resolution, Secretary-General U. Thant would poll the 122 U.N. members by telegram, and the necessary majority of 62 countries was expected to agree to the emergency session. Thant then was likely to call the session on 24 hours' notice.

Speculation that the Soviet premier would attend stemmed from a letter from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to Thant Tuesday saying "leading statesmen of the Soviet Union" would attend.

Soviet and other Communist sources at the United Nations said they did not know to whom Gromyko was referring, and Soviet spokesmen in Moscow refused to comment on the speculation about Kosygin. The Soviets obtained a permit to land a special plane in New York about Thursday but postponed the flight, apparently awaiting the scheduling of the assembly session. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow said the Soviet government had not requested any visas for the flight.

Should Kosygin come to New York, many other heads of government and possibly even President Johnson were expected to attend the session.

The feeling was widespread among Arab delegations that the Russians were promoting the assembly session primarily to divert attention from their failure to help the Arabs in the war.

Gromyko's letter said that despite the Security Council's three cease-fire resolutions. Israel had "seized further territories" from Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

The letter called for "the convening of an emergency special session of the United Nations General Assembly within 24 hours" to demand "the immediate withdrawal of Israel forces behind the armistice lines" fixed at the end of the 1949 Arab-Israeli war. While Gromyko did not say so, his letter indicated that he was acting under the assembly's 1950 "uniting for peace" resolution, which was adopted to circumvent the Soviet veto in the council. The Soviet Union has always called it illegal.

The Soviet resolution before the Security Council "vigorously condemns" Israel's "aggressive activities and continued occupation" of part of Egypt, Syria and Jordan and "demands that Israel should immediately and unconditionally" withdraw her troops behind the armistice lines.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told the council at a meeting Tuesday the resolution was "a prescription for renewed hostilities." He said it would "let everything go back to exactly where it was before the fighting began on June 5," with the Gulf of Aqaba again blockaded and Arab and Israeli forces once more "in direct confrontation."

He urged that the council encourage "the warring parties to live together in peace" by adopting a U.S. resolution calling for them to negotiate withdrawal of troops, renunciation of force, maintenance of vital international rights and establishment of a durable peace in the Middle East.

Youth Says He Threw Match

19 Hurt in N.Y. Gasoline Blast

NEW YORK (AP) — A teenager was arrested today in the blast Tuesday night in which 19 persons were burned, seven critically, when a match was tossed at gasoline dripping from a taxicab in the Bronx.

The seven critical were all teen-agers and children.

Charged with arson in the resulting taxicab garage fire was Manuel Soltero, 18.

A fire department spokesman said Soltero's cousin, Ann, and her four-year-old son, Paul, were injured in the fire.

Detectives quoted Soltero as saying, "I didn't think it would do that much damage. I'm terribly sorry."

Police said the young man came here from Puerto Rico only a few months ago.

Doctors performed at least four emergency skin graft operations while detectives questioned the less seriously injured in their search for the arsonist.

The victims of the fire and explosion were playing outside a taxicab garage in the Bronx when driver James Paul said he saw a youth about 17 "deliberately throw a match" into gas spilling from the ruptured tank of a cab pulling into the garage.

Then, "like a flash," he said, the auto exploded.

"We were about 40 feet from the garage when I saw this wall of flame coming out of it and enveloping people," said Fire Lt. Salvatore Patrissi whose station is located in the next block. "Kids on fire were running in every direction."

Firemen and police chased the children as they ran aimlessy and with their hair aflame, to throw coats, blankets or whatever they could find on them to smother the flames.

Mariner 5, Venus 4 On 4-Month Jaunts

U. S. Launches Ship Toward Distant Planet

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Mariner 5 spacecraft raced a heavier Soviet probe toward Venus today to penetrate with electronic fingers the planet's mysterious veil of clouds and help scientists see if Venus is a fit place to live.

The 540-pound Mariner 5, less than one-quarter the weight of the Soviet Union's Venus 4 craft launched two days earlier, rocketed from Cape Kennedy at 2:01 a.m. EDT today on the first U.S. venture to Venus since 1962 and this nation's first planetary probe in more than 2½ years.

Mariner's fiery Atlas-Agena booster rocket threaded an imaginary needle in space to send the windmill-shaped spacecraft toward its distant target 212 million miles away.

"We are going precisely where we expected to go," project officials reported after tracking the spacecraft for several hours.

"Spacecraft performance also appears to be very good," said Allen E. Wolfe, Mariner 5 system manager for the Jet Propolusion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., which oversees the Mariner 5 project

Wolfe said experiments to study radiation in interplanetary space were turned on and the craft's four power-producing solar panels deployed. Guidance sensors aboard the $35-million Mariner 5 locked onto the sun for orientation as planned.

During a brief 26-minute encounter Oct 19 when Mariner 5 is to pass within 2,000 miles of Venus, electronic fingers of high-frequency radio signals were to penetrate through dense Venusian clouds to study radiation levels and atmospheric temperatures, pressure and density.

These findings would be important to scientists trying to deduce whether Venus can support life.

No camera was aboard because of a weight limitation.

FFA Elects Area Teens to State Offices

Boys From Seymour Chilton, Chaplain; First Vice President

GREEN LAKE — Two Fox Valley area boys were elected to offices at the state Future Farmers of America (FFA) convention Tuesday.

Ronald Hillmann, Chilton, was voted in as first vice president and James Krahn, Seymour, as chaplain. Ronald Schwenck, New Holstein, was one of four sectional winners in the star farmer competition.

Name Star

The Wisconsin Star Farmer award was won by Gary Suvada, 18, Colfax.

FFA officials said Suvada has been operating his own farm with brothers David, 22, and Richard, 21, since he was 15.

Elect Others

Other officers elected Tuesday were Aaron Digman, Monroe; Steven Miner, Pittsville; Dale Moths, Kewaskum, and Robert Harnish, Bloomer, vice presidents;

Ronald Dieter, Cuba City, secretary; Dale Onchuck, Phillips, treasurer; Carl Volven, Viroqua, reporter, and Robert Grabarski, Adams, sentinel.

Other section winners in star farmer competion were Robert Rademacher, DeForest; Rodney Dix, Granton, and Thomas Holt, Baraboo.

Four Injured In Accident

Car, Truck Collide At State 22-54 Near Waupaca

WAUPACA — Three Oneida residents and a rural Waupaca man were injured about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in a car-truck crash one mile west of here at the intersection of State 22 and 54.

Admitted to Waupaca Riverside Hospital were Arlene Denny, 20, Oneida, suffering from mouth, head and right elbow injuries, and Esuart Pope, 67, route 3, Waupaca, who suffered bruises and a head laceration.

Treated and released were Mrs. Diane B. Funmaker, Oneida, driver of the car, who sufferer mouth and chest bruises, and Audrey D. Funmaker, 6, who received mouth cuts.

Both were admitted to the hospital and are reported in satisfactory condition.

According to county police, Earl Potter, 70, route 3, Waupaca, driver of the pickup truck was traveling west on State 54 and made a left turn onto State 22 and was struck broad-side by the Funmaker car which was east bound on State 54.

Both vehicles were demolished in the crash.

Two other Funmaker children, Kevin, 4, and Kary, 3, along with another adult passenger escaped injury in the crash. Potter also escaped injury.

Rescue Unit Aids Man In Clintonville Tuesday

CLINTONVILLE — The volunteer rescue squad was called about 3:45 a.m. Tuesday to give assistance to a Fond du Lac man who had stopped to rest in the parking lot at the rear of the Zephyr Service Station on S. Main Street and later appeared to have difficulty breathing.

Floyd Dowland came to the station about midnight and was hauling a trailer behind his car.

High School to Present Band Concert at Hilbert

HILBERT — The high school band will present the first band concert of the season at 7 p.m. Thursday at Civic Park.

The park board, headed by Arthur Boettcher and Willard Franz, will sponsor the event.

Funds will go for park expansion, and bratwurst, hamburgers and other refreshments will be available at the park.

$175,000 Sewage Plant

New London Bond Issue Sold to Milwaukee Firm

NEW LONDON — Robert W. Baird and Co., Milwaukee, was the successful bidder Tuesday for a $175,000 general obligation bond for sewage plant addition construction.

Eight investment and financial institutions submitted bids which were sold by the city under the advisement of S. W. Krostue, city attorney.

15-Year Issue

The successful bid on the 15-year bond issue quoted a average rate of 3.836 per cent. Net interest will be $61,210. New London National Bank was high bidder.

Krostue termed the bids most competitive and thanked bidders for the interest shown in the sale of the bonds.

Work on the sewage addition is expected to begin after July 1. Bahr Construction Co., Manitowoc, and Boehm Electric, Neenah, were successful low bidders for the work. However, the city is waiting for confirmation by the State Department of Resource Development and Federal Water Pollution Control Administration before contracts are signed.

Issue Licenses

In other business at the special council meeting, the issuance of 17 Class B-combination, two Class B-beer, three Class A-combination, and one Class A-liquor licenses were approved.

The council authorized the clerk to issue nine bartender's licenses, and a pharmacist's license.

Approval was given for blacktopping the west end of the road in Floral Hills Cemetery.

New Organ to Be Dedicated

Special Service of Sacred Music for Embarrass Church

EMBARRASS — The Zion Lutheran church will hold a special dedication of the new Baldwin electronic organ at an 8 p.m. Sunday service.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Zimdars are the major contributors to the new organ. Memorial gifts for the late Rev. Walter List, August Schmidt and others have been placed into the organ fund over the past several years.

H. A. Handrich, Shawano, will present special organ music based on the theme of the Christian church year for the dedication service. Special choral music will be provided by the Zion church choir. The Rite of Dedication will be conducted by the Rev. Edgar E. Barg, pastor of the congregation.

The Zion Ladies Aid will serve a luncheon after the service. The public has been invited to attend.

The new organ features two complete 61-note manuals, a 32-note pedalboard, a comprehensive selection of voices, three presets, and a chorus control. Completely self-contained, the organ is equipped with a three channel amplification system. All four basic tonal families are represented in the broad selection of 30 independent stops. In addition, two pedal couplers and a manual coupler provide further tonal flexibility.

Class of '32 Plans New London Reunion

Reservations are to be made with William J. Sohrweide, 408 N. Water St., by July 1.

King Expansion Given Preliminary Approval

State Building Commission Okays Plans For New Central Maintenance Facility

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Continued enlargement and improvement of the Grand Army Home for Veterans at King was endorsed in a preliminary way by the state building commission with the approval of plans for a new central maintenance building and the acquisition of additional land for residential quarters.

The home is a state-operated facility for Wisconsin war veterans and their dependents.

The plan for a $500,000 central maintenance services building resulted from the approval of the Veterans Administration in Washington of a 47 per cent federal grant for the construction during the next two years of a second major nursing care building at the institution.

That structure will require razing several of the existing maintenance shops and the truck garage, officials explained.

A price estimate on the new nursing care facility has not yet been presented.

The land acquisition will provide a site for 12 duplex cottages for residents. Approval had previously been given in the new biennial state building program at a cost of about $75,000.

After years of inattention, the state government has recently poured large sums into the reconstruction of the veterans' home facilities.

Chilton Man Escapes Injury in Truck Mishap East of State 55

CHILTON — Peter G. Wolf, 52, 110 Chestnut St., escaped injury about 6 p.m., Monday when the 1964 truck he was driving was involved in an accident a half mile east of State 55 on County Trunk F.

Wolf told Calumet police he was traveling west during the heavy rain when his truck slid on the curve to the shoulder and rolled over in the ditch.

Damage was to both sides and the front end of the truck.

For Respirator

Clintonville Hospital Receives $350 Donation From Marion

CLINTONVILLE — A donation of $350 has been received from the Marion Community Chest for a respirator at the Clintonville Community hospital, R. J. Platte, hospital administrator, announced Monday night at the meeting of the hospital auxiliary.

The annual children's party for the five-year-olds, which is set for July 27, was discussed. The hospital records show a total of 278 babies born in 1962. Mrs. D. M. Russell will be in charge of invitations. Complete details will be given at the July 10 auxiliary meeting.

It was announced that new drapery material has arrived and more draperies will be cut and ready for sewing within a short time. A group of homemakers will make the tray favors for July 4 and Labor Day. Mrs. Lowell Velte, auxiliary president, made tray favors for today in observance of Flag Day.

Following the business meeting, the members sewed and stuffed toys for the Children's Treasure Chest.

Supervisors' Tempers Flare Over Old Airport Rezoning

Debate Sparked by County Board Unit's Agreement With Appleton For Change to Heavy Industry Use

Tempers flared Tuesday afternoon when Outagamie County Board supervisors were asked to approve the rezoning of the old airport property to heavy industrial.

The land, which is still owned by the county, is now located within Appleton's city limits.

The city's plan commission and commerce and industrial development committee have recommended that the land be zoned for heavy industry.

The county board's public property and insurance committee met recently with the city commerce and industrial development committee and the two groups reached an agreement, in principle, on land-use zoning.

Spark Debate

Tuesday's debate was sparked by the public property and insurance committee's resolution which amounted to a county endorsement of the city's expressed intentions.

After the heated discussion, the resolution was referred to the county zoning committee (which has no authority over land within the city) and the public property and insurance committee, for further study.

After hearing some supervisors say that the city probably can rezone the land with or without the county's blessing, Seymour Supv. Marvin Babbitt said the county hasn't determined yet how the land will be sold.

"If the City of Appleton wants this land zoned for heavy industry, they should buy it," Babbitt said.

Public property and insurance committee chairman, Walter Fredericks, New London, said his committee was advised by Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath and Appleton City Atty. David Geenen that the city has a right to zone the land any way it wants, but deferred any action "because they want us to go along.

Zone Heavy

"We agreed," Fredericks said, "that it should be zoned for heavy industry. If it was zoned residential, it would have to stay there; if it was zoned for heavy industry, it can always go up. You can't come down with land use, but you can always go up."

Some county supervisors feel the county could realize a greater profit on the sale of the old airport land if it was sold as residential lots.

"Maybe Appleton has the power to zone that land any way it wants," Babbitt said, "but in my heart I don't think aldermen want to zone this property against our will.

"If they go ahead and rezone it," Babbitt said angrily, "they'll find out what will happen to College Avenue. They're always asking us to cooperate with them. If they don't cooperate with us this time, the county board won't take it."

Make Request

Appleton has made an official request to the county board for $100,000 to help cover the cost of reconstructing College Avenue. It passed last week's city council meeting in resolution form, but never got before the county board Tuesday. College Avenue is on the federal aid secondary system (FAS) for which the county receives monies for maintenance and improvements. The College Avenue project is costing the city $800,000.

Coroner Says Court Rulings Will Affect Future Inquests

Cleveland Doctor Is Keynoter At State Meeting in Appleton

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Dr. S. R. Gerber, coroner of one of Ohio's largest counties, said during an interview Monday afternoon that he foresees Supreme Court decisions in the near future that will affect the methods by which a coroner's inquest will be conducted.

Dr. Gerber, principal speaker at the Wisconsin Coroners Association annual seminar here, shied from direct questioning, and did not speculate on what specific laws he envisioned, but he did indicate that decisions, should they come, will affect the lines of questioning during inquests.

Inquests Informal

Traditionally, coroner's inquests in Wisconsin have been largely informal, with questioning done by the coroner and the district attorney. The defendant has the right to an attorney at the inquest, and does not have to testify.

An inquest is held to determine if there is basis for a charge or charges arising out of a death — such as a traffic death.

Dr. Gerber, one of the prime investigators in the Cleveland murder in which Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was charged, said recent Supreme Court decisions, as they relate to law enforcement, have made his job as Cuyahoga County, Ohio, coroner more difficult, especially as they relate to questioning of subjects in death cases.

Sees Survival

In spite of repeated efforts to abolish the office of coroner in Wisconsin, Dr. Gerber, past president of the National Association of Coroners, said he sees the office surviving, but was quick to explain that coroners must do a "public relations job" to show the public they are doing a good job. "They have to get to the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions," Dr. Gerber said during the interview that followed his address.

He suggested the state could assist by giving the coroners "the personnel and the money" they need to do a good job. During his talk he told about 45 coroners that "the coroners of Wisconsin have done a surprisingly good job of operating their offices." He said there is a general deficiency in laws, funds, and professional assistance to coroners.

Require Degree

Dr. Gerber, long-time coroner in a county that includes 1,700,000 persons and encompasses the City of Cleveland, said in Ohio the coroner must be a medical doctor. But, in reply to a question during the interview he said, "Just because you're a physician doesn't mean you'll do a good job." Although he suggested the state might need some further requirements for coroner candidates, he did not believe the doctor qualification "necessarily" should be one of them.

He said every county should have something resembling a county morgue, with a complete complement of related facilities and a staff of qualified personnel. He said he is opposed to taking a body to a funeral home or hospital for examination by the coroner. The matter of a county morgue has come up in the past in Outagamie County.

Dr. Gerber also endorsed the Board Okays July Meeting For Evening

In a complete reversal of form from last month, Outagamie County supervisors voted Tuesday afternoon to hold July's county board meeting at night.

The vote, on a motion by Appleton Supv. Allen Bubolz, was 30 to 14. A similar motion was defeated during the May meeting on a 21 to 20 vote.

Of the 21 city of Appleton supervisors, 19 voted for holding the July 11 meeting at 7 p.m. Arthur Hoolihan and Theodore Jens were the only city supervisors opposing the motion.

Other "no" votes came from Supvs. Marvin Babbitt, Seymour; Henry Breiting, rural New London; Joseph De Bruin, Buchanan; Emil Diestler, Hortonville; Walter Fredericks, New London; I. A. Grunwaldt, Black Creek; Theodore Kemps, Kimberly; Paul Kostka, Little Chute; George Kroes, Vandenbroek; Emmett Root, Ellington; Bernard Tillman, Grand Chute, and Joseph Weyers, Freedom.

Supervisors Balk at Paying Insurance Firm

Company Wants $4,654 for Claims Paid on Old Contract or It Will Increase Rates

Outagamie County supervisors refused Monday to authorize a $4,654 payment to North American Insurance Co. to keep the county's present health and hospitalization insurance rates in effect.

Instead, the board laid the matter over and awaited advice by Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath this afternoon on what the insurance companies' legal responsibilities are on "carry-overs" beyond policy lapsation dates.

The county took out its policy with North American on Jan. 1, 1966 after receiving bids from several insurance firms. It was learned after the new policy went into effect that there was no clause in the contract with the old carrier, Time Insurance Co., to provide payment for pregnancies which occurred in 1965, or payments for policy-holders who were hospitalized on Dec. 31.

The clause is regarded as standard in health and hospitalization policies, but no one had checked to see if there was such a "carry-over" clause in the Time contract.

New Carrier

The county board's public property and insurance committee entered into an agreement with North American, the new carrier, for the insurance firm to pay the carry-over claims which amounted to $4,654.

However, Appleton Supv. Arthur Hoolihan, a member of the insurance committee, said there was an agreement that if North American's underwriting costs were excessive, the county would have to pay the $4,654.

North American said there has to be a 14 per cent difference between premiums and the liabilities. However, policy claims came to 89 per cent of the premium total, leaving only an 11 per cent difference. The insurance company says 11 per cent is insufficient to meet its underwriting costs.

Retroactive Increase

Without the payment, the insurance company said it would put in a 21 per cent rate increase retroactive to May 1. The increase would cost the county over $7,000. With the payment, the company said present rates would be maintained until Jan. 1, 1968, and the county would receive notification on Sept. 1 on what rates would be for 1968.

Several supervisors questioned whether an insurance company could raise rates before a policy's anniversary date occurs. The insurance committee and the county's insurance adviser, Arthur Coffey, were criticized for not seeing to it that there was a carry-over clause in the old contract.

"Nobody, not even the insurance companies, noticed it," Hoolihan said. He added that there is such a clause in the county's present insurance contract.

Appleton Supv. Allen Bubolz introduced the motion to lay the matter over and to have Ponath search Wisconsin statutes to find out who is liable to make the payment.

Bubolz suggested that the Insurance Arbitration Committee, which meets monthly in Milwaukee, could be asked to settle the dispute.

$50,500 for Training School

Brillion Accepts Project Bid

BRILLION — A $50,500 bid by Michael Wallander, Inc., Manitowoc, for general construction of the Brillion Cooperative Training Project building has been accepted by the board of education.

Contracts for ventilation, electrical and plumbing work will be awarded at the July 10 meeting. Initial plans have been approved by the industrial commission and work on the site preparation will begin soon.

Steel Structure

The near-10,000 square foot expandable steel structure will be built on a site donated by Mel Koch, president of Rent-A-Truck, Inc. The building is being financed by donations of $50,000 from the Brillion Foundation, Inc. and $25,000 from Ariens Foundation, Limited.

One 27 foot square classroom and the other 27 by 40 feet, an office, display and exhibit space will be included in the shop area for foundry, machine shop, power mechanics and welding instruction.

Construction of the gray-steel, white-trimmed building is expected to be completed by August 28 when students from Reedsville, Stockbridge, Little Chute and Brillion will be enrolled in the second year of classes at the state's first cooperative venture of this type.

The school, geared to train non-college bound, or post-high - school-vocational-school bound students, has been housed in the Ariens Company's downtown plant this past year. Expansion plans by the firm made it necessary for the training project to find new quarters.

Berner-Shober and Kilp, Green Bay, is the architectural and engineering firm for the project.

Rural Iola Girl Injured in Crash

WAUPACA — A three-year-old rural Iola girl suffered a cut knee when the car in which she was riding struck the rear of another car at 11:10 a.m. Tuesday, four miles north of Iola on State 49.

Connie S. Abrahamson, 3, was injured in a car driven by her mother Mrs. Darlene M. Abrahamson, 22, route 1, Iola.

County police said the Abrahamson car struck the rear of a car being driven by Pamela F. Mork, 17, 137 Main St., Iola. The Mork car was slowing down for a truck which had been stopped on the shoulder of the road, police said. Extensive damage was caused to the rear of the Mork car. Abrahamson's car was listed as demolished.

Brillion Moves to Stop Cycling Disturbance; Annexation Discussed

Area Southwest of City Limits Given 'Top Priority' by Planners

BRILLION — City officials were authorized by the council Monday night to draw up an ordinance to control noisy motorcycling.

The action resulted from recent complaints by residents about early morning noise from motorcycling on city streets, which in turn caused Police Chief Rueben Huntington to request establishing an ordinance which will help control the cyclists.

Several Main Street residents told council members that the noise has been annoying "for some time," but that a disturbance from 2 to 5 a.m. Saturday was a "constant roar."

Huntington said the cyclists responsible for the noise Saturday were part of a group from the southern part of the state and not local riders.

The ordinance and resolutions committee was authorized to work with the police chief and the police commission to draw up a motorcycling ordinance.

Patrol Has Outing

Huntington reported that 72 members of the school safety patrol and 11 chaperons attended a recent outing at Wisconsin Dells.

Building Inspector Elnor Wenzel's recommendation that the electrician or owner of a building under construction furnish an affidavit covering liability on temporary wiring installations was approved.

A request by Gaylord Unbehaun for sidewalk construction on the Parkway Drive and Horn Street sides of his property was granted. Sidewalks also will be constructed on the west side of Parkway Drive without a public hearing if property owners there submit individual written approval.

Bids will be opened at 8 p.m. July 10 on a water main installation on National Ave. A five-cent per hour raise for seven city employees was authorized, as a result of requests by Director of Public Works Glen Campbell.

On recommendation of the finance committee, 10 Class B beer and liquor licenses for city taverns were approved. A license for Krizenesky's Bar was withheld until the proprietor appears before the council to air accusations he allegedly made against police commission and council policies regarding tavern regulations.

Beer Licenses Approved

All other beer, liquor and soda water licenses were approved

Bids on appraisals for insurance on the city hall, library, fire station, water towers, pump stations, city garage, disposal plant and park buildings will be studied by the finance committee A recommendation is expected at the next council session

The "action plan" phase of the new comprehensive plan as presented by Candeub, Fleissig and Associates last week was accepted. An area southwest of the city limits was named "top priority" in a five-phase annexation plan outlined in the report. A group of property owners from that area attending Monday's council session interested in annexation procedures was told that the direct method is most effective. Publication of intent to petition is necessary.

The petition is then circulated in the area and must be signed by the majority of the electors and one-half of the owners of the land area or one-half of the owners of the total assessed valuation.

Asks Length of Time

One resident asked how long it would take before city water and sewage facilities would be available. The annexation procedure could take up to 90 days and engineering work and the awarding of contracts for installations would follow.

Actual installations would begin as soon as the designated contractor was available. Current average assessments for sewer, water, curb and gutter and sidewalks were discussed.

Soil suitability maps included in Candeub, Fleissig and Associates' recent report clearly indicate that land surrounding the city is not conducive to septic tank sewage facilities.

Water well problems, inadequate sewage facilities, a chance for fairer tax assessments and assured land control uses have been cited by residents in the 25-home area who are in favor of annexation.

Persons opposed to annexation are fearful of higher taxes and loss of country living. Some have said the initial substantial assessments for sewers, water mains, curbs, gutters and sidewalks would surpass their capabilities to pay. Continued loss of town property to the city means higher taxes for those who remain as town residents, another adds.

Equipment Transferred

On recommendation of the governing board of the city's Vocational and Adult Education School, $3,300 worth of equipment will be transferred to the Brillion Jt. School District by July 1 when the local school becomes a member of District 12 Area Vocational Technical School.

Merlin Wieting received permission to hook up a 400-foot lateral pipe to the city's sanitary sewer on National Ave. The facility will service his duplex in the city limits.

A special council meeting will be called within the next two weeks to discuss Elm and Tesch street development, the site for a recreation building, a flood-plain ordinance, urban renewal, flood control and the Spring Creek cleaning project

In other action, the council approved a meeting of the affairs committee on the cleaning of Spring Creek with abutting property owners

'Turn Key' Operation Studied at New London

Housing Authority Seeks Firm to Oversee Construction of 120-Unit Development

NEW LONDON — The housing authority is to investigate three architectural firms on their feelings toward a "turn-key" agreement in developing a 120-unit low rental housing development for the city.

"Turn-key" is an operation where the authority contracts with an outside firm to prepare plans, handle paperwork and oversee construction of a development and then turn the operation over to the authority when the doors are ready to be opened.

Firms to be contacted are Edgar A. Stubenrauch and Associates, Sheboygan, Hackner, Schroeder and Associates, La-Crosse, and Schutte, Phillips, Mochon, Appleton.

The other alternative open to the authority is the hiring of an architectural firm and doing its own supervising and contracting.

Applications, registration forms and papers certifying formation of the local authority were received from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The papers will be filed with the federal agency in making application for federal funds.

Wallace Gruening was elected vice chairman of the authority to replace the Rev. Wesley L. Sharpe who resigned the authority after being reassigned to a church in Union Grove.

Green Lake Convention

FFA's Top Award Set For 3 Chilton Students

CHILTON — Three boys from the high school's Future Farmers Association (FFA) Chapter will receive the Wisconsin Farmer Degree at the State FFA Convention at Green Lake. Degree ceremonies will be conducted at the American Baptist Assembly.

The degree is the highest that the Wisconsin association can award. It indicates a high degree of proficiency by the individual in his experience program, scholastics and leadership.

Based on membership, the Chilton chapter was entitled to three applicants all of whom were accepted by the association.

Strong Leader

Daniel Klessig, son of Mr. and Mrs Edgar Klessig, had specialized in hog enterprise and other livestock He was especially strong in all forms of leadership within the school, chapter and community, school authorities said. He was an honor student and was selected the class co-valedictorian.

Robert Lee Heller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Heller. He specialized in a program of dairy, crops aad livestock

Ronald Hillman, son of Mr. Ronald Hillmann, son of Mr receive his degree as a high school junior. Hillmann's program includes dairy cattle, crops, and 80 acres of rented crop land. He is active in many school activities FFA and church groups are included in his leadership activities. He is an honor student.

Office Candidate

Hillmann will seek a state office in the Wisconsin Association while at the convention.

Elimination for candidates will be by test, oral interview and presentation of the candidate himself before the delegate assembly. Dennie Lisowe and Dan Klessig are delegates from the Chilton chapter.

The Chilton chapter has received a first place award for proficiency in the study of careers. The chapter carried on a very extensive study on careers which included research, community resource people and college days. The chapter participated in operation "contact" in which a traveling group from the University of Wisconsin gave a program to enlighten people on careers in agriculture and home economics.

The chapter has been notified that it is rated superior in the National Chapter Award contest. This rating is judged on the chapter's overall activities and work during the course of the year. Having been rated superior, the chapter will then become eligible to submit its application to the National Association for rating Chapters there are rated bronze, silver and gold. The Chilton chapter was rated bronze in 1958.

New Lighting Approved at New London

Junior High School To Get Vapor Lights; Budget Reviewed

NEW LONDON — Mercury vapor outdoor lighting for Washington Junior High School was approved Monday by the board of education.

Estimated cost of installing six lights around the school is $1,040. The money will be included in the 1967-68 budget which will be presented to the public at 7:30 p.m. July 10.

The new lighting system will replace an incandescent lamp system which has been maintained by the city for many years.

The board finished its review of a proposed administrative budget. A final draft of the proposed budget for the coming school year is being prepared by the administration.

New London National Bank was approved as agent for the payroll checking account for a two-year period. The bank will begin as the agent July 15.

Authorization was given to solicit quotations on fleet insurance for the coming school year. Quotations will be opened at the July 10 meeting.

Patricia Richards, Goodman, was hired as an elementary teacher.

Conference Delegates

DALE — The Rev. Robert Pike and John Much Sr. are delegates from the Zion United Church of Christ at the Wisconsin Conference meeting at Lawrence University today and Thursday.

Registration Scheduled for Hilbert Recreation Program

HILBERT — Registration blanks for the area's six-week recreation program, which will get underway Monday, are now available.

Forms can be secured at Hilbert State Bank, Potter Meat Market and Loehr's General Store, St. John. Forms also will be printed in the local newspaper.

A $2 fee must accompany the completed form. Families with more than two youngsters participating will pay $2 for the first two and $1 for all others. An additional swimming fee will be charged.

Children are asked to state activities preferred when registering to help determine the equipment needed. John McNaughton Sr. will be in charge of the recreation activities.

The program is planned from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Swimming at the Chilton pool will be on Monday afternoons. In the event of rain activities will be in the high school gym. There also will be several field trips.

All youngsters seven to 16 years of age living in the Hilbert School district are eligible to participate.

Rain Mars Schedule

Loop Leaders Retain BABA Division Spots

Weyauwega, Clintonville and Shawano remained unbeaten over the weekend to pace division standings in the Badger Amateur Baseball Association (BABA).

Weyauwega upped its mark to 4-0 in the south-central division by bombing Symco, 12-5, in a contest highlighted by six home runs. Joe Crossman got a grand slam for Weyauwega in the first inning. Rick Birkholtz blasted a three-run shot and Greg Hildebrand hit a two-run homer for the winners.

Mike Brown homered twice and Danny Nelson once for Symco. Mike Flanagan had three hits for the losers. Gary Crossman was the winning pitcher. Dan Steinbach took the loss.

Retain First

Clintonville, also 4-0, held on to first place in the western circuit with a 6-2 win over Tigerton Saturday night. Jim Norder, who allowed four hits and fanned 11, was the winner. He was relieved in the seventh inning by Dave Bohman, who struck out five. Allen Anderson was the loser.

Shawano continued to lead the eastern loop with a 3-0 record as Sunday's game against Gresham was rained out. Almond, which was idle Sunday, leads the northern division with a 3-1 mark.

In other south-central games, Waupaca blanked New London, 3-0. Gary Potts and Rick Riddle combined for a three-hit shutout. Karl Kalbus was the losing hurler.

Dave Peterson banged a two-run homer for Waupaca.

The Scandinavia edged Rosholt, 1-0, in a scoreless tilt until the bottom of the eight inning when pinch hitter Dave Nelson singled, was sacrificed to second, took third on an infield out and scored on Jim Thullen's base hit.

Paul Nelson was the winning pitcher on a three-hitter. Dave Richter, who gave up five safeties, was the loser.

Joe Dernbach belted a grand slam homer as Buena Vista pounded 11 hits to dump Lanark, 12-3, in a game rained out after five innings. Ed Berry was the winner and J. Kubisiak was the loser.

Big Falls blanked Tilleda 10-0 in a western division game. Bill Radies was the winning hurler, while Ron Malueg took the loss. Lonie Lechterman went five for six for the Tilleda. Travis Lubinski led Big Falls with three hits.

Eastern Action

In an eastern loop game, Menominee County beat Leopolis, 6-2, as Jim Pamonicutt allowed six hits and fanned nine for the win. Loser Greg Steczinski gave up six hits and struck out 12. Bob Grignon homered for Menominee and Orv Westphal homered for Leopolis.

Caroline shut out Bowler, 3-0, in an inter-division game. The big blow was a two-run triple in the fourth by winning pitcher Tim Olsen. Mike Zinert took the loss on a three-hitter.

Menasha squeezed past Marion in an exhibition game, 2-1, in 12 innings. Winning pitcher Henry King homered for Menasha, while Lee Krueger homered for Marion. Ken Lodewegan was the losing pitcher.

Eau Claire Dells edged Eland 1-0 in the only northern division game as Birnamwood at Elderon was rained out. Jerry Bauman was the winner on an eight-hitter, while loser Steve allowed only four hits.

Sunday's Schedule

Games next Sunday in the south-central league will have once-beaten Buena Vista at Weyauwega, Waupaca at Rosholt, Symco at Lanark and New London at Scandinavia.

In the eastern and western divisions, Big Falls is at Marion, Caroline at Clintonville, Tilleda at Tigerton, Shawano at Bowler and Menominee at Gresham.

Eau Claire Dells will be at Birnamwood and Almond is at Eland in northern division games.

Orioles Register Fifth Straight Win At New London

NEW LONDON — The Orioles have posted their fifth straight win in Boys League major division play by blanking the Red Sox, 11-0, behind the 11-strikeout pitching of Dan Stern.

Losing pitcher Mike Elliott also fanned 11 but had little offensive support from his teammates.

Rick Pulido topped Jim McIlraith in an extra-inning ball game in the minor division as the Bears eked out a 6-5 win over the Hawks. Both pitchers had 12 strikeouts. Dave Flanagan's home run proved decisive.

Randy Scheid struck out 12 Tigers and allowed only one hit, a home run by Mark Egan, as the Colts captured a 5-3 victory to remain deadlocked with the Bears for fifth place.

Amherst Congregation Fetes Methodist Pastor

AMHERST — A reception was given in honor of Joseph Warner, pastor of the Methodist church, in observance of his recent graduation from Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point.

A potluck dinner was served to more than 60 members of the church, following the regular Sunday service. Lyle Milius, lay leader of the church, presented the honored guest with a gift from the congregation.

Lions Club Officers Installed at Amherst

AMHERST — Marvin Kohlbek, Pittsville, deputy district governor for Lions International, installed officers in the Amherst Lions club recently.

The youths are all high school seniors. Patrick Krutza, Michael Krutza, Gary Onan, Paul Pionkowski, James Rzentkowski, Kenneth Stuczynski, Martin Kubisiak and Dale Voss, visited the Minneapolis grain exchange, Midland Cooperative, Minneapolis Moline tractor plant and attended a Minnesota Twins baseball game. The trip was sponsored by the Midland Cooperative here and the Tomorrow River Schools.

Cairo Not in Israel . . .

. . . But Board Still Wants Map

"Cairo doesn't belong to Israel," but Outagamie County Board supervisors got their wishes Tuesday morning.

During a routine discussion involving a proposed sale of three parcels of county-owned property in the Town of Grand Chute, several supervisors complained that they never understand where the land is after hearing County Clerk Mollie Pfeffer read surveyor's land descriptions.

Several supervisors said each member of the board should have a map showing the location of all pieces of county-owned property.

"Before we ever get a look at a map like that," Appleton Supv. Eugene Kloes muttered, "Cairo will belong to Israel."

No new major upheavals were reported out of the Mid-East, but the board did approve a motion by Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, which orders the clerk's office to provide a small map with each resolution dealing with the sale or purchase of property by the county.

Tempers Flare Over Rezoning Of Port Land

pleton Supv. Arthur Hoolihan, a member of the property committee, and also a member of the city council.

"The city council and the industrial development committee," Hoolihan said, "thought it's only right that Outagamie County be consulted in this matter. The city realizes that its high time both the city and the county begin to show some cooperation. There are ordinances which allow the city the right to rezone the land, but the city thought it would rather get an expression first from the county."

Fredericks agreed. "Our meeting was very friendly," he said, "and there was no antagonism at all. We were there at the city's request and were of the same opinion they were."

Had Hearing

Appleton Supv Patrick Mares said a public hearing was held by the city on rezoning the land and pointed out that no county representative attended the hearing. "The property already is, in effect, rezoned."

"The city has asked us for cooperation," Babbitt said. "Well, Mr. Pointer (Appleton Ald. Roy Pointer) came to the highway committee and asked for $100,000 He's asking for an outright gift.

"You fellows from the city," he said, "always think you know so much and that we town chairmen and small city supervisors are so dumb. We'll remember this, if the land is rezoned."

Fredericks said he couldn't understand the motivation for Babbitt's remarks. "The whole action was based upon what our committee wanted."

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, said the county offered to sell the land to the city for $300,000, but was refused. He added that the Town of Grand Chute has offered to pay $300,000 for the land, proving the land can be returned to the town.

Under terms of the original resolution, when the county built its new airport, all money derived from the sale of the old airport goes toward paying off the bond issue for the new airport construction.

The zoning resolution was referred to the zoning committee by voice vote, with no dissentions.

Activity Program for Retarded Conducted by Clintonville Jaycees

CLINTONVILLE — The activities program for the retarded is conducted from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Mondays at the Jaycee clubhouse with hand skills being taught the group.

The members have completed rag rugs, bird feeders, bird houses and porch flower boxes. These items are displayed Monday afternoons and are for sale to help reimburse the treasury for the purchase of more materials.

The program is sponsored by the Waupaca County Association for Retarded Children. Mrs. Ray Phillips is in charge of the activities program.

Ohio Coroner Speaks to State Group idea of regional pathologists in the state, explaining that usually, hospital pathologists are not trained to make examinations in accordance with the needs of "the prosecutor's office." Regional pathologists, who would serve a group of counties, should be trained in forensic pathology. Dr. Gerber suggested.

Most of his address was concerned with hints on how to improve coroners, operations. He referred to actual cases in Cuyahoga County and used colored slides to illustrate his talk.

He told the coroners that his office — which has a full time staff of 50 — investigates about 4,000 deaths a year. He said he orders autopsies in about 40 per cent of the deaths, including all deaths of children, violent deaths and fatal auto accidents.

Dr. Gerber, during his afternoon talk, urged the coroners to work as close as possible with police in their investigations. "Don't short-change the police," he advised. Several Appleton policemen attended the Monday session.

Of the sensational Sheppard case, Dr. Gerber told reporters: "It was so much like every other violent death case that it suddenly became different."

Buddhists Become Weak, Split Force

Vietnamese Religious Leaders Once Were Politically Powerful

By BARRY KRAMER

HUE, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnam's militant Buddhits, who once could put tens of thousands of demonstrators into the streets, are now a weak, divided force without a cause.

The opinion of Vietnamese and Americans who have been watching the Buddhists is that the militant segment never recovered from the loss of face last year when an all-out effort failed to topple the regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. They have become even more fragmented since then.

The leader of the militants, Tri Quang, is now virtually powerless.

His attempts to stir up trouble during Buddha's birthday celebration in May, which included a parade and the immolation of a Buddhist school teacher, drew scant attention.

Started in 1963

For the first time since 1963, when the Buddhists launched the first "struggle movement" that led to the overthrow of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime, Hue University is finishing an uninterrupted school year.

Hue, the ancient capital of imperial Vietnam, remains the center of militant Buddhism, with other pockets in Saigon and Da Nang.

The robed bonzes who are followers of Tri Quang are shadowed by government police and are not allowed to travel between the major Buddhist centers. Some have been stopped at airports and sent back to the city from which they came Tri Quang, a native of Hue, has been at the An Quang pagoda in Saigon for almost a year and has been forbidden by the government to return to Hue.

Divided Leadership

There are also divisions among the leadership of the militants.

Tri Quang's group remains the "moderate" Buddhists, Tam Chau, joined in the opposition to Ky last year but are now at each other's throat. Tam Chau calls Tri Quang "Communist-inclined," and Tri Quang accuses the Tam Chau Buddhists of "treason and open collusion with U.S. dollars."

m Tri Quang's group remains vehemently antigovernment. Tam Chau appears to cooperate openly with the Ky government Ky and other government officials appear at Buddhist ceremonies, and the government permitted Tam Chau to organize a parade of 10.000 persons through Saigon on Buddha's birthday

3 Divisions

Buddhists Special report gal 2 adv pms thurs june 15

It is hard to number South Vietnam's Buddhists, who are the largest religious group in the country, but generally they can be divided into three main groups.

The militants, from central Vietnam—northern South Vietnam—are the best organized and strongest and are concentrated in Hue, Da Nang, Nha Trang, Quang Tri and other northern cities as well as in Saigon

The Tam Chau group, centered around Saigon, has strong influence in the south and in the Vietnamese army. Many are refugees from North Vietnam.

The most numerous southern-born Buddhists have a poorly organized leadership and are not a cohesive force.

Nominal Union

All three groups, although nominally united for a time during the campaign to overthrow Diem, started to pull apart shortly after that and now are completely divided.

It should be noted that the hard-core militant Buddhists are extremely few in number. It has been their ability to exploit a "chinh nghia," or righteous cause, and draw mobs into the streets that made them a threat to any South Vietnamese government

It is generally agreed, however, that the Buddhists provide only the theatrics that preceded the downfall of a government. Other more powerful forces, usually the military, caused the actual changes.

Keep in Check

Although the decline of the militant Buddhists can be attributed mainly to their fragmentation, other forces are at work to keep them in check.

Ky has lived up to the promises he made to the Buddhists last year: a constitution is in effect, a provisional assembly has been elected and is drafting laws for the election of a president, vice president and a two-house legislature later this year.

"The Ky government has gained credibility," said one informed source. "It's the first government since the revolution against Diem which has kept its promise to hold elections.

"The Buddhists really don't have their 'righteous cause'."

Supreme Court Decision Not Too Realistic

Eavesdropping Law In New York Ruled Unconstitutional

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometimes the Supreme Court gets idealism and realism mixed up It happened this week when it tightened the screws even further against police "bugging"—electronic eavesdropping—in criminal investigations.

The court threw out the bribery conviction of Ralph Berger, a Chicago public relations man The decision was a tight fit, 5 to 4. It was a good example of how nine justices can look at the same problem and draw opposite conclusions

The key in this case is how the Constitution's Fourth Amendment was interpreted.

That amendment says: "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall be issued, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

Judical Permission

With these constitutional requirements in mind, New York State passed a law which says police can bug if they get permission from a judge, provided they swear under oath there is "reasonable ground to believe that evidence of crime may be thus obtained."

Under this law police did their bugging in the Berger case and the state later admitted that without the eavesdropping a conviction could not have been obtained

Before he retired Monday Justice Tom Clark wrote the majority opinion, throwing out Berger's conviction. Why? Clark gave various reasons He found fault with the New York law which said a judge could permit bugging if the police gave him "reasonable ground" to believe it might unveil evidence of a crime.

Clark said this was too broad, too sweeping, that New York's "reasonable cause" phrase wasn't good enough since the Fourth Amendment talks about "probable cause"

Care of Amendment

The security of one's privacy against arbitrary intrusion by the police, Clark said, is at the core of the Fourth Amendment and is basic to a free society.

He said, "We cannot forgive the requirements of the Fourth Amendment in the name of law enforcement Few threats to liberty exist which are greater than that posed by the use of eavesdropping devices"

He clearly did not ban all use of electronic eavesdropping, for he pointed out that the court "under specific conditions and circumstances" in the past sustained the use of eavesdropping devices

If this seemed like hair-splitting to make a point—which is going to make it far tougher for cops to eavesdrop on criminals—Justice Hugo L. Black and the other three justices who disagreed with Clark certainly think so.

Creates Obstacles

In a scorching dissent Black said, "It seems obvious to me that its (the court's) holding, by creating obstacles that cannot be overcome, makes it completely impossible for the state or federal government ever to have a valid eavesdropping statute"

He suggested the reason Clark and the other four justices making up the majority took the position they did is that they have a hostility to eavesdropping as "ignoble" and "dirty business"

Black added: "Crimes, unspeakably horrid crimes, are with us in this country, and we cannot afford to dispense with any known method of detecting them unless it is forbidden by the Constitution or deemed inadvisable by legislative policy—neither of which I believe to be true about eavesdropping"

He pointed out that eavesdropping evidence picked up by individuals without machines is admissible in court and asked Why not evidence picked up by machines, which are more reliable?

Rewrote Amendment

Black said he does not think evidence picked up by electronic bugging should be used against a defendant if it violates the Fourth Amendment but "I do not believe the Fourth Amendment or any other bans the use of evidence obtained by eavesdropping"

In order to knock out the New York law, Black said, the Supreme Court has just rewritten the Fourth Amendment

The point he made, of course, was this The court is spending a lot of time worrying about the rights of criminals but what about the safety of the people who lead decent, orderly lives?

Civic Leader, Farmer Found Dead Tuesday At His Manawa Home

MANAWA — Albert Abraham, 77, 566 Clark St., a former member of the Waupaca County Board and a previous Town of Little Wolf chairman, was found dead at his home Tuesday morning.

According to authorities he was found at 8 p.m. by a son. He is survived by three children.

He farmed in the Manawa area for many years.

Funeral services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Friday at the Booth Funeral Home here.

Arraigned After Traffic Mishaps

LITTLE CHUTE — Three drivers involved in accidents were arraigned Monday before Municipal Justice Raymond Sanders, with two pleading guilty and one no contest to traffic violations resulting in the mishaps.

Losing driving privileges for 30 days and paying court costs were Wayne Fleming, 17, 1217 E. Lincoln Ave., Little Chute, charged with inattentive driving, and Raymond Gruenstern, 17, route 1, Kaukauna, charged with driving too fast for conditions. Both pleaded guilty.

Donald B. Jansen, 19, 912 Cleveland Ave., Kaukauna, pleaded no contest and was fined $10 for leaving the scene of an accident.

UW Center Expects Record Summer Session Enrollment

Summer session enrollment at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center promises to hit an all-time high this year.

As of Monday, 175 students had pre-registered for 25 classes in 15 different subject areas. This compares with last summer's record enrollment of 146.

"Final registration, which consists of filling out registration records and payment of fees, has been scheduled for 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday and from 9 a.m. to noon, 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday in the Center Fine Arts Theatre.

Registrations will be accepted through June 21, but students who register after the first day of classes, June 19, will be assessed an added $10 late registration fee. Summer session classes will run through Aug. 11.

Among subjects represented in this summer's curriculum are art, chemistry, computer science, economics, English, geography, history and mathematics. Others are music, physics, political science, sociology, Spanish and speech.

Students registering for mathematics are expected to take a math placement test from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Center Lecture Hall.

Marinette Man Injured In Accident on U. S. 41

Mahlon J. Martin, 24, Marinette, suffered mouth cuts about 4:15 a.m. Monday when the car he was driving in the northbound lane of U.S. 41 left the road and struck a concrete pillar at the Vandenbroek Road overpass north of Little Chute.

Dormitory for Campus Questioned by Solon

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Are state university administrators downgrading available private housing in campus communities as a pretext for expanding the public dormitory construction program?

The question was raised here during a brief argument among members of the state Building Commission about a request to prepare plans for the construction of an additional 270-bed dormitory at Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point.

Received Complaints

Republican Assemblyman, Harvey Gee of nearby Wisconsin Rapids, protested he has had complaints from private landlords that the university has criticized private rooming accommodations which are adequate, including those in private homes.

But Sen. William Hanson, D-Stevens Point, former president of the school, said he could show from his own experience and observvations that sub-standard quarters, including basement rooms with single exits, are now being used by students.

Gee asked for a delay of the project, pointing out that the legislature has begun a special study of the state dormitory program under the direction of Assemblyman Bernard Lewison, R-Vernon County.

But the commission over-rode his objections when Assemblyman David Martin, R-Neenah, chairman of its state university sub-committee said it would make a direct inspection of the Stevens Point situation before an actual construction project is approved.

If the commission then decides against the project, the construction plan can be used on another campus, he said.

'Water Pollution' to be Topic of Kiwanians

KIMBERLY — Daniel Baer, representative of Kimberly-Clark Corp., will speak on water pollution at a Kiwanis Club luncheon at 6:15 tonight at the Darboy Club.

Plans for summer fund raising activities and a father-son banquet to be held June 21 will be discussed. Reservations to the Father-Son dinner are to be made by contacting James Van Den Elsen. The program will feature Expo '67.

Judicare Used For More Than Divorces

Early Speculation Was That Service Would be Abused

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Slightly more than a third of the law cases completed under the Wisconsin Judicare program, which provides legal services to indigents and persons of low income in upper Wisconsin, have been divorce actions.

The report came today from Joseph F. Preloznik, administrator of the program which is sponsored by the State Bar of Wisconsin and operates in 26 northern Wisconsin counties with a population of about half a million.

The program manager was evidently trying to refute earlier publicity indicating that the majority of cases financed under the federal program involved domestic relations. He complained that one report had put the divorce ratio of cases at 84 per cent.

21 Per Cent Ratio

In terms of actual divorces granted, the ratio was only 21 per cent of the total cases handled thus far, the manager said. In about a third of the divorce actions begun, the parties were reconciled after conferences with their attorneys, he said.

The Bar was told that thus far the program has issued 1,582 cards to persons eligible for the publicly financed legal service, which are the equivalent of credit cards. Such persons are entitled to call upon the lawyer of their choice About half of the lawyers in the northern zone have thus far participated, it was said.

Under the rules, the lawyer computes his fee at 80 per cent of the normal minimum schedule recommended by the bar, with a maximum of $300 unless there is special approval from the Madison supervisory office. More recently the program has been expanded to include as eligibles the inmates of state correctional institutions, 234 of whom have thus far been given cards.

Manager Resentful

The program manager appeared resentful about earlier reports on the high ratio of divorce litigation among Judicare clients.

"Judicare simply maintains that persons of low income are entitled to legal representation on all matters as are the more affluent members of society, including that of divorce. To take the position that divorce for the poor is a privilege and not a right, as some legal aid offices do, may reduce its caseload in divorces, but it will do little to improve the administration of justice for the poor", said Preloznik.

Assistance for Worthy Law Students

Lack of Able, Young Lawyers Relates to Employment Practices

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The talk among Wisconsin lawyers about a shortage of young talent for the profession may be the result of an insistence upon employing only the highest ranked graduates of the law schools, in the view of the committee on legal education and bar admissions of the State Bar of Wisconsin.

The personnel needs of the profession are now being met by the law schools of Marquette University and the University of Wisconsin at Madison, the committee reported, in contrast to proposals in other recent years that the professional organization devise ways and means of encouraging larger law school enrollments.

Under present day standards of selection and training, all of the graduates of law schools are employable, the committee said, although acknowledging that some heads of law firms do not yet realize the fact.

"Due to the high standards and greater selectivity of law students by both law schools, even the lowest ranked graduates of either school are qualified, and the concern of employer-lawyers for the top third or half of the class is antiquated and unrealistic and a need to educate the bar accordingly was expressed," the committee said on the basis of its consultations with the law school faculties.

But the group told the professional society in its annual report that there remains a need for more financial assistance for worthy law school students, in spite of the growth of private and public funds available for such help in recent times.

The State Bar was asked to allocate $1 of the annual dues paid by each member to a law school loan program, the funds to be divided equally between Marquette and Wisconsin.

Recorder Takes Calls When Kimberly Police Are Out of Station

KIMBERLY — An automatic answering service has been installed in the police department. Callers will be able to leave messages for police even though no policeman is in the station when the call is made.

A recorded message will inform the caller of how to get in touch with police in event of emergency and non-emergency calls will be recorded on tape for police who will then follow up when they return to the station.

Ted Williams Fishing Motors

7.5-HP Manual-Start Motors

Regular $279.95

258.88

Remote 3¼-gallon fuel tank included.

40 lb. light, 32 in. high—so easy to handle!

Full gear shift with finger tip control.

Ted Williams calls this outboard fishing motor "one of America's best!" It's so light and compact—stores easily in your car trunk—yet it's packed with cruising power. Weedless prop and lower unit let you cut through weeds like a power mower. Low silhouette makes it easy for you to fish right over the motor. Aluminum die-cast construction.
